IN POLICE COURT PLAISTED ELECTED LEAPED TO DEATH

Man Found Guilty of Larceny of Flour

Frank Shaley was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of 20 barrels of flour, each barrel of the value of $5, the property of Avedis M. Torigian. The case which proved to be a rather long drawn out affair came about as the result of a business transaction between the complainant and defendant. William A. Hogan appeared for the government and the defendant was represented by Bennett Silverblatt.

The first witness called for the government was Avedis M. Torigian, the complainant, who stated that he was a baker and grocer. Continuing with his testimony he said that Shaley and his brother were bakers and owed him money to the amount of $169.25. When they asked for further credit he refused them. Then the defendant came to him and stated that if the witness would give him enough of flour to last him for a couple of weeks he would give him a first mortgage on his business and equipment. This was perfectly satisfactory to Torigian and he accepted what he considered a first mortgage on defendant's business and in return delivered some 20 barrels of flour to the defendant. Later Mr. Torigian found that what he supposed was a first mortgage was a second mortgage. He also testified that he was present at the sale of the horse, wagon and harness which he supposed was covered by the mortgage made out to him.

The defendant practically admitted that he was indebted to the complainant, but stated that owing to his ignorance of the English language and the laws of this country he was not aware that he was giving a second mortgage.

The court after considering the case found the defendant guilty but continued sentence till tomorrow.

Drunken Offenders

Alpheus B. Hamblett, charged with drunkenness, entered a plea of guilty and it looked as though he was going to be sentenced to jail when Probation Officer Slattery interceded for him and on condition that he go back to Meredith, N. H., where he is employed as a landscape gardener, the court gave him a suspended sentence of five months in jail.

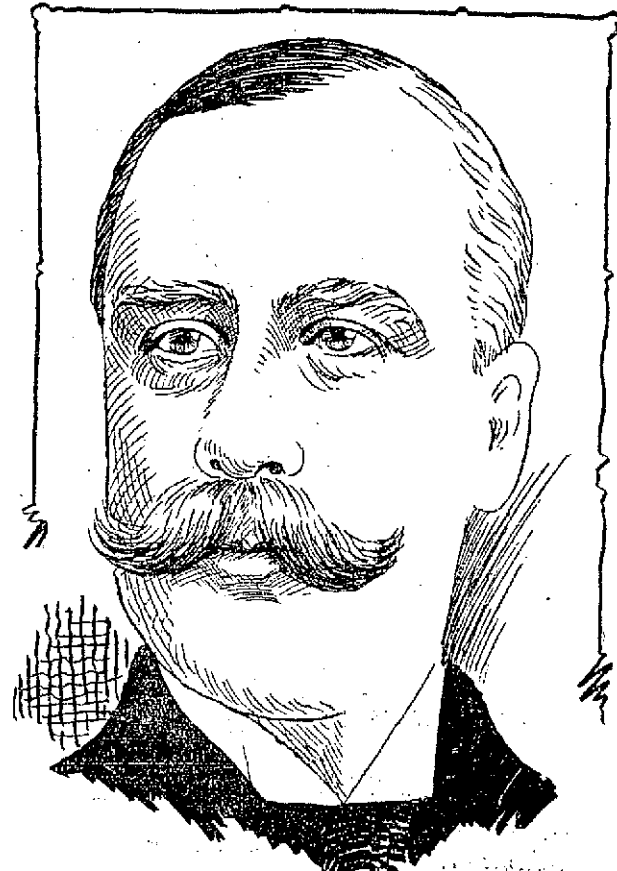

Owen Pahey was under a suspended sentence of four months in jail but he broke the rules of his probation, was surrendered and this morning was remanded to jail.

Margaret Paucher was found staggering through Middlesex street last night and Patrolman Gilbert Sheridan sent her to the police station. She admitted that she had been drinking but asked the court to give her another chance. The court decided to allow the matter to go over until tomorrow in order that her husband might be conferred with.

William E. Greenman, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Three first offenders were fined $2 each.

HON. F. E. GUERNSEY

HON. S. W. GOULD

F. W. PLAISTED, GOVERNOR-ELECT, AND MAINE'S DELEGATION-ELECT IN THE NATIONAL HOUSE

With Whole Ticket--Democrat for United States Senator

A tidal wave of democracy swept over Maine yesterday, carrying Colonel Frederick W. Plaisted of Augusta to the governor's chair and ousting the present occupant, Bert M. Fernald of Poland, by a plurality of 7300. This shows a republican slump from two years ago of 14,773 votes. Practically the same proportion of republican loss is maintained all along the line.

Returns from 539 out of 628 election districts, comprising 19 cities and 421 out of 501 towns and plantations gave:

Plaisted, democrat, 64,658. Fernald, republican, 56,988.

The missing city was Portland, while the 75 towns and plantations were nearly all up in Aroostook county or among the outlying islands.

The wave also overwhelmed at least three and possibly all four of the state's congressional delegation, which has been republican since the inception of the party. The flood spread through a majority of the counties and even extended to the legislature, which next winter will choose a successor to United States Senator Eugene Hale. The democrats will probably elect Obadiah Gardner of Rockland.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—Democracy with more districts to hear from, racy triumphed in Maine yesterday. Col. Frederick W. Plaisted, three years ago elected a governor surely two and three times mayor of Augusta, has been perhaps four congressmen and many elected governor by a plurality of approximately 8000.

The democratic nominee defeated Gov. Bert M. Fernald of Poland by a plurality nearly equal to that which gave the democrats what they call a landslide victory in the first congressional district.

At a late hour last night, however, sixteen democratic senators out of today is a reversal of the figures of a membership of 31 are sure of seats two years ago.

Unknown Woman Committed Suicide in Lawrence Canal

LAWRENCE, Sept. 13.—An unknown woman leaped to death in the waters of the North canal, near Appleton street, last night about 8 o'clock.

She went inside the iron railing and then jumped over the bank. She was seen by John McCann, but no one was near enough to save her.

Her hat remained on the bank. It is of coarse white straw, with a light Persian scarf band.

No attempt was made to get the body last night, as there is no boat in the canal. The police will search for the remains this morning.

EX-MAYOR CASEY JAMES H. DUFFY

Candidate for Congress Popular Young Man in Fifth District Has Passed Away

Hon. James R. Casey will be a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress in the Fifth district. Mr. Casey announced his intention to a reporter of The Sun today, stating that he had made a survey of the dis-

The many friends of James H. Duffy, one of the most popular young men of Lawrence, and a member of the firm of Duffy Bros., cigar manufacturers, will be pained to learn of his death which occurred last night at his home, 59 Fulton street.

The deceased was possessed of a cheerful disposition, had a host of friends and his business ability was responsible in no small degree for the success of the firm of which he was a member. Despite the fact that he had been ill for a long time and a sufferer for several months he bore his sufferings with true Christian fortitude and his last wishes were that he be able to bid good bye to his friends.

He was a devout Catholic and constant attendant at St. Michael's church, being connected with several of the organizations of that church. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, Isabelle, three daughters, Mary, Katherine and Isabelle; four brothers, Stephen E., Martin E., Joseph P. and John W., and a sister, Mary Duffy. The funeral will take place Thursday morning at eight o'clock from his late home, 59 Fulton st., and a high mass of requiem will be celebrated at nine o'clock at St. Michael's church, Undertaker Peter H. Savage in charge.

DEATHS

DUFFY—James H. Duffy died last night at his home, 59 Fulton street, aged 38 years. He leaves besides his wife, Isabelle, three daughters, Mary, Katherine and Isabelle; four brothers, Stephen E., Martin E., Joseph P. and John W., and one sister, Miss Mary E.

KAULBACK—Frank H. Kaulback, aged 52 years, a well known resident, died yesterday at the City hospital. The body was taken to the chapel of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

KRYGOWSKI—Yanah Krygowski, aged 11 months, died Monday evening at the home of her parents, Joseph and Anna Krygowski, 174 Warren street.

FUNERAL NOTICES

ROBINSON—Died, in this city, Sept. 12, Mrs. Mary C. Robinson, aged 102 years, 4 months, 1 day. Funeral services will be held from her late residence, No. 50 Lawrence street, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends and relatives invited. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker J. B. Currier Co.

LONG—The funeral of Mrs. Jane A. Long will take place tomorrow morning at 8.30 from her late home near 176 Elm street. High mass of requiem at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery. C. H. Molloy & Sons in charge.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Joseph Henri Aubert of this city and Miss Aurore Loisele of Chelmsford were married yesterday morning at Notre-Dame de Lourdes church at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Lamothe, O. M. I. The bride, who wore a charming gown of white silk, was attended by her father, Mr. Joseph Loisele, and the bridegroom's attendant was Mr. Hippolyte Pouliot. During the ceremony the Children of Mary sodality choir sang, with Miss Cora Renaud at the organ. A reception was given at night at the bride's home in Chelmsford.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubert, who have received many beautiful gifts, will leave tonight on a bridal tour.

THOMAS—CONNELL. Mr. Robert R. Thomas and Miss Gertrude M. Connell were married Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. Joseph Cortin at St. Patrick's parochial residence. Miss Agnes R. Connell acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Raymond J. Thomas was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas left on the 8.18 p.m. train for Boston. Before returning they will visit St. John and Frederickton, N. B.

They will be at home to their friends after November 1st, at 2 Glidden avenue. No cards.

Lawrence Democrats had Lively Contest

LAWRENCE, Sept. 13.—The dream that Lawrence would send delegates to the democratic state convention without a contest was rudely shattered last night when nomination papers were distributed at the headquarters of the democratic city committee.

Two sets of nomination papers for delegates to the state convention were taken out. One set of delegates will be pledged to James H. Vaher of Watertown for governor and the other set will be pledged to Eugene Hale.

It will be up to the democratic voters to say in the caucus whether they want to elect the Vaher delegates or the unemployed democrats.

Spirited contest for the democratic nomination for senator will take place.

In the sixth representative district which includes wards three and four a number of democrats are seeking the nomination which is equivalent to election.

SHOE FACTORY

Is Guarded by the Nashua Police

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 13.—The strike at the Estabrook-Anderson shoe factory today reached such a stage that details of seven or eight police officers under the command of Capt. James Cleary and Patrolman Dennis Hallisey were at the factory morning, noon and evening.

An effort to break the strike was made yesterday when the places of the striking pullers began to be filled under the direction of Barney Selmer, a strike breaker. Just before 6.30 o'clock the police arrived at the factory with four or five strike breakers under escort. No attempt at violence was made by the 100 strikers and their sympathizers who were near, but the men were carefully watched.

The factory officials claim that the places of the 85 strikers are largely filled and that from 50 to 60 per cent of the ordinary output is being made. They also claim that some of the strikers themselves have returned to work and that others wish to but do not dare.

The strikers claim that the strike is not broken and that at the most there are only 12 new men in the pulling-over department. The strikers yesterday had a conference with the factory owners and agreed to return to work at a slight increase over what they were getting when they walked out.

This increase was refused and it is stated that the firm will not take back any of the strikers who are now out.

At the close of the day's work Barney Selmer was followed by a group of strikers. He entered a store and telephoned to the police station and officers responded and scattered the group, after which Selmer went on his way unmolested.

ORGANIST DEAD
AND HIS WIFE IS IN A SERIOUS CONDITION

STAMFORD, Sept. 12.—Word was received here today of the death this morning of Albert Woelke, well known throughout the country as a musician and composer, at the home of H. K. Willard at Walpole, N. H., where he was visiting. The telegram also told of the serious illness of his wife, who is also a composer.

Mr. Woelke was a native of Germany. In 1855 he became instructor at the Catherine Aiken seminary in this city and held that position for 40 years. He was also for half a century organist of the Universalist church here. Among other works he composed a number of church anthems which have been widely used.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

As in all Shubert productions, the cast which will present Clyde Fitch's last and great play, "The Wolf," at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 16 and 17 is of the highest order of merit and embraces some of the best known and most potent names on the stage today. The original New York Lyric theatre production will be shown at the local presentation. Seats are now on sale.

"THE WOLF"

Next Thursday evening at the Opera House "The Wolf" will be seen.

"The Wolf" is said to be strong in conception, dramatic in execution and vitally interesting throughout. It tells a story of the wonderful Hudson Bay country and of the primal, eternal struggle between men for the possession of a woman. Dark passion and pure sentiment are set in opposition, but there is nothing hackneyed. The men are not of the familiar stage type, nor are the scenes of a mechanical order.

The father of Hilda McTavish is a Scotchman, whose narrowness of mind drives his wife into the world. Hilda, the child, is left behind. When McDonald, a handsome American engineer, appears, he covets the simple girl and engaged old McTavish in a plot to lure Hilda the way her mother had gone.

There comes Jules Deaubien, a French Canadian, with a streak of Obi-way from her mother. McDonald has left Jules' sister to die with her unborn babe. Jules recognizes him and hides his time. Batiste, his loyal retainer, crosses himself gently as he swears that unless Jules kills McDonald he will.

Jules overhears the plotting of McDonald and McTavish in reference to the innocent Hilda. McDonald has been married and was a gay blade on the White Way. Jules, of course, loves Hilda. The crisis comes. The girl spurns the brutal grasp of the engineer. McTavish, enraged, declares he will crush her life out with his bare hands.

The French Canadian intervenes, striking McDonald with his fist. The engineer attempts to draw his revolver, but Batiste has him covered with a shotgun in the cabin window. At this point the scene closes, and one may imagine easily that the interest has increased.

Immoral as he is, McDonald is fearless and persistent. He takes to the path and comes upon Jules. He fires at him but his shot does not go home. Then the two engage in the most realistic and savage hand-to-hand duel ever seen on the stage. Now up and down, rolling over and over in the dim light for fully a minute, the fighters struggle. Finally one is seen to drop lifeless from a stab wound. The victor lights a match and the glowing face of Jules is seen by the audience.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Gus Edward's "Country Kids" with Fred C. Hackett and Gertrude Morgan as the big noises, is the stellar attraction at Hathaway's theatre this week. This rural musical comedy is something out of the ordinary and if the applause given by the audiences yesterday afternoon and evening can be taken as a criterion almost everyone present was delighted with the sketch. The "kids," however, are not the whole show, for the remainder of the bill includes many high class acts, the program being varied in order to please all the theatre goers.

There are nine people in the sketch, five young women and four young men, and all can sing and dance and cut up capers in such a manner as to keep the audience convulsed with laughter. The scene is laid in a farmyard, the principal settings other than the props being the old well, empty milk cans, rector boards, etc. With the exception of "Cholly Kalkrecker," who is a city chap, all are ruralites, although "Miss Rose," who is having a birthday, has reached that stage where she discards the short calico dress for the longer and better quality white dress.

Fred C. Hackett who plays the part of "Hiram Higgins," does all kinds of stunts. He is the regular chore boy who is acquainted with work but not on speaking terms. He is more at home when it comes to dancing, singing, cracking jokes, etc. Another star in the cast is Gertrude Morgan, who portrays the part of "Sally Smart."

"Sally" makes up, with not extraordinary, is marked by the variety of colors used. She is possessed of a good voice and when it comes to "singing her limbs," she is right there in line for the blue ribbon.

On the whole the sketch is one that cannot fail to please the most exacting audience. The sketch compels the most serious to laugh. The person who never smiles, however, had better keep away from the theatre.

The cast of characters and musical program follow:

Miss Rose Maxine Hampton
Cholly Kalkrecker Billy Fraser
Cy Sawyer Ed Marion
Paul De Bus Ivy Glick
Polly Pry Ida Clemence
Daisy Day Clara Taylor
Ivy Green Eva Shanburn
Sally Smart Gertrude Morgan
Hiram Higgins Fred C. Hackett
Musical Program
"Two Horse Fellow in a One Horse Town" Fred Hackett
"Lucy Anna Lou" Billy Fraser
"Nobody Knows It But You and I" Gertrude Morgan
"Dinky Doodle Stan" Eva Shanburn
"Old Fashioned Barn Dance" Entire Company
"Kid Land" Maxine Hampton
"F.A.M.A.N." Morgan, Marion & Co.
"Marathon" Entire Company
The Kuma family, the Oriental wonder workers—two men and a woman—present an act which is second to none in that line which has been presented in this city. The cleverness of the trio is demonstrated in every piece of work done. The foot juggling of a heavy barrel by one of the male members of the trio is something marvelous. The slight-of-hand work of the trio is also good to say nothing of the during stunt of the young woman who climbs a ladder, the steps of which are been edged boards.

Edna Luby, the famous imitator, made a hit from the start, and if the audience, especially those in the first and second balconies, had their way she would have been kept before the footlights for several hours. Edna by the way has a fine stage appearance and knows how to captivate the audience. She is a good singer for a person who has to change her voice for the different imitations.

Her imitation of Vesta Victoria singing "And Now I Have to Call Him Father," made a decided hit, but the song that brought down the house was "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" as sung by Nora Bates. Her other imitations include "A Great Big Girl Like Me," as presented by Marie Dressler. Miss Luby also gives a clever imitation of Anna Held and Rose Stahl, the imitation of the latter being rather out of the ordinary.

Duff and Walsh, exceptional dancers, pleased the audience as did Edgar Berger, the phenomenal gymnast and hand jumper, who opens the bill.

Caswell, Leigh and Griffith have a clever sketch entitled "The Masqueraders." All three are good singers and the sketch is a pleasing one. Wilson and Doyle who present a sketch entitled "Going to a Party," are good singers and dancers and their act was well worth the applause which they received.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The O'Donnell Brothers in their original sketch "In Dear Old Ireland," have one of the best Irish acts on the stage, introducing real Irish pipes and real Irish dancing. The McCarvers are a very clever couple, he is a funny comedian and dancer, while she is a handsome woman who can sing. The Bon Air Trio are acrobatic pantomimists that cannot be beat. New pictures complete the bill. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

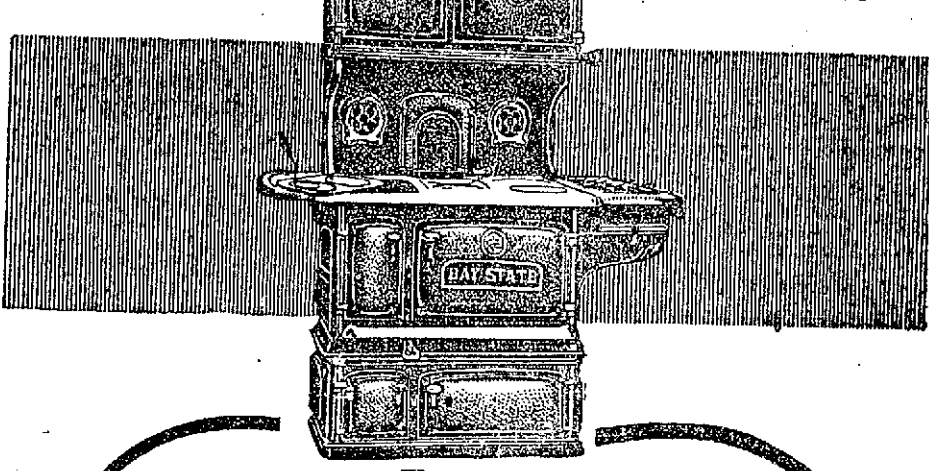

The business world has small use for sentiment but once in a while it creeps in and everybody feels better for letting up on the strict rules of business. Today at the Theatre Voyons, the feature picture, "Little Angels of Luck" is a story of the business world in its largest meaning. A well to do rubber manufacturer after building up a substantial business refuses to accept the offer of the president of the trust for his plant and business only to find that the power which he defies is stronger than he and that he is ruined. His two little girls overhearing his troubles, as he tells them to his wife, resolve to save him. They open a small bank and take from it their tiny savings and with them go to the office of the trust and demand to see the president. On his receiving them they ask that they give back their papa's money and take theirs instead. The hard master of finance is touched and though he does not give back their father's business he does make him a most liberal offer which will solve his financial troubles.

STAR THEATRE

Under new management the Star theatre, opposite the city hall, opened Saturday with one of the longest and finest shows ever produced for an admission of five and ten cents, including a seat. Three big vaudeville acts and first class motion pictures as well as the latest and best illustrated songs are being produced. Mr. Alexander, the new proprietor, is one of the pioneer show men and the public will reap the benefit of his extensive experience. The admission to afternoon performances will be five cents to all. Women and children will be admitted free to the theatre Wednesday afternoon of this week only. The show given at this theatre, which has been entirely renovated, cannot be equalled in Lowell.

BARSTOW Bay State Ranges

The Hearth of
Your HomeIs the Heart of
Your Home

THE efficiency of your kitchen range—the present day hearth—is reflected in the health and happiness of your household.

You can't cook wholesome, palatable meals on ranges which never act twice alike.

BARSTOW BAY STATE RANGES always give uniform results in baking and cooking, because the proportion of fire box and heating space around the oven is scientifically correct. Since 1836 the BARSTOW STOVE CO. has been experimenting to perfect these proportions.

Every practical improvement is embodied in BARSTOW BAY STATE RANGES. They have gas ovens for baking with or without a coal fire and gas shelves for quick cooking. The gas range attachment doubles the capacity of the range.

Other conveniences are—Swing Fire Top, for easy feeding, broiling and toasting; Patent Sliding Tea Plates; Oven Food Rake; Simmering Cover; a Reliable Heat Indicator; and nickle parts which lift off for cleaning or when blacking the range. Let us show you BARSTOW BAY STATE RANGES. Make us explain why they do the most work and the best baking with the least fuel.

THE GRAND JURY INQUIRES INTO THE DEATH OF FALLON

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—At a special sitting yesterday the grand jury investigated the cause of the death of Daniel Fallon, aged 32, of 49 Delle ave., while a patient at the Insane hospital at Pierce farm, Thursday.

Medical Examiner Timothy Leary, Sept. 13, of the hospital, Dr. George H. Maxfield the assistant physician, Thomas Butler a nurse, and other attendants testified.

The evidence showed that Fallon had shown violent symptoms. He had been subject to religious mania and had been transferred July 8 to ward 8, the department for violent patients. About 6 a. m. Thursday he sprang from his bed and attacked Bullman, pulling a handful of hair from the latter's head. He also struck the nurse in the face, knocking an eye. The men went to the floor in the struggle. Freeman C. Patterson, another nurse, aided Bullman. Fallon was put to bed and became quiet. Bullman asked him why he had made the attack and the patient replied that he had an inspiration that he was going to die and he wanted to kill some one before he died.

After hearing all the evidence the grand jury returned no bill against Bullman, the nurse.

Several secret indictments in other cases that were also heard by the grand jury were returned.

ORESTE CAVALIERI

Gives Out Statement About the Chanler Affair

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Oreste Cavaleri, brother of Lina Cavaleri, the prima donna whose affairs have been so much in the papers since she recently married Robert Winthrop Chanler of this city, gave out the following statement here last night:

"The recent newspaper reports concerning the affairs of my sister, Mrs. Chanler (nee Mlle. Cavaleri) and her husband, Robert W. Chanler, seem to have been designed to place my sister in a wholly false light before the public."

"Before his marriage Mr. Chanler wished to make some provision for my sister and made the usual marriage settlement, by which she was given an income for her support and certain parcels of real estate.

"The equities in these properties are very small, and their value, by reason of encumbrances, is problematical. The income provided for my sister is in the same position, and it is doubtful what, if any, moneys will be available for her use. If any income is paid, it will be required to pay necessary expenses in caring for the real estate.

"The marriage settlement was prepared by Mr. Chanler's lawyers in Paris and in the usual way witnessed by the American consul there, and given to my sister by Mr. Chanler.

"The sensational stories which have been given so much prominence of late are untrue, and I wish to emphatically deny them. My sister is recovering from a severe illness, which has compelled her to remain in France, and Mr. Chanler because of his business engagements, has been obliged to come to this country to attend to them.

"When my sister is able to travel she will join him in this country. The entire story is nothing more than an attempt to make a sensational story out of an everyday and commonplace occurrence which concerns no one but Mrs. Chanler and her husband."

Sidney Harris, counsel for Mr. Chanler, who gave out another statement earlier in the day, was reticent, but not so optimistic.

"Mr. Chanler still loves Mme. Cavaleri—that is, he thinks he does," said the lawyer.

The first admission from an authoritative source that there had been financial differences between Robert W. Chanler and his famous bride, Mme. Lina Cavaleri, was made today by Mr. Harris. Mr. Chanler's counsel, when he was asked if there had been an antenuptial agreement between Mr. Chanler and Mme. Cavaleri.

"There was," replied the attorney, "but I will not say how much money was involved in the agreement. That is a matter that may come out later, but we are hoping that this unpleasant matter may be settled without any litigation."

Mr. Harris said that while he expected to see some members of Mr. Chanler's family about the matter, there would be no "family conference" as reported.

For Tender Feet a Bath of Eaz-all Will Make Them Happy

The true way to make tender feet happy is with a bath of Eaz-all. Give half the care to your feet that you do to your hands and they will cause you no pain or trouble. Dissolve from one to four Eaz-all tablets in a basin of water and bathe the feet all night. The burning and itching will be gone at once, and the next day the feet will not suffer. Try this treatment once and you will be an Eaz-all friend forever. Eaz-all takes the pain and soreness from corns, callouses and bunions and reduces puffy, swollen feet, so that smaller shoes may be worn. 25c at all drug stores; money back if not satisfied.

Mary Roberts Rinehart is Afflicted

PITTSBURG, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart, the authoress, is said to be threatened with loss of her eyesight. She and her husband are going to Germany in hope of averting the affliction, but friends of the popular writer fear that the cause of her trouble is too deep seated to permit of a cure. The most popular of the stories from the pen of Mrs. Rinehart are "When a Man Marries," "The Man in Lower Ten" and "The Circular Stairway." Her latest production was "The Window of the White Cat," which has already made a success.

30,000 PEOPLE THE U. S. ARMY MAINE ELECTION

Took in the Great Aviation Meet

ATLANTIC FIELD, Sept. 13.—Thirty thousand people inside the Atlantic aviation grove and half that number on the surrounding vantage points saw the best day's flights yesterday of any since the meet started eleven days ago. It was a record day for some of the fearless aviators, Ralph Johnstone in a Wright biplane establishing a world's record for accuracy and an American record for distance and duration, while Grahame-White did a mile-a-minute spin to Boston light twice. This was his second time over the Boston light course for Lieut. Gen. Taylor. $10,000 prize, and he covered the thirty-three miles yesterday in 34 minutes 1-5 seconds. Had this all been straightaway work he would have driven his butterfly-like monoplane the distance at considerably better than a mile a minute. As it was he beat his former record over the course by more than six minutes.

Many other aviators made good flights and did clever stunts, making it altogether a day of wonders in the matter of demonstrating what the bird-men can do.

The weather was ideal for the work and the wind was not too strong, although it might have been more advantageous to the contestants had it gone down a little more, earlier in the afternoon.

Harmon's bomb-dropping stunts were of great interest, and the target shooting by Lieut. Fickel from Willard's biplane, the Burgess, was an added feature. With equal weather, record-breaking crowds will doubtless mark the three remaining days of the meet. Special attempts are expected today, inasmuch as the time limit for the regular prizes is up tonight, special features and prizes being arranged for the extra two days of the meet.

Smashed Records
Establishing a world's record in accuracy and American records in distance and duration, Ralph Johnstone was greeted with wild applause as his Wright biplane struck the ground one minute before the official time of closing the Harvard-Boston aero meet yesterday. He had made a distance of ninety-seven miles 4866 feet in three hours five minutes forty seconds, and had stopped within five feet four inches of the accuracy mark.

Not to be completely outdone by his Yankee brother aviator, Claude Grahame-White, climbed into his Blériot at sunset and in a wild dash at a rate of nearly a mile a minute made the flight to Boston light and return twice over, a distance of thirty-three miles in 34 minutes 1-5 seconds, clipping his former time 6 minutes 2-5 seconds. He, too, was greeted with wild applause as he came to a stop in the final landing.

But the other aviators came in for a good share of the praise, Brooking making a good try for a new altitude record, Willard making several flights with one of the most expert riflemen in the army, and Curtis trying out his new motor biplane with a 42-horse power Hendee engine and making the fastest speed yet made on the course. He shot around about two-thirds of the course in 46 seconds flat, when his motor became disabled.

Harmon Makes Good Scores
So much for the professionals. Clifford B. Harmon was up with the sun yesterday morning and in Grahame-White's biplane carried good scores in the bomb-dropping, slow laps, speed and duration contests. W. Stirling

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—It is feared that the army, then Uncle Sam's soldiers should profit much from the common sense of their condition and abilities contained in the annual report of Inspector General Garlington, just made public. One inspector points out a whole battalion of artillery starting for the Philippine service without a single field officer and one of the batteries commanded by a second lieutenant of less than two years' service. "An inspector general delays," says the absence of captains from their commands, is "the most fruitful source of professional disease in the lines of the army today."

The situation, according to the inspector general, warrants the prediction that the result of a disastrous nature must sooner or later be realized. The obvious remedy, he says, is the provision of a sufficient number of supernumerary officers to replace those on detail.

According to Inspector General Bell, the field army is "wholly unprepared for field service. He says the new regulations are almost entirely theoretical or dependent upon the experience of European armies. Our transportation is the same as at the beginning of the Civil War."

Maj. Bell says: "While our infantry is composed of the best material in the world and is probably as well, if not better, trained in the use of rifle than that of any other army, its marching capacity is below mediocrity and yet it is admitted today that the fate of the battles of the future depends, as it has in the past, upon the marching capacity of the infantry."

To remedy these conditions, Maj. Gen. Wood, chief of staff, today issued orders which change materially the training of the army.

RECEIVED TWO YEARS

Toni Carrelli Gets a Stiff Sentence to House of Correction

In the superior criminal court this morning the case of Arthur Duchesne, charged with rape, was heard. The complainant, Mrs. Desrosiers, testified that Duchesne, who roomed at her house, kept her a prisoner in the house for nine hours. The defendant admitted having been in the company of the complainant on the day of the alleged assault and on the day previous, but denied being guilty of any crime of the nature of what was charged against him.

After this case went to the jury Judge Raymond disposed of several cases in which pleas of guilty were entered.

Haralampus Tangelos pleaded guilty of assault and battery and was fined $100.

Edmund Flynn, non-support, was defaulted.

Andrew Langlois, one year ago today was placed on probation for breaking and entering. Later he deserted his family, it is alleged, and was arrested for drunkenness and hence the probation officer surrendered him. Langlois, when asked if he had anything to say requested that he be sent to the Lowell jail. He was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory.

John B. Boyle was surrendered by the probation officer, having been arrested for drunkenness while on probation for attempting to break and enter. Mr. Ramsey was inclined to speak a good word for the young man, while his employer spoke well of him. Judge Raymond called Boyle to the bench and imparted some good advice to him after which Boyle was placed on probation.

Thomas G. Little pleaded nolo to a charge of assault and battery and the plea was accepted on payment of $5 expenses.

Carrelli Got Two Years
Antonio Carrelli, alias Tony Carrelli, was called for sentence today. Carrelli was sentenced to the house of correction for two years.

Louis Ballocco, charged with rape, changed his plea to that of guilty of fornication. Ballocco has been in jail since June. He was sentenced to jail for four months.

At noon the bell in the jury room rang and a deputy sheriff who answered the summons reported back that the jury on the Duchesne case was desirous of taking a view of the house in which the alleged assault took place. The privilege was denied.

Shortly after noon court adjourned to Cambridge at 3:30 tomorrow with the Duchesne jury still out.

The cases of Ernest Capasso, John W. Ellis, Frank Gilbert and Thomas Kelly, who appealed from sentences of one year each on charges of being vagabonds, will be tried tomorrow. The defence will move to dismiss the complaints on the ground that they were improperly made out.

The Jury List
The jury list is as follows: John H. Aden, Reading; Frederick W. Allison, Medford; clerk: Frank F. Avery, Framingham, mattress maker; Timothy F. Began, Woburn, currier; Eugene C. Belcher, Newton, bookkeeper; Joseph A. Bernard, Lowell, music teacher; Joseph J. Bernard, Everett, plumber; Walter J. Brigham, Somerville, collector; Alexander C. Cameron, Lowell, carpenter; Frederick W. Carpenter, Medford, bookkeeper; George O. Clapp, Everett, cooper; Everett J. Clifford, Lowell, clerk; William H. Crowley, Lowell, clerk; James W. Doane, Newton, carpenter; Thomas H. Dooley, Malden, insurance; John H. Eaton, Reading, carpenter; Melvin A. Fletcher, Everett, salesman; William P. Gunlan, Waltham, shoe salesman.

DAMES OF MALTA
PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—The eighth annual convention of the zodiac, the national body of the Dames of Malta, began in this city today with nearly 150 delegates present from Maine, New England and the eastern states. Among the speakers arranged for the day were Miss Alice E. Hayes, Portland, and J. A. Briggs, Wilkesbarre, sovereign grand master.

NO APPEAL ENTERED
THE HAGUE, Sept. 13.—The award of the International court of arbitration in the Newfoundland fisheries case became irrevocable today with the expiration of the five days allowed for an appeal without either the United States or Great Britain having entered a protest against the finding.

Burleigh Beaten
The blow has fallen in an unexpected quarter, for Hon. Edwin C. Burleigh of Augusta, who was supposed to hold the third district impregnable, has lost to his persistent antagonist, Samuel W. Gould of Skowhegan.

Ever since Gov. Burleigh was first elected to congress in 1893 Mr. Gould has been striving to defeat him, either by running himself or managing the campaign of a democratic candidate.

Regularly Congressman Burleigh prevailed, but yesterday Mr. Gould developed such strength that early last evening the congressman admitted that he had been overpowered by an opponent who would never give up.

Congressman Burleigh had hoped and striven this time for the greatest vote polled by any republican candidate for congress, with the expectation that such an exposition of strength with the people would compel consideration of his name in the contest for the selection of the successor to Senator Eugene Hale.

But Samuel W. Gould has interfered with Mr. Burleigh's plans, and when the congressman-elect was told last night that his opponent conceded his election, he made this terse comment: "Yes, I've got him this time, and I'm glad to hear that he admits it. I've been after him for 25 years, and now I've got him."

Pluralities Heavy
Congressman Burleigh's downfall is simultaneous with the insurrection in the eastern part of the state where Congressman Frank E. Guernsey's reelection in the 4th district is in doubt.

At a late hour last night it was not improbable that George M. Hanson of Calais, the democratic candidate, had defeated Congressman Guernsey.

The congressman said that the democratic vote in the parts of the district heard from was so heavy that he doubted if he had been elected.

In every instance the democratic candidate whose election appears secure was successful by such a substantial plurality that the opposing nominee and the republican managers did not hesitate to early admit defeat.

Byron Boyd of Augusta, chairman of the republican state committee, capitulated by 10 o'clock. He announced that Col. Plaisted was elected governor, but he put the probable plurality below 5000.

Mr. Boyd also declared that the republican party had lost the first, second and third congressional districts and possibly were to face defeat in the fourth.

May Have Legislature
The state senate, he said, was probably democratic, but he hoped to save enough representative seats to give the republicans a majority on the joint ballot for the election of a U. S. senator.

Col. Plaisted's election was never in doubt after the returns from the first 100 voting communities were received early in the evening. The democratic candidate for governor made a gain of 8 per cent, over the vote given to Obadiah Gardner two years ago, while Gov. Fernald's vote showed a loss of 12 1/2 per cent, compared with the support he received in 1908.

These percentages were indicated in the early returns, and they varied little in the vote of towns, republican strongholds or cities where the democratic increases had been expected.

Col. Plaisted's indicated plurality of 8000, as revealed in the early reports, was increased even when the former vote began to figure in the compilation. At midnight, with about 50 towns lacking, it appeared that Col. Plaisted had won by 9000.

Gov. Fernald soon after 10 p. m. realized that he had lost to the democratic mayor of republican Augusta. He received the returns at Portland, and after he had received a message from Chairman Boyd notifying him of his failure for reelection, the governor acknowledged that he had received a great shock.

Sweeps All Cities But Two
"I have no doubt," said he, "that Mr. Plaisted has been elected and it looks as though he might have a plurality of 5000. I can only say that I cannot understand why the vote should have taken such a sudden change in the parts of the state. It is a surprise to me."

What surprised Gov. Fernald and the republican managers was the democratic gains in the republican towns. Even Arrostook county, the banner republican county of the state, fell away.

The democratic vote in some of these towns was doubled and was greatly increased in all, while Gov. Fernald dropped away from the figures of two years ago.

Col. Plaisted depended upon the cities for the major portion of his vote and the voters of the municipalities responded. The democratic candidate carried every city but two, Belfast and Calais.

The home city of Augusta contributed 1424 votes to 1119 for Gov. Fernald, and Col. Plaisted also carried Kennebec county, sweeping with him the democratic county ticket, including the nominees in nearly all the senatorial districts.

Two to One in Bangor
In Bangor he led the governor two to one with a vote of 2866 to 1434. Lewiston went overwhelmingly for the Augustan mayor, giving him a plurality of 1731.

Portland gave Plaisted an excess of more than 1000 and Giddedford's vote was 1540 for Plaisted to 864 for the governor. The city vote gave Col. Plaisted a powerful advantage over his opponent, and the republican towns did not hold up the governor's hands as they have been wont to do for the republican executives.

The vote of the towns was grievously disappointing to the republican managers.

Apprised of ominous signs of disaffection in the towns at the last hour, the republican state committee tried to stem the revolt by bringing out the reserve vote.

Never was so heroic an effort made to get the farmers to the polls as today, when automobiles were sent out to the back districts to bring them to town. Obviously many of them when they arrived at the polling places turned about and voted for the democratic candidate.

Col. Frederick W. Plaisted, the son of the last previous democratic governor of Maine, Harrie M. Plaisted, who was elected in 1880, was so confident of being successful today that he had arranged to wind up his business as a publisher.

Plastered Not Surprised
Col. Plaisted is the publisher of a democratic weekly, the New Age, a publication which his father owned before him. A few days ago the proprietor called his staff together and told them that he was going to be elected governor and his newspaper would cease publication after election day.

His clerk and stenographer was informed that she would have a place at the state house in the executive office, but every other employee was given notice to seek another position.

Nothing should interfere with his giving all his time to the state with Col. Plaisted's determination, and he was sure he was going to win.

"The result of the election is no surprise to me," said Col. Plaisted last night. "I not only knew I should have a plurality of at least 5000."

End of Sturgis Board
"The people of Maine were simply tired of republican misrule. They revolted against the extravagance of the republican administration of state affairs. They want the state conducted on business principles. They do not approve of the Sturgis law, and as governor I shall see to it that the Sturgis commission has no appropriation."

"Local conditions were not solely responsible for the great democratic victory. The people of Maine voted on national issues as well. High prices, the control of the republican party in the interest of the trusts, Cannonism—all contributed to swell the vote for the democratic ticket."

"I want to say that I will go into the governor's office free from any obligations of any sort. I am free to do my best for the people of the state. I have made no promises. I have not promised a single man a job, and no one else can say I have. All the promises I made were made to the people. I shall keep them. I shall conduct the business of the state economically and I will suspend the activities of the Sturgis commission."

One Better Than Vermont
The opposition to the republican ticket manifested in the increase in the democratic vote uniformly throughout the state indicates that the men of the city and country alike were animated by a desire to punish the party in power.

Fred Emery Beane of Hallowell, chairman of the democratic state committee, and the members of the republican state committee who were gathered at Augusta last night agreed in the expression of the opinion that the election was significant of the national unrest.

Mr. Beane said he believed it was a part of the general insurrection against the republican party throughout the nation.

The republican leaders sadly acknowledged that the cause of the revolt was to be found in the temper of the people throughout the union.

As a member of the republican state committee put it: "Maine has seen Vermont and gone her one better. The republicans of the other states will have their experience in November just as we had ours today."

Ricker-Fernald Rule
The mourning in the rooms of the republican state committee at Augusta last night was not pure grief without one ray of brightness.

Gov. Fernald's faction in the republican party represented an element which wrestled control of the state committee from the old guard two years ago when Mr. Fernald was nominated for governor over William T. Haines of Waterville, the candidate of the Burleigh machine.

Gov. Fernald was supported by E. P. Ricker, the state senator, and Sherb Ricker, who has been governor Mr. Ricker has been influential in advising as to the policy of the party.

The Burleigh machine, the successor or rather the continuation of the old organization of Maine and of the late Joseph H. Manley, has never been fond of Gov. Fernald and the aggressive man supporting Fernald.

The "old guard" never surrendered; it merely composed itself to await new opportunities.

Some of Gov. Fernald's friends are already intimating that the old machine saw opportunity yesterday and embraced it, and that the republican party was merely to reduce his plurality.

Now that Gov. Fernald has been defeated there will probably be an attempt on the part of the old Burleigh machine to assume charge again and dictate the nomination of the candidate for governor, as it did before Bert M. Fernald put the leaders to rout two years ago.

E. P. Ricker, Gov. Fernald's closest friend, last night when told of the result, said:

"Well, I thought they could not defeat Fernald without some of the congressmen suffering. I do not understand why a man who has given such a good administration as the governor should have been defeated. We have never had a better governor."

Democratic Senator
Col. Plaisted made his campaign practically on state issues, although speakers from other states urged the tariff, the domination of the republican party by the trusts and other national issues upon the voters.

The democratic gubernatorial candidate, however, held himself closely to what he depicted as the misadministration of the republicans at the state house.

He charged that last year the state expenditures exceeded the revenue by some $700,000, and that the state treasury was depleted. Excessive appropriations were alleged.

Col. Plaisted also declared that if he were elected to governor he would suspend the operations of the Sturgis law by cutting off the appropriation.

Under his administration he said there would be no Sturgis deputies making raids and enforcing the prohibitory law over the heads of the county officers.

Col. Plaisted also declared for the resubmission to the people of the prohibition question in the constitution. Resubmission seems now assured with a democratic governor and a democratic legislature. For the senate

GUERNSEY BY 500
BANGOR, Me., Sept. 13.—Returns from the 4th district are still lacking a number of small towns. At midnight Congressman Guernsey had carried Arrostook county by 1850, Washington county by about 300, had broken even in Piscataquis county and had been defeated by about 1600 in Penobscot county. His election is considered assured by about 500 by the republican state committee. Nearly 300 cities and towns in this district have only fragmentary returns and it is impossible to supply a complete list.

McGILLICUDDY BY 3000
LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 13.—Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston, democrat, was elected congressman from the 2d district yesterday over Congressman John P. Swasey, republican, by a majority of 3000.

Returns from 102 cities and towns give McGillicuddy 17,769, Swasey 14,835. The same towns, two years ago gave McGillicuddy 14,341, Swasey 17,234.

McGillicuddy carried four of the six counties in the district, Androscoggin giving him the largest plurality, 2420. Knox was second with more than 700. Oxford and Franklin went for Swasey.

BONFIRES IN AUGUSTA
AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 13.—Great crowds gathered around Col. Plaisted's office early last night to listen to the election returns which, for a time, came in rather slowly, but with the results from all the large places showing Plaisted pluralities there was great cheering and the street in front of the office was blocked with people.

The throng became so large that it was necessary to adjourn to city hall, where the returns were read from the stage to a crowd that packed the building. When it was determined that Plaisted was elected the uproar was almost deafening, and bonfires were started on the outskirts of the city.

Col. Plaisted received scores of telegrams from leading democrats all over the state and one telegram from New York paper asking for his interpretation of the landslide, to which he replied to the crowd publicly.

As soon as the news came that three of the democratic congressional candidates had won, the people in the hall could hardly contain themselves, hundreds trying to push forward to grasp the hands of Col. Plaisted for congratulation.

COUNTY ATTORNEYS-ELECT
The election of county attorneys in the various Maine counties yesterday resulted in the choice of the following: Piscataquis—L. G. C. Brown of Milo (dem.).

Androscoggin—William H. Hines of Lewiston (dem.).

Kennebec—Fred E. Beane of Hallowell (dem.).

York—A. A. Richardson of Kennebunk (rep.).

Knox—Philip Howard of Rockland (dem.).

Sagadahoc—Arthur H. Stetson of Bath (rep.).

Arrostook—Republican wins.

Waldo—Democratic wins.

Penobscot—George E. Thompson (dem.).

Washington—Probably republican.

Oxford—Republican wins.

CHANGE FOR LOCAL OPTION
PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—The democrats of Maine had difficulty today of even contemplating the magnitude of their victory of yesterday in their struggle with the republicans. With two scores of little obscure forest towns and island plantations to hear from, additional and revised returns made early today give Col. Fred W. Plaisted (democrat), mayor of Augusta, 72,431 votes for governor and Gov. Bert Fernald of Poland, (republican) 61,097. Plaisted's plurality for the entire state is estimated to be $500.

While the election of Col. Plaisted and two democratic congressmen seemed a great feat, interest today centered in the makeup of the legislature which has a decidedly changed complexion. With 139 senatorial and representative districts heard from, a total of 152, the democratic already have 58 in a joint convention with 23 necessary to control. If the legislature is captured by the democrats it seems more than likely it will mean a probable resubmission to the people of the vexed prohibition law and a chance for local option in the sale of intoxicating liquors. The Sturgis act which has proved so obnoxious to Maine and which was denounced in the democratic party platform can be repealed. Certainly the act can be made inoperative by Governor Plaisted withdrawing the present commission and neglecting to appoint their successors. Such a legislature can also choose a successor to United States Senator Eugene Hale and give Maine her first democratic senator since 1863 and New England's first since the election of William D. Easton in Connecticut in the late seventies.

Half a dozen candidates for the senatorship sprang into the field today. Charles F. Johnson of Waterville, Lindley M. Staples of Washington, William Fennell of Brunswick, who gave Asher Hinds such a hard fight in the first district yesterday, Oakley Curtis of Portland, and also John Clark Stiles of Westbrook, and James C. Hamlen of Portland, both of whom within the past six years have been democratic candidates for congress from the first district.

The next legislature will have full charge of redistributing the state.

The newly elected democratic legislature will shortly after convening in January elect the state treasurer, attorney general, secretary of state and a commission of agriculture. As governor, Col. Plaisted, with the consent of his council, will have a number of nominations to make. These include the following: Associate justices of the Maine supreme court and other offices now held by republicans.

THE TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

It is very difficult to say just how the typhoid epidemic in the Highlands originated. It is easy, however, to explain its spread. If the disease originated in the careless handling of milk some of the dealers are to blame, and it may not be the man who is temporarily put out of business, but somebody who furnished part of his milk supply.

The infection of milk with typhoid germs is one of the most serious dangers to the community. We have a milk inspector, a bacteriologist and a board of health, upon which there are two physicians. The question arises, are not these gentlemen able, by their combined efforts, to detect typhoid germs in milk? We find the inspector giving out statements as to the number of bacteria in milk. Would it not be more important to find out whether there are any typhoid germs in the milk, or whether these pass unrecognized among the millions of bacteria of which we hear so much?

It seems that this typhoid epidemic made considerable headway before the real cause was suspected by the board of health. Less than twenty or twenty-five cases of typhoid in the same district should alarm the health department sufficiently to cause a rigid investigation.

It is to be hoped that the department has succeeded in finding the real cause, and that the spread of the epidemic will be quickly stopped. There is a bare possibility, however, and that is why The Sun has not mentioned the name of the dealer, that the cause may be entirely different from what it is believed to be by the board of health, or that it may have come from an entirely different source from that suspected.

The fact that the board of health believes that the germs of typhoid were communicated to the milk by the milkmen in the process of milking and distribution does not uphold the board's contention as to the protective value of the rule requiring milk to be sold only in sealed bottles. The new method has greatly increased the extent of the exposure and handling to which the milk is subjected before it reaches the dealer. To this very fact is due in all probability the spread of the typhoid germs from milkmen. Thus one of the board's best rules has proved an utter failure in practice.

We are not criticizing the board for its action, neither are we trying to throw any obstacles in its way. The situation demands rigorous treatment as the lives of a great many people are at stake. The board will be sustained in any step it considers necessary to stop the epidemic no matter how much any man's business may suffer.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S TOUR

Now that Col. Roosevelt's spectacular tour is ended, we may well ask what was its aim? Was it to save the country, to put the people upon a new line of action politically, to advertise the magazine by which he is employed or to exploit his own political creed as a presidential possibility?

It would be difficult to determine his exact motive, but if we are to judge from his utterances on various occasions, it was to place himself squarely before the country as a dictator in politics and to increase, so far as he could, his prestige and his popularity. The magazine to which he is attached must have realized the advertising value of this tour when it bore all the expense of his princely trip.

The tour has not increased either Col. Roosevelt's popularity or his political influence. On the contrary it has convinced the people more than ever that Roosevelt is a dangerous man to be entrusted with vast executive power.

Imagine the president of the United States denouncing the supreme court decisions. Could anything be more calculated to shake the loyalty of the average citizen to the government? As president, Roosevelt did denounce several very important court decisions and he denounced men as undesirable citizens long before they were convicted of any crime. In his recent rampant attack upon the supreme court he was equally unguarded and unreasonable.

Were such attacks made by a man of lesser note they would be regarded as the ravings of a demagogue, and would receive but little attention.

Let us hope Col. Roosevelt will give the country a rest from his political rant so that business men may have an opportunity to enjoy a respite from the continual harangues by which alarm is spread and enterprise discouraged.

BAD PENMANSHIP IN THE SCHOOLS

Now that the schools are open it would be well to remark that the handwriting of the children is in a demoralized condition as a result of the change from vertical to semi-slant. The school board should instruct the superintendent to adopt some method of improving the handwriting throughout the schools.

Somebody who wanted a change in books worked their points so well that they had the vertical system introduced into the schools, and taught until the people throughout the city found it wholly unsuited for business purposes. It would serve all right for inscriptions on coffins or on door plates, but for ordinary business purposes where speed is a consideration the vertical writing is a hindrance and a monstrosity.

When we had a special writing master, and when a different system was taught in a superior way, then the pupils ranked high in penmanship. Now the case is different. The rank is low, and shows little sign of improvement.

It is not the fault of the teachers nor of the pupils. It is the fault of the school board, and results directly from the tendency to change text books for the accommodation of publishers, and without any regard for results.

A well equipped flying machine that can stay in the air for two or three hours is not nearly so dangerous a conveyance as the automobile going fifty or sixty miles an hour on a boulevard or country road.

HIS 85TH BIRTHDAY

Observed by Carlos Franklin
Hubbard of Westford

Mr. Carlos Franklin Hubbard observed his eighty-fifth birthday, yesterday, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. David M. Wilson, 67 Westford street. Mr. Hubbard has been a resident of Lowell for over 50 years, and with the exception of a slight trouble with his limbs, he is feeling as young today as he was in his youth. His reception yesterday afternoon was an informal one and many of his old friends called to offer their congratulations. Mr. Hubbard was born in Theford, Vermont, Sept. 12, 1825, and received his education in that place, coming to Lowell about 50 years ago. He was employed in the Bigelow Carpet company for 40 years. Mr. Hubbard has always owned horses and still retains his interest in them. Mr. Hubbard was married in Portland to Sarah J. Harrison, who died about 10 years ago. He is a member of the First Congregational church. He also belongs to Grand Union lodge, I. O. O. F., and to Monomack encampment of the same order.

LOSS OF HAIR

Dandruff and Itching Scalp—Simple Way to Cure Them

The most common cause of loss of hair, dandruff and itching scalp is neglect. People don't wash the scalp and hair often enough. Leading authorities like Dr. J. C. Boyce and Dr. Woods Hutchinson, of New York, and Prof. Laassar, of Germany, recommend frequent washing with mild, neutral soap. The best thing of all for this purpose is Birt's Head Wash, because it is made of a particularly fine soap, medicated with glycerine, white of eggs, coconut oil and salicylic acid. Birt's Head Wash makes a profuse lather, and not only cleans the hair and the outside of the scalp, but opens up and cleanses the pores as well. This opening of the pores is most beneficial and invigorating to the hair roots, and does more to prevent the loss of hair than any so-called "tonic" put together. A single shampoo with Birt's Head Wash will prove all these claims to your satisfaction. Tubes 25c. Jars 50c.

MURDER CHARGE AT SACRED HEART

Sani Was Arraigned Before Judge Wentworth

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—Carmine Sani, 27 years old, the proprietor of a restaurant on Fleet street, and who lives at 148 Richmond street, was arraigned before Judge Wentworth yesterday, charged with the murder of Salvatore Rizzo, aged 40, of Revere. It is alleged that Rizzo went to the restaurant Saturday night and bought a bottle of wine. He was about to leave, but the proprietor, who mistook him for an officer looking for an illegal sale, demanded the wine. Rizzo refused to return the bottle and it is alleged that Sani shot him. Sani's attorney asked for a continuance of two weeks, but Judge Wentworth put the case over until next Friday. Sani was taken to Charles street jail and Francisco Sello and Pasquale Picardo, as witnesses, were held in $200 each.

ACCUSED MAYOR

Ex-Police Officer Makes Charges

LYNN, Sept. 13.—At a special meeting of the board of aldermen last evening, Mayor James E. Rich handed in the resignation of Reserve Patrolman Eben W. Sears, Jr., against whom charges of conduct unbecoming a police officer and insubordination were preferred by Capt. William Howe, and sustained, according to a report of the committee on police.

Ex-Policeman Sears claims he has been prevented from the enforcement of the no-license laws by Mayor Rich, upon whom he makes a bitter attack. The mayor denies all the allegations of Mr. Sears and challenges him to produce proof of his accusations.

Sears announces his intention of being a candidate for the republican nomination for mayor and promises to make some startling disclosures in connection with the liquor traffic and the alleged existence of gambling houses in the city.

Mayor Rich says that if ex-Policeman Sears has had evidence in his possession that the liquor laws were being violated, as Sears claims, and failed to prosecute the offenders, the ex-policeman should have resigned from the police force long ago.

TO RECOVER $57,022.75

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—A bill was brought in the supreme court yesterday by George R. Nutter, et al., trustee in bankruptcy, of Patrick Lennox & Co., against Agnes L. Colton of New York, Mary A. Lennox, wife of Patrick Lennox, a shoe manufacturer in Lynn, and John P. Leahy seeking to recover $57,022.75, the amount of the proceeds of the sale of 425 shares of stock of the General Electric company which, it is claimed, were owned by Patrick Lennox at the time he was adjudged a bankrupt.

The complainants seek to restrain the defendants from disposing of the proceeds until the case is determined.

ARRESTED AFTER A CHASE

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—Edward J. Hagan, aged 22, unmarried, of 89 Chestnut street, Chelsea, was arrested after an exciting chase by Patrolmen Gairard and Cass of that city, about 10.45 yesterday morning and locked up on a charge of larceny from John F. Guilfoill, aged 69, of 36 Hillside street, Everett. Patrick J. McGovern, aged 19, of 94 Cottage street, West Lynn, was also arrested.

Mr. Guilfoill says that after making a purchase at the corner of Broadway and Williams street, Chelsea, his pocketbook, containing $48, was knocked out of his hand by Hagan, who picked it up and started for the door. The old man gave chase, but soon lost breath and then reported his loss to the police. Patrolmen Gairard and Cass were detailed and reaching the scene Hagan appeared and Mr. Guilfoill pointed him out as the man who robbed him. The officers captured their man in the rear of 12 Tremont street.

After locking the man up the policeman returned and found Mr. Guilfoill's pocketbook in an oval basket in the rear of 12 Tremont street.

McGovern is said to have pushed Mr. Guilfoill aside when he attempted to grab Hagan and was arrested later.

BAZAAR TO BE HELD IN AID OF SCHOOL

It was announced at the Sacred Heart church Sunday that a bazaar will be held in the near future to help pay the debt on the new school building.

This evening at 7.30 o'clock in the school hall there will be a meeting of the Holy Name society, and all the men of the parish are cordially invited to attend.

Tomorrow evening at 7.30 o'clock, in the school hall there will be a special meeting of the Holy Rosary sodality, and at 8 o'clock there will be a special meeting of the Children of Mary sodality.

CORN EXPOSITION

MAY BE HELD IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Madison Square Garden for the next, or the 1912 National Corn exposition.

To make it an international, instead of a National exposition and to interest, to the extent of exhibiting, every country in the globe.

Since the coming fourth annual national corn exposition to be held in the group of seven massive exhibit halls at the Ohio state exposition grounds has grown to such proportions that every nook and corner in the several buildings will be filled, it has been suggested by a number of leading agriculturists and prominent officials that the next show be made international, and that it be held in the famous Madison Square Garden in New York city.

No action will be taken on the proposition by the National Corn association until well after the business of the coming big corn show is settled, although much pressure is being brought to bear for an early decision, owing to the interest that is being taken by the United States government and the departments of agriculture of other countries.

While it is estimated that the Madison Square Garden is a location for the show proper would be little, if any better than the excellent exhibit halls on the Ohio State Exposition ground at Columbus, Ohio, the fact that it would be held in such a convenient location and in such a popular place of amusement, would be an inducement, which it is claimed by those interested, would bring exhibits and delegations from every country, and the exposition would be the greatest world-venture in the interest of the betterment of agriculture.

"The National Agricultural Exposition" is the new name proposed for the National Corn Exposition, owing to the fact that the intents and purposes of the event have so far outgrown the original purposes of the National Corn Association. When the first show was held in Chicago in 1907, only corn was shown. At the next two annual shows, which were held in Omaha, it was found necessary to enlarge the scope by adding classification for all grains and grasses. Interest has become so great, because of the extension and broadening out, that not alone all states but the government departments of agriculture have become so directly interested and benefited that the proposed change of name, in all probability, must come within the immediate future and before the 1912 exposition is held.

Already the plans for the fourth annual show which opens in Columbus, Ohio, January 30, to continue through February 11, have reached such proportions as to insure the greatest, by far, of any National Agricultural exposition.

REST AND HEALTH TO MOTHER AND CHILD.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for over SIXTY YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE BRUISING, WITH PERFECT SUCCESS, IT SOOTHES THE CHILD, SOFTENS THE GUMS, ALLAYS ALL PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHOEA. It is absolutely harmless. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle

sition that has ever been held, and the present indications are that all exhibitors now clamoring for space cannot be accommodated.

Regardless of the fact that already more than 30 states have arranged for exhibits from their respective agricultural colleges and experiment stations, with the best of their products representing each state, there will be at least several more states to enter, correspondence from the additional states being of the most favorable tone, and each state college expressing the deepest interest.

The fact that there will be so many national and state meetings of the greatest possible importance to the agriculturist, to be held at the same time and place as the National Corn Exposition, has caused some of the leading men of the country to suggest Madison Square Garden for the next show, and it is more than likely that such pressure will be brought to bear upon the officials of the National Corn association that the proposition will receive most careful consideration.

Agriculturists over the country, besides government officials and agricultural colleges and experiment stations, have been watching with an eagle eye the progress that has been made for the coming exposition and interest is now at the very highest tension.

Farm publications throughout the world are devoting much space to the enterprise, which has for its motto: "Betterment of Agriculture," and with this most excellent and unlimited publicity it is bringing enthusiastic inquiries with each mail, seeking information.

As only educational features are considered, the big National show will be of the greatest possible advantage to the farmers and they highly appreciate the fact that it is to be kept free from any alliances which would be interested for profit alone.

UNDER ARREST

BROCKTON LETTER CARRIER CHARGED WITH LARCENY

BROCKTON, Sept. 13.—William H. Delano, 39 years old, a letter carrier, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of larceny from the mails by Inspector Jennings of the postoffice department.

The arrest of Delano followed the placing of a decoy letter in a letter box on his route by Postmaster Hollywood in the afternoon. The letter was addressed to a mail order house in Chicago and contained some money and an order for goods.

When Delano reached the postoffice with the mail he had picked up on his route, Postmaster Hollywood examined the mail and found the letter, which had been opened and the money taken, he says, the letter being sealed again.

Delano was asked to the postmaster's office and there confronted. Inspector Jennings immediately placed him under arrest. He was searched, but no letters were found on him. He was taken to the police station by Officer Batchelder. Delano was appointed a substitute carrier July 1, 1909, and a regular carrier Jan. 1, 1905. He was married one year ago.

WAR VETERAN

WAS SENTENCED TO THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—James Denehy was before Judge DeCourcy for sentence in the superior criminal court, yesterday, on an indictment accusing him of breaking and entering.

He told the judge he had served in the Spanish war, and on one occasion met President McKinley and shook hands with him. He said the president addressed the men thus: "Boys, if you are ever in trouble mention my name. We fought for the flag and for glory." Denehy further said all he asked was to have the judge show a little leniency. Without comment, the judge imposed a sentence of six months in the house of correction.

George Morse, 26 years old, accused in two counts of breaking and entering, didn't want to go to state prison. He said he had been there off and on in the reformatory since he was 16 years old. Judge DeCourcy sent him to the house of correction for two years.

John P. Donnelly, charged with larceny, stole a can of milk. It was his first theft, at least the first for which he was haled into court. He had a record based on drunkenness entirely. He is a steep climber. Four months in the house of correction was the sentence.

MAYOR ON SUPERVISING BOARD

BROCKTON, Sept. 13.—The common council was in special session last evening to act at the request of Mayor Clifford in the matter of the reorganization of the departments of the federal government. The council amended an order from the aldermen authorizing the library trustees to have charge of the work by making the mayor a member of the supervising board, ex-officio. This amended order was concurred in by the aldermen, also in session.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The federal grand jury which has been investigating Chicago packers late yesterday returned indictments against ten high officials of the Swift, Armour and Morris concerns.

There are three indictments against each, charging combination, conspiracy, and illegal monopoly.

The men indicted are L. F. Swift, president of Swift & Co.; Edward Swift, vice president of Swift & Co.; Charles H. Swift, director of Swift & Co.; Francis A. Fowler, director of Swift & Co.; Edward Tilden, president of the National packing company; J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co.; Arthur Meeker, general manager of Armour & Co.; Thomas J. Connors, superintendent of Armour & Co.; Edward Morris, president of Morris & Co.; and Louis H. Heyman, manager of Morris & Co.

The first indictment in detail charges all defendants with engaging in a combination in restraint of interstate trade in fresh meats.

The second charges conspiracy. The third charges the defendants with monopolizing the trade in fresh meats by unlawful means.

That the purpose of the grand jury inquiry was the indictment of individuals rather than of packing corporations was shown when Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, who imposed the $20,000,000 Standard Oil fine, instructed the investigators.

"It sometimes happens that a person about to violate the law takes a name other than his own," said Judge Landis in his charge to the jury. "John Jones, undertaking to counterfeit gold dollars, changes his name to John Smith, or the Metals fabricating company, and under that name does the thing forbidden by law."

"If your investigation discloses such a case, do not indict a mere alias, but follow the trail wherever it may lead until you have found, identified and pointed out the real offenders."

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13.—The 48 ball players who recently signed contracts with the proposed all-stars of the American and National leagues and received their checks in advance will be permitted to cash the papers. The proposed series, financed by Cincinnati capital, was killed by a ruling of the National commission of baseball.

Last night D. A. Fletcher, promoter of the all-stars, stated that the players had received the checks in good faith and were not responsible for the failure of the proposition and that for that reason no effort will be made to prevent them from cashing in.

He denied the rumors of suits against the commission to recover the money, which amounts to almost $30,000, but states the commission will be ignored and that he will proceed with the organization of a new league the first of the year as he has the necessary capital and playing talent at his disposal.

RUSSIAN GIRL

SURPRISED AT CHANGE IN OLD SWEETHEART

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Sophia Przewarska, a comely Russian girl of 18 from one of the Baltic provinces, and a graduate of a college in which she learned to speak German and French, but no English, arrived on Aug. 22 aboard the liner Finland, to marry her childhood sweetheart, Omfrey Wogno.

He has been in America three years, has become an architect, has learned the language of the republic and has fallen into many of the ways of its people.

It was her intention to go from the steamship directly to Cleveland, where they were to be united by a priest of the Greek church. But she did not count on meeting an immigration inspector at quarantine who wanted to know why she was traveling alone and where she was going. She told him all about herself, and was taken to Ellis Island.

Omfrey, told by telegram that his sweetheart was waiting for him, came out of the west more swiftly than Young Lochinvar.

His briskness rather startled Sophia, who had expected to meet the modest youngster of her memory. She did not like the Americanization of him and she told him so after the minister had married them. He laughed it off, and she did not like the laugh. He seemed like a foreigner to her. On Monday last they took train for Cleveland.

train, declaring that she did not love her husband. She says she did not tell him she was going to leave him and that he probably was unaware of her decision. She wandered around

Binghamton until a policeman took her to headquarters.
Her husband wants to take her back, but she says he is not what she supposed he would be; that he is very much changed and no longer a Russian. She says also she does not want to return to Russia.

KENOZHA CAMPERS

TO CLOSE THEIR CAMP ON OCTOBER 1

The Kenozha Campers, an organizaat their camp last evening and transacted important business. The members voted to close their camp Octo-a grand musical program at the closing exercises.

The social committee reported that arrangements for the club's dancing party in Talbot hall, North Billerica, Friday evening, were practically completed. The committee has engaged Gilmore's orchestra to furnish music, and James Lyons, to render selections during the dancing.

FORGERY CHARGE

DISTRICT ATTORNEY TO MAKE AN INVESTIGATION

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—Dist. Atty. Pelletier's attention has been called to the charge of forgery of signatures to the nomination papers of R. H. Barnes of Dorchester, who is a candidate for nomination for senator in the district comprising wards 20 and 21. Herman Hornel, secretary of the republican city committee, said he had learned that names were forged and he furnished the district attorney with the names of three men who claimed they had not signed the papers.

Mr. Pelletier said he would investigate and if he found evidence of forgery or fraud he would lay it before the grand jury.

GRADE CROSSINGS

WORK OF ABOLISHING THE PLAIN STREET CROSSING SHOWING CEMENT PIERS FOR BRIDGE

Four of Most Dangerous Crossings Will be Abolished

The work of abolishing the grade crossings in Walker, School, Plain and Lincoln streets is being pushed along as rapidly as possible. In Plain street the work is nearing the finishing point and a great deal has been done in Lincoln street.

The high bank of land extending along the railroad between Lincoln and Plain streets has been removed. The bank was on the west side of the railroad tracks and the work of removing it was not a small job. Steam too, is pretty much all done and, like Plain street, about all that remains to make the job complete is the bridge.

More than a dozen houses have been raised or moved; raised to conform with the grade or moved because they were in the way. Two or three of the houses were moved a considerable distance but most of them were moved only a short distance.

The pictures herewith give an idea of the state of affairs at both crossings.
The bridge buttresses and retaining converged at this point, were lowered seven and one-half feet. This depression will allow the shifting engines to shunt their cars at a considerable speed in either direction, the up-grade retarding the swiftness enough to make this a safe procedure. The tracks were lowered for a distance of 1000 feet from the Harvard brewery to the old Colony yard at Lincoln street.

The sand used to fill in between the piers and the embankment was taken from the excavations made. The grade shovels were used and a big gang of men was employed for several days.

The line of track has been lowered more than six feet and but for an unforeseen delay the motor would be open to public travel today. The iron for the bridge should have been on the ground two weeks ago but it hasn't arrived yet. Just as soon as the bridge is in position the street will be reopened. The abutments are all ready and most of the filling in has been done through with.

During the work in Plain and Lincoln streets a temporary crossing is being used in Poplar street. One of the abutments for the bridge in Lincoln street is all ready and the other is pretty well along. The filling in work, walls are all built of cement, a favorite material with the railroad in all its solid construction work.

The mason work, the filling in and the grading has been greatly expedited by the large steam shovel with a capacity of 30 tons. The 12 horse power steam derrick has done yeoman service on both the Plain and Lincoln street jobs.

The piers are 200 feet long and 25 feet wide at their foundations and taper to the length of 10 feet and the width of four feet at the top. In order to afford the required height from the ground to the bridge the tracks of the Boston & Maine and New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads, which descend at a fall of five per cent and extends from the piers 50 feet in Main street, 177 on Plain street and on the other side of the tracks 210 feet on the Boston road.

Only a few minor accidents have occurred so far. The men have been working between 12 and 14 hours a day. The contract of the foundation work and the grading is in the hands of the New England Construction company of Springfield.

The bridge in Plain street will be of iron and steel and will have a suspension of the length of 75 feet and the depth of 22 feet. It will be 10 feet wide.

The most dangerous crossing of all is School street and work will be started upon that in a few days. The abolition of these four crossings will afford greater security to the people who have to pass along these streets and will undoubtedly save many lives.

NEW JERSEY PRIMARIES

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 13.—Fair weather prevails for the primary elections to be held today throughout New Jersey by all parties. The polls open at 1 p. m. and close at 9 p. m.

The greatest interest centers in the contest for the endorsement by the people of candidates for United States senator. There are five avowed republican candidates for the senator to succeed John Keen but only three of them have consented to let their names go before the people. These three are former Gov. P. C. Stokes, former Governor Murphy and Congressman Charles N. Fowler, who also has a fight on his hands for renomination in the fifth district.

MANY ROBBERIES

Police Say That Boy Operated in This City

WORCESTER, Sept. 13.—Raoul Trudell, 16 years old, who was arrested Sunday night in the Union station as he was about to board a train for Providence with a couple of bags filled with booty stolen from two Worcester houses yesterday, was arraigned in the district court yesterday and held in $3000 bonds for a hearing on Sept. 21 on four counts of breaking, entering and larceny.

The inspectors' quarters at station 1 were thronged today by victims of the daylight robber, who has been operating in Worcester. In an effort to identify some of the goods found in the bags the boy was about to take to Providence.

The police say the boy admits that he worked in Boston, Providence, Haverhill, Lowell, Hartford, New Haven, Lawrence, Manchester, Springfield and Laconia, but he will not tell where any of the stuff can be found. He has admitted that his mother and an aunt live in Providence, but he declares they knew nothing of his actions during the past two months, as he escaped from the Lyman school and has been keeping steady from his relatives.

When asked by the police how he was able to conceal his operations, he said he left town every night and went either to Boston or Providence and from those cities made trips to other places. He nettled the police officials a bit by telling them boldly Worcester was the easiest place he worked in.

The police charge him with the following breaks in Worcester: July 26, Joseph Wheeler of 28 Waller ave., two suits of clothes, safety razor, stone ring, jewelry valued at $100; July 27, Joseph A. Skerry of 51 Lincoln street, gold watch, clothing and jewelry valued at $150; Aug. 1, Mary Merriam, rustled on in the traveling bag which he had consigned to William Bassett,
Providence, to be called for.

All the stuff stolen yesterday was found in the parcels which young Trudell had in his possession when arrested on in the traveling bag which he had consigned to William Bassett,
Providence, to be called for.

The boy has a previous police record as he was sent to the Lyman school last October for two charges of larceny and he escaped about three months ago.

PREACHERS QUIT PULPITS

CHARLES CITY, Ia., Sept. 13.—When the upper Iowa Methodist conference convenes in Charles City this week, it will find that it is face to face with a decided shortage in the number of preachers, and that 57 charges in the conference will have to be filled from a source at the present not known.

Fifty-seven men, the greater number of them young and in the prime of life, will quit the ministry at this time, and all will engage in secular lines of work.

The general complaint is that the salary paid to a minister is not sufficient to maintain a family.

CRIMINAL COURT CASES

NIGHT EDITION

Other Cases Were Disposed of in Superior Court Today After Which the Court Adjourned to Cambridge for Remainder of the Session

In the superior criminal court this morning the case of Arthur Duchesne, charged with rape, was heard. The complainant, Mrs. Desrosiers, testified that Duchesne, who roomed at her house, kept her a prisoner in the house for nine hours. The defendant admitted having been in the company of the complainant on the day of the alleged assault and on the day previous, but denied being guilty of any crime of the nature of what was charged against him.

After this case went to the jury Judge Raymond disposed of several cases in which pleas of guilty were entered.

Murallumpo Tangaloa pleaded guilty of assault and battery and was fined $100.

Edmund Flynn, non-support, was defaulted.

Andrew Langlois, one year ago today was placed on probation for breaking and entering. Later he deserted his family. It is alleged, and was arrested for drunkenness and hence the probation officer surrendered him. Langlois when asked if he had anything to say requested that he be sent to the Lowell jail. He was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory.

John B. Boyle was surrendered by the probation officer, having been arrested for drunkenness while on probation for attempting to break and enter. Mr. Ramsey was inclined to speak a good word for the young man, while his employer spoke well of him. Judge Raymond called Boyle to the bench and imparted some good advice to him after which Boyle was placed on probation.

Thomas G. Little pleaded nolo to a charge of assault and battery and the plea was accepted on payment of $5 expenses.

Carrelli Got Two Years

Antonio Carrelli, alias Tony Carrelli, was called for sentence today. Carrelli was sentenced to the house of correction for two years.

Louis Balloose, charged with rape, changed his plea to that of guilty of fornication. Balloose has been in jail since June. He was sentenced to jail for four months.

At noon the bell in the jury room rang and a deputy sheriff who answered the summons reported back that the jury on the Duchesne case was desirous of taking a view of the house in which the alleged assault took place. The privilege was denied.

Shortly after noon court adjourned to Cambridge at 9.30 tomorrow with the Duchesne jury still out.

The cases of Ernest Capasso, John W. Ellis, Frank Gilbert and Thomas Kelly, who appealed from sentences of one year each on charges of being vagabonds, will be tried tomorrow. The defense will move to dismiss the complaints on the ground that they were improperly made out.

The Jury List

The jury list is as follows: John H. Alden, Reading, retired; Frederick W. Allison, Medford, clerk; Frank F. Avery, Framingham, mattress maker; Timothy F. Began, Woburn, carrier; Eugene C. Belcher, Newton, bookkeeper; Joseph A. Bernard, Lowell, plumber; Walter J. Brigham, Somerville, collector; Alexander C. Cameron, Lowell, carpenter; Frederick W. Carpenter, Medford, bookkeeper; George O. Clapp, Everett, mason; Everett A. Clifford, Lowell, clerk; William H. Crowley, Lowell, clerk; James W. Doane, Newton, carpenter; Thomas H. Dooley, Malden, insurance; John H. Eaton, Reading, carpenter; Melvin A. Fletcher, Everett, salesman; William P. Gunlan, Waltham, shoe salesman; Minot J. Harrington, Framingham, farmer; Theodore A. Haviland, Watertown, clerk; Daniel H. Lane, Somerville, inspector; Herman J. Lettger, Malden, bootmaker; James H. Lunnell, Woburn, provisions; George S. Luffkin, Melrose, jeweler; John L. McCafferty, Waltham, jewel-maker; Henry McNess, Woburn, carrier; Herbert Gardner McKernan, Newton, machinery; Alexander W. McKan, Cambridge, salesman; William F. Mountford, Somerville, clerk; John W. erville, shipper; Patrick J. Murphy, Cambridge, barber; Charles L. Nelson, Cambridge, druggist; George F. Powers, Somerville, clerk; Ernest C. Quinn, Cambridge, pianos; Daniel J. Sullivan, Waltham, manager; Alfred Swanson, Lowell, granite polisher; John R. Taafkin, Somerville, clerk; Osgood E. Tarr, Melrose, traveling salesman; Martin B. Thompson, Lowell, overseer; John J. Walsh, Cambridge, grocer; Harry J. York, Watertown, clerk.

BALLINGER CASE

Republican Committee Held Meeting

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The meeting of the republican members of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee which was set for today by Chairman Nelson, was delayed by the failure of Mr. Nelson to arrive at the appointed hour, 10 o'clock. He finally appeared very late and called the meeting to order.

As was expected, the democratic members, and Madison of Kansas, the insurgent republican who on Saturday made public their findings which condemned the official acts of Secretary Ballinger, failed to attend. All the republican members with the exception of Senators Nelson and Flint were here for the meeting. Senator Flint is abroad but it was reported Sen. Nelson had a letter from him authorizing Senator Nelson to cast Mr. Flint's vote with the majority of republicans.

SEATTLE PRIMARIES

FIND APATHY AMONG THE REPUBLICAN FORCES

SEATTLE, Wash., September 13.—In today's primary election the polls opened at 11 a. m., and will close at 8 p. m. A small vote is expected in the country districts and a large one in the workingmen's section of the city. Many republicans will not vote on account of dissatisfaction with the Old Guard. On the one hand, and unwillingness to vote for insurgents on the other.

NEGROES LYNCHED

FOR ATTEMPTED ASSAULT ON TWO CHILDREN

TIPTONVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 13.—With Sharpe and Bob Bruce were lynched last night by a mob of about 40 men for an attempted assault on two little daughters of Jake Downing, at their home at Connersville. The negroes were taken from the sheriff in a express train near Tiptonville where the sheriff was hiding them. The members of the mob were not masked.

WOMAN WAS KILLED

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A middle-aged woman, believed to be Mrs. Louisa King, a janitress, of No. 1730 Walton avenue, the Bronx, was killed by a northbound local train at a point directly under the Farmer's bridge on the Putnam division of the New York Central railroad last evening. A wedding ring engraved "F. K. to L. W., June 14, '88" and a German Savings bank book were found upon the dead woman.

A flagman, Patrick Shanley, saw the woman when she left Kingsbridge road and attempted to cross the tracks. The bridge subway, an overhead structure, her head was turned away, he said, and she did not realize the nearness of the train, which, according to the flagman, was not stopped.

THE WEIGHING FRAUDS

Sensational Testimony Given by Government Weigher

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Sensational revelations of the extent of and bold methods employed in underweighing frauds were made on the witness stand today by James P. Hyland, who was an assistant government weigher from 1891 to 1900, testifying that at the trial of George E. Bedell and other former customs officials on underweighing frauds charges. Hyland was asked if he had ever done any underweighing.

"I underweighed the very first cargo I was assigned to weigh," was the astonishing reply of the witness. He said that he continued underweighing from that time on, receiving most of the corruption money from "Big George" Lunny, who has been described in the testimony as the "go-between. Between importers and weighers in bribery operations to secure underweights the underweighers always got half the amounts of the duties out of which the government was defrauded," Hyland testified.

Hyland said at one time he was satisfied with the amount of his "rake off" at one dock and offered Bedell $50 a ship if he would have him transferred to a more fruitful field. The transfer was made, the witness testified. Bedell was clerk to Deputy Surveyor Vail.

HON. JAMES B. CASEY TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

Ex-Mayor Enters the Congressional Fight in Fifth District

This afternoon Hon. James B. Casey, formerly mayor of Lowell, made a formal announcement of his candidacy for the democratic nomination for congress. He has made a careful survey of the district and says he believes there is a good chance for a democrat to be elected. His formal statement is as follows:

Mr. Casey's Announcement

"After careful consideration of the situation existing in the fifth congressional district, and at the earnest solicitation of many friends, I have de-paign of energetic hustling and a presentation of democratic principles and issues, such as it has not been treated to for some years past. There will not be a nook or corner of the district that I will not cover, and cover thoroughly.

"I recognize but one handicap, and that is in a financial sense, but I firmly believe it possible to contest for an election to congress in this district, without being strongly fortified in such a manner. People are doing their own voting and their thinking nowadays. The republican party is well divided against itself at the present time. Stand patners and insurgents are each blaming the other for the tremendously high cost of living, and the injurious present tariff schedules. The Payne-Aldrich tariff law is rapidly turning out millionaires, and making them richer and richer each day, while making the American workman poorer and poorer.

"The best and safest insurance that the people can send to the next congress, is a democrat, and if a majority are sent to congress it will mean the end of Cannonism, with its consequent misrule, and legislation for special interests. Party fealty is well and good, but when the practice of that fealty means the going into one's own pocket to the extent of from 30 to 60 per cent. more for the necessities of life, then it is time to transfer such fealty to the individual and the home.

"This district is distinctively an industrial district. I am strongly opposed to any radicalism that simply tends to inflame the public mind, leaving nothing substantial behind. The district has been treated too long to pretty set phrases that sound well, but mean nothing. In the matter of favorable legislation at Washington that would give an impetus to the growth and prosperity of the district, nothing has been accomplished. Is it because at the Washington, Massachusetts and the Fifth district are considered so safely republican that no special attention need be paid to their interests and their people? The census figures are showing the tremendous growth in industry and population of other sections of the country, varying from 50 per cent to over 100 per cent, while in this district and state the growth is at a small-like pace.

"I shall conduct a clean campaign for the nomination, and if so honored I will put forth every effort to win."

THE MAINE ELECTION

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—Returns for governor in the state elections from 607 out of 628 election districts comprising 500 out of 521 cities, towns and plantations give Fernald (R.), 64,736; Plaisted (D.), 73,245. The missing towns four years ago gave Cob (R.), 315; Davis (D), 137.

DANIEL REID PLEASED

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Daniel G. Reid, of the Rock Island company, returning today from Europe, expressed much gratification today over the news that Phelps-Dodge and company had acquired large interest in the Rock Island. Mr. Reid said: "Phelps-Dodge & Co. control a large mining interest and also the El Paso and Southwestern railway company, a combination for the benefit of the Rock Island company."

A STRANGE STORY

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 13.—A man who gave his name as Walter Rainsau of Boston told Patrolman Coggeshall today that he had been sent here by a secret society to investigate a shop where children were being killed and their flesh sold for meat. He was detained and on examination said he lived on Worcester place, Boston, and showing a discharge from the first regiment, Massachusetts volunteer militia, March 20, 1896. He is about 30 years of age.

WALSH WAS KILLED

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—After making his escape from the grounds of the Boston insane hospital, where he was an inmate, John J. Walsh today threw himself in front of a two-horse cart loaded with stone and was killed. Walsh was 32 years of age and unmarried and formerly lived in the West End.

The Total Number of Cases is Now Fifty-One

Eight more cases of typhoid fever were reported at the office of the board of health this forenoon. That brings the total number of cases up to 51. The time for cases of the fever caused by the infected milk supply to develop is about up and the worst will be over in a few days. From the new cases reported yesterday and today the belief of the board that the epidemic was started by the infected milk supply is practically confirmed.

The buildings of the dealer who sold the infected milk and the building on the farm in North Chelmsford where he purchased it have been fumigated and cleaned under the supervision of the board of health.

Registrars Hustling

The registrars have been hustling for the last few weeks and everything having to do with the check lists is now with the printer. It is expected that the check lists will be out before registration starts.

Marriage Intentions

The following marriage intentions have been registered at the city clerk's office since the last were published:

John J. Rily, 27, clerk, 16 Charles street and Annie L. Gormley, 28, at home, 626 Broadway.

Charles H. Barlow, 21, baker, 360 Wilder street and Gertrude E. Tullant, 20, at home, 4 Lundberg street.

John J. Madden, 21, shoe shop, 31 Willie street and Mary Etta L. Flynn, 20, at home, 530 Rogers street.

DUNCAN IS HOME

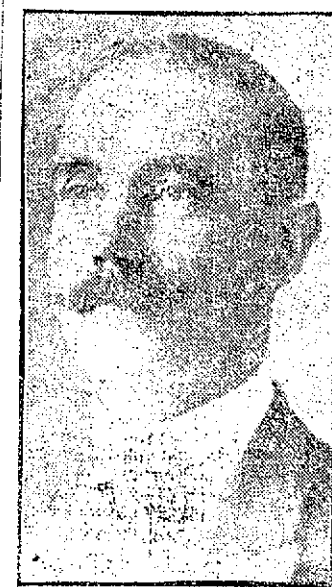

The Sergeant Had a Most Enjoyable Trip

Sergt. Alexander Duncan, of the local police department, returned to his duties this morning after a most delightful tour of the British Isles and France. During the two months he

He left New York on the steamship St. Louis of the American line a few days after the Fourth of July and went to England. He visited England, Ireland and Scotland and says that it is necessary to visit these places in order to know what beautiful scenery and places are over there. He visited the various places of interest in London, spending several days there.

He then crossed the channel to France and took in gay "Paris." Paris is just as lively as is reported by travelers from this country," said the sergeant, "but there are many other things outside of the life of the city. There are excellent buildings, fine boulevards and various other things too numerous to mention."

Returning, Sergt. Duncan took the steamship Granpaia from the Allan line and landed at Montreal from which place he went through the eastern part of Canada, visited the Thousand Isles, took several trips up the St. Lawrence river, and visited Niagara Falls, Buffalo and various other cities.

SERGEANT ALEXANDER DUNCAN was absent from this country he saw everything of importance in the places he visited and is full of stories of the trip.

In conversation with a representative of The Sun he repeated that old adage that "One half the world does not know how the other half lives."

AT SACRED HEART HOLY NAME SOCIETY TO MEET THIS EVENING

The regular monthly meeting of the Holy Name society of the Sacred Heart church will be held in the school hall on Andrews street this evening. Owing to the resignation of James Ward as president, his successor will be elected tonight. Other matters of importance are to be transacted and a large number of members is expected to attend.

THE COUNTY SEAT

RIDGEBURY, Me., Sept. 13.—Reports from towns in the shore question, though incomplete because of irregularities in the counting, indicate that a major part of the voters are in favor of the change with Shes as choice for the county seat. Interested attorneys are already looking over the situation and it is stated a recount of the votes in practically all the towns may be necessary.

6 O'CLOCK LEAPED TO DEATH

Unknown Woman Committed Suicide in Lawrence Canal

LAWRENCE, Sept. 13.—An unknown woman leaped to death in the waters of the North canal, near Appleton street, last night about 6 o'clock. She went inside the iron railing and then jumped over the bank. She was seen by John McCann, but no one was near enough to save her. Her hat remained on the bank. It is of coarse white straw, with a light Persian scarf band. No attempt was made to get the body last night, as there is no boat in the canal. The police will search for the remains this morning.

FUNERALS

NESMITH.—The funeral services of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Nesmith were held from her residence in Westford Sunday. There was a profusion of floral offerings. Rev. David Wallace was the officiating clergyman. The bearers were H. L. Nesmith, G. W. Nesmith, W. Kemp and W. F. Balch. The body was sent to Burlington, Mass., for burial in the family lot. David L. Greig undertaker.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Joseph Henri Aubert of this city and Miss Aurore Loiselle of Chelmsford were married yesterday morning at Notre-Dame de Lourdes church at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Lamothe, O. M. I. The bride, who wore a charming gown of white silk, was attended by her father, Mr. Joseph Loiselle, and the bridegroom's attendant was Mr. Hippolyte Pouliot. During the ceremony, the children of Mary sodality choir sang, with Miss Cora Renaud at the organ. A reception was given at night at the bride's home in Chelmsford. Mr. and Mrs. Aubert, who have received many beautiful gifts, will leave tonight on a bridal tour.

THOMAS-CONNELL

Mr. Robert R. Thomas and Miss Gertrude M. Connell were married Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. Joseph Curran at St. Patrick's parochial residence. Miss Agnes R. Connell acted as maid of honor and Mr. Raymond J. Thomas as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas left on the 6.18 p. m. train for Boston. Before returning they will visit St. John and Fredericton, N. B. They will be at home to their friends after November 1st, at 2 Glidden avenue. No cards.

ROCK-EDWARDS

Mr. Charles F. Rock and Miss Minnie L. Edwards, both of this city, were married yesterday by Rev. N. W. Matthews at his residence, 15 Ellsworth street. The bride was attended by her mother and sister, Mrs. Lucy A. Edwards and Miss Emma G. Edwards. Mr. and Mrs. Rock, after their extended wedding trip, will make their home at Harrisville, R. I.

Sweeping Pluralities for Democratic Candidates —Plaisted's Plurality is 6500—The General Slump on Republican Vote About 15,000—General Results and Story of the Election

A tidal wave of democracy swept over Maine yesterday, carrying Colonel Frederick W. Plaisted of Augusta to the governor's chair and ousting the present occupant, Bert M. Fernald of Poland, by a plurality of 7500. This shows a republican slump from two years ago of 14,773 votes. Practically the same proportion of republican loss is maintained all along the line.

Returns from 539 out of 628 election districts, comprising 19 cities and 421 out of 501 towns and plantations gave:

Plaisted, democrat, 64,658. Fernald, republican, 56,988. The missing city was Portland, while the 75 towns and plantations were nearly all up in Aroostook county or among the outlying islands.

The wave also overwhelmed at least three and possibly all four of the state's congressional delegation, which has been republican since the inception of the party. The flood spread through a majority of the counties and even extended to the legislature, which next winter will choose a successor to United States Senator Eugene Hale. The democrats will probably elect Obndiah Gardner of Rockland.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—Democracy with more districts to hear from. Republican congressional timber was blown by the blades of democrats and progressive republicans and tumbled ignominiously to earth. William M. Pannell of Brunswick, the democratic ex-sheriff, may have defeated Asher C. Blinds of Portland, who was nominated after a bitter republican contest in the first congressional district. At a late hour last night, however, Continued on page five

THE BONDER RACES

MARLBOROUGH, Sept. 13.—The Robert W. Emmons of the Beverly Yacht club, the China, owned by Guy It is expected that the American yachts will be shipped to Germany early in the spring, in order that they may be well tried out before the races open. The regatta committee today also announced that the Clontia cup, offered by Captain Arana of the Spanish navy, the yachtsman, which competed in the Spanish-American races off Mar-

Man Found Guilty of Larceny of Flour

Frank Shaley was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of 20 barrels of flour, each barrel of the value of $5, the property of Avedis M. Torigian. The case which proved to be a rather long drawn out affair came about as the result of a business transaction between the complainant and defendant. William A. Hogan appeared for the government and the defendant was represented by Bennett Silverblatt.

The first witness called for the government was Avedis M. Torigian, the complainant, who stated that he was a baker and grocer. Continuing with his testimony he said that Shaley and his brother were bakers and owed him money to the amount of $16.25. When they asked for further credit he refused them. Then the defendant came to him and stated that if the witness would give him enough of flour to last him for a couple of weeks he would give witness a first mortgage on his business and equipment. This was perfectly satisfactory to Torigian and he accepted what he considered a first mortgage on defendant's business and in return delivered some 20 barrels of flour to the defendant. Later Mr. Torigian found that what he supposed was a first mortgage was a second mortgage. He also testified that he was present at the sale of the horse, was on and harness which he supposed was covered by the mortgage made out to him.

The defendant practically admitted that he was indebted to the complainant, but stated that owing to his ignorance of the English language and the laws of this country he was not aware that he was giving a second mortgage. The court after considering the case found the defendant guilty but continued sentence till tomorrow. Drunken Offenders Alpheus B. Hamblett, charged with drunkenness, entered a plea of guilty and it looked as though he was going to be sentenced to jail when Probation Officer Slattery interceded for him and on condition that he go back to Meredith, N. H., where he is employed as a landscape gardener, the court gave him a suspended sentence of five months in jail. Owen Fahey was under a suspended sentence of four months in jail but he broke the rules of his probation, was surrendered and this morning was remanded to jail. Margaret Faucher was found staggering through Middlesex street last night and Patrolman Gilbert Sheridan sent her to the police station. She admitted that she had been drinking but asked the court to give her another chance. The court decided to allow the matter to go over until tomorrow in order that her husband might be conferred with. William E. Grennan, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory. Three first offenders were fined $2 each.

A STORM WARNING

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13.—The local weather bureau issued the following storm warning this morning:

Tropical disturbances some distance southeast of the Texas coast, moving northwesterly toward the mouth of the Rio Grande. A brisk northeasterly wind and high tides are indicated for the Texas coast. Shipping should be cautious.

ROOSEVELT WILL NOT TALK

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Theodore Roosevelt (this morning came from Oyster Bay to pay his first visit to his editorial office since his return from his western trip and was no more inclined than last night to comment for publication on the result of the Maine election. Pressed for some statement on the general situation, he responded:

"No; I have just returned from a hygienic tour to steep myself in literary calm."

With that the colonel bent a retreat to his offices.

FIREMAN MURDERED

His Body Was Found in the Mississippi River

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 13.—That John Gregory, fireman aboard the U. S. monitor Amphitrite, was murdered and robbed, is the theory advanced after the discovery of his body in the Mississippi river yesterday. Friday was pay day and that evening Gregory started to swim ashore, intending to spend the night in Memphis. He was not seen since until his body, minus his blouse and pay, $60, was recovered by a fisherman. The body bore bruises was pay day and that evening Gregory

LOST IN THE FOG

Aviators Had an Exciting Experience

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Joe Seymour in his Curtiss biplane and Tod Schriever in the Howard Diel biplane had a very unusual experience early today when both became lost in a dense fog that hung over the Hempstead Plains, obscuring all objects. Both men had difficulty in getting their bearings and kept well up in the air to prevent collision with trees and fences. Each aeronaut was warned of the other's approach by the throbbing of the motor and thus avoided collision by flying over below each other as they approached. Seymour made four long cross-country flights and Schriever made three.

NAVAL GENERAL BOARD

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 13.—The daily sessions of the naval general board, which have been in progress at the naval war college here since early in July, are concluded. Many important details of naval policy have been considered. The summer conference of officers at the naval war college will end on the last day of September. Besides the war games and other maneuvers there have been numerous lectures on naval establishments, the speakers including Dr. Gen. Witherspoon and Rear Admiral Mahan.

STATE COMMITTEES MEET

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 13.—State committees of the political parties began meetings today in preparation for the fall campaign. New chairmen were elected. The democratic, prohibition and socialist labor parties will draft platforms before the adjournment. The meetings may continue through tomorrow. The democratic committee will, according to the leaders, endorse Joseph Folk for president, Champ Clark, leader of the primary in the house of representatives, is chairman of the democratic resolutions committee.

LATEST CHAIRMAN MACK

Discusses the Result of the Election in Maine

SUFFALO, Sept. 13.—Chairman Norman E. Mack of the democratic national committee, commenting on the Maine election, said in a statement issued here today:

"Yesterday's election was fought out on the great national questions of the day and it is clear that the people are to triumph over the evils of national government which the democracy has been fighting for years. Those evils may be summarized as the domination of national policies by the special privilege interests; the welfare of the few at the expense of the many. "The tide has turned in Maine and it will not stop until it has reached California. In the last national election the republican party promised the people relief from the oppressive conditions occasioned by the Dingley tariff. Instead of a reduction they gave the people an increase, and all the speeches of the president and vice president of the entire throng of federal orators cannot undo that wrong. The vigorous progressive citizenship of America has awakened."

HINDS WAS ELECTED

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 13.—Unofficial returns give Ascher C. Hinds (R.), a plurality of 734 for congress from the first district. The district complete gave Hinds 17,373; Pennell (D.), 18,639. Mr. Hinds' plurality was evenly divided in the two districts.

THE FREIGHT TARIFFS

Charles F. Daly Tells How They Were Increased

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—How increased freight tariffs were made up was told by Charles F. Daly, vice-president of the New York Central lines, under cross examination today by the Interstate Commerce commission.

Mr. Daly said each road had decided on its own increase in rates and the railroad representatives then met in this city to make the rates uniform.

"It would be suicidal for each road to have a different rate," said Mr. Daly, "protection of commercial interests in the different sections demands a uniform basis."

Mr. Daly admitted on cross examination that most of the luxuries of life were carried in the fast freight and known as the "upper classes" of transportation.

Mr. Daly was asked if the luxuries would cost a little more to the people and to the shippers.

"So little that the advance will have no practical effect in many individual cases," replied the witness.

"What effect on the man who sells his goods?"

"Very little, it will be more than gained by the improved conditions of the railroads of the country and its aid to general business," replied Mr. Daly.

"Are women's dresses, children's clothing, and shoes in these freight luxuries?"

"Yes."

"Well, the men of St. Louis who buy shoes from New England factories must pay the higher freight; the money will be taken out of their pockets and transferred to the coffers of the New York Central?"

"Some of it paid back to the men who buy the shoes—we keep very little of it. It goes almost as fast as it comes in."

THE MILK DEPOT

Promoters Encouraged By Its Success

The milk depot conducted in Market street by the Hospital Guild has changed its hour of giving out milk to noon instead of in the morning so that the school children may go and get it while on their way from school to dinner.

The ladies in charge of the milk depot are highly encouraged over the results and are confident that the depot will be kept open permanently.

Since the depot opened 112 babies have been registered. The highest daily registration has been 41 and the average 35.

BUTLER ENDED LIFE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A tragedy in the home of Henry P. McKenney, millionaire merchant of New York, and Suffern, was made public last night when Coroner Van Orden, of Rockland county, gave out the statement that Ernest Childs, butler for the family for years, committed suicide in the presence of Mrs. McKenney and her children last Thursday.

His body was buried yesterday in the cemetery of the Methodist chapel, on the Haverstraw road. The coroner made no comment on the delay in ordering the matter publicly.

Childs had just returned from a vacation with relatives in Massachusetts and had been melancholy. His employer tried to cheer him up and made life as pleasant as possible. Thursday Mr. McKenney came to his New York office, leaving the butler with the family. A few hours later, while the McKenney children and Mrs. McKenney were at luncheon, with Childs serving them, he suddenly stepped to the side of the room, picked up a repeating rifle and shot himself in the head.

The family rushed from the room and summoned the servants. A physician was sent for, and said death had been instantaneous. Coroner Van Orden was informed of the happening, and ordered the body removed to an undertaking establishment. Childs was twenty-five years old and single. A note was discovered in his room. It was as follows: "This is the only way out of it, and I'll be glad to thus end my troubles."

BULL BUTTS A RED AUTO

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—To former Mayor N. H. Hopkins, of Branchville, N. J., belongs the honor of being the first on record to officiate at an encounter between an automobile and a bull, and being able to register the fact that the bull was only second best. The ex-mayor owns a red car and was driving when the bull essayed to test its strength against that of the 60-horse-power machine.

It happened on the road to Hamburg, near Augusta. The bull alighted the car from a distance and charged head-on. Before Hopkins could help it the crash came. The bull was knocked against a fence and the car kept on. The only damage—except to the bull—was a broken lamp.

SON VISITS MRS. ASTOR

NEWPORT, Sept. 13.—Vincent Astor is here to visit his mother, Ava W. Astor, the most petted child in the cottage settlement. Vincent Astor has his touring car, in which he came from New York on Saturday, and often takes his mother and sister motoring. Colonel Astor has sent his steam yacht Noma here, which is at the disposal of Vincent, who will take Muriel to Straburg to visit her father for a month, which is in accordance with the divorce settlement between Colonel Astor and his former wife.

Christmas will be another busy occasion for Muriel, because of the gifts her father, mother and brother will be showering upon her.

Mrs. Astor expects to start for Hot Springs about Thursday.

CENSUS RETURNS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The population of Watertown, N. Y., is 26,730, an increase of 534 or 2.5 per cent, as compared with 26,196 in 1900. The population of Cohoes, N. Y., is 24,709 as compared with 23,910 in 1900. The population of Oswego, N. Y., is 23,288, as compared with 22,100 in 1900.

CHOSE DELEGATES

Lawrence Democrats had Lively Contest

LAWRENCE, Sept. 13.—The dream that Lawrence would send delegates to the democratic state convention without a contest was rudely shattered last night when nomination papers were distributed at the headquarters of the democratic city committee.

Two sets of nomination papers for delegates to the state convention were taken out. One set of delegates will be pledged to James H. Yalley of Watertown for governor and the other set will be pledged to the democratic voters to say in the caucus whether they want to elect the Yalley delegates or the unpledged delegates.

Aspirants for the democratic nomination for senator may take place. In the sixth representative district which includes wards three and four a number of democrats are seeking the nomination which is equivalent to election.

JAMES H. DUFFY

Popular Young Man Has Passed Away

The many friends of James H. Duffy, one of the most popular young men of Watertown and a member of the firm of Duffy Bros., cigar manufacturers, will be pained to learn of his death which occurred last night at his home, 89 Fulton street.

The deceased was possessed of a cheerful disposition, had a host of friends and his business ability was responsible in no small degree for the success of the firm of which he was a member. Despite the fact that he had been ill for a long time and a sufferer for several months he bore his sufferings with true Christian fortitude and his last wishes were that he be able to bid good bye to his friends.

He was a devoted Catholic and constant attendant at St. Michael's church, being connected with several of the organizations of that church. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, Isabelle; three daughters, Mary, Katherine and Isabelle; four brothers, Stephen P., Martin E., Joseph P. and John W. and a sister, Mary Duffy.

The funeral will take place Thursday morning at eight o'clock from his late home, 89 Fulton st., and a high mass of requiem will be celebrated at nine o'clock at St. Michael's church, Undertaker Peter H. Savage in charge.

ARNOLD IS HELD

In the Narragansett Gambling Case

NARRAGANSETT PIER, Sept. 12.—Professor Brander Matthews, of Columbia university, proved to be the most vigorous witness of the prosecution when "Doc" William E. Arnold, alleged proprietor of the fashionable Narragansett club, was placed on trial in the federal court today on charges of maintaining a gambling place. Judge Nathan B. Lewis found Arnold "probably guilty" and held him for the grand jury.

Professor Matthews, long known as an expert in simplified spelling, got right down to simplified slang and revealed a knowledge of gambling places and gambling methods that surprised both the wise men of law and the wise people of society who had joined the rush of village folk to hear the testimony.

"I have lived here at the Pier for twenty years," testified Professor Matthews. "The reputation of Clark's block has always been very bad. I have known it always as a gambling joint."

"A—er—what?" inquired Attorney Fitzgerald, for the defense.

BOY CAME TO LIFE

After Being Pronounced Dead by Doctor

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—After being pronounced dead by a surgeon of Mt. Sinai hospital, nine-year-old Harry Jacobs, of 35 East One Hundred and Third street, was brought back to life last night.

The little fellow was roller skating in Madison avenue, between Ninety-eighth and Ninety-ninth streets, and caught hold of the side of a big trolley car. One of his skates slipped and in an instant he had fallen under the middle of the moving car.

Motorman Joseph Estosto and Conductor Patrick Clarke knew nothing of the accident until the cries of the many witnesses on the sidewalk caused Estosto to stop the car.

By a pitiful coincidence, the mother of the boy was one of the passengers who got out to see what had happened. When little Harry was drawn from beneath the rear truck, the woman's grief was too much for the spectators. They turned upon the innocent motorman and conductor and would have attacked them had not Policeman Hauser arrived.

Two men picked up the lad, both of whose legs were practically severed, and carried him to the Mt. Sinai hospital. Dr. Geist the house physician was unable to find any trace of heart action, respiration, and he pronounced the boy dead. Hauser so reported to the East One Hundred and Third street station, and the coroner was notified.

But Dr. Geist had not stopped work after giving his last opinion. Every means of resuscitation was applied and after a stimulus had been administered a faint pulsation showed the astonished surgeons that there was still life in the little body. They worked with redoubled energy and soon had restored a good heart action. At a late hour he was still alive, but the doctors doubted whether he could survive. Both legs have been amputated.

LOTTIE GILSON

"The Little Magnet" is Reported to be Dying

NEW YORK, September 13.—Lottie Gilson, "The Little Magnet," and once a Broadway favorite, was removed last night from a barely furnished room at No. 238 West Thirty-ninth street, to a New York hospital. She was said to be in a dying condition and because of lack of funds was hurried to Bellevue. The surgeons diagnosed her ailments as gastritis and neuritis. They say she will never leave the hospital alive.

Miss Gilson, who is only thirty-nine years old, carried New York by storm when she first began to trip to the center of the stage and, with a "Now all together, boys," encouraged her audiences to join in the chorus of her songs. She was the first singer to adopt this method of popularizing a song. She dropped from sight, as actresses will do, not to reappear until a few weeks ago, when she accepted an engagement at a Fort George music hall.

Seen Lost Her Engagement

New Yorkers shook their heads in sorrow, but that is as far as their sympathy went. Few journeyed up to the resort where "The Little Magnet" was performing four times a day, and she soon lost her engagement.

On Friday last, two young men engaged a room for her in the little flat of Charles Schwab, on the third floor of No. 358 West Thirty-ninth street, while he had an extra room. The men announced that they represented the Actor's Fund society, and that they wished a room for a destitute member of the profession. Schwab set his price, but they said it was too high. The men said he guessed he would have to find another shelter for "The Little Magnet." Schwab asked if she was the real "Little Magnet." When told she was, he agreed to take her in for he had often, as a youth, joined in the choruses of her songs.

THE FLYING MACHINES

Great Things Expected at Atlantic This Afternoon

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—The Harvard-Boston aero meet has the distinction of being the first aviation meet in the country which resulted in a financial success, and today, the last of the ten days of competition, again called forth many thousands of enthusiasts. Although the meet will continue through Thursday, competition for the original prizes closed today. Having tuned up his engine and tightened the wires of his racing biplane, Glenn H. Curtiss this forenoon was understood to be contemplating the Boston Light flight for the $10,000 prize. Aviation experts believed that he would experience considerable difficulty in making the 33 mile air voyage in less time than the record established by the English aviator, Graham-White yesterday. Mr. White's time was 34 minutes, 1-5 seconds. Graham-White planned to devote most of his time today to bomb-throwing.

The contest committee today revised the new American record for distance established by Ralph Johnstone yesterday in a Wright biplane, giving the air pilot about four miles additional. His corrected distance is 101 miles 339 feet. The amateurs showed little activity today. During the early morning hours only one appeared on the field. W. Starling Burgess made a dozen short jumps up and down the field but not once did he allow his biplane to mount higher than ten feet. On his last trial he broke out of the supports of the machine and retired from the sky.

Bomb-throwing from an altitude of more than 1800 feet, a battle in the air and attempts to break world's records already established will constitute the attempts of the professional aviators during tomorrow and Thursday.

Using his Farman biplane, Graham-White opened the professional events of this, the last contesting day of the meet, by ascending at 2.30 this afternoon to compete in the altitude, duration and bomb-throwing events. Among the interested spectators on the field was Miss Helen Taft, daughter of President Taft, who moved down from Beverly with Mrs. Charles Lelton, of Chicago.

DASHED TO DEATH HAS 24 PATIENTS

Insane Mother Throws Infant from Window

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Seized with a sudden fit of insanity in her home on Broadway, Brooklyn, today, Mrs. Esther Jaffe, 27 years old, hurled her three months old baby from the window of her apartment on the third story. The child was dashed to death on the pavement below.

DEATHS

MCCARTHY—Alice McCarthy, aged 11 months, child of Charles and Mary, died this afternoon at their home, 22 Frye street.

WILL NOT OPPOSE PAYNE

AUBURN, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Ex-Mayor B. Clarence Aiken, who created a sensation by his announcement on Saturday that he would run for the congress seat of Seno E. Payne, joint author of the present tariff law, caused another surprise yesterday by announcing that he would not oppose the chairman of the ways and means committee.

He said he had learned that two counties of the district had already instructed delegates for Payne, and that all the republican papers in the district would be for him.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Samuel Steinh, cutlery dealer at No. 170 Orchard street, lost $100 worth of his stock through burglary Thursday night. He bought a new padlock, but for convenience hung the key over the door. Next night it was robbed of another $100 worth, and the robbers left a jeering note.

Saturday night Samuel Westinger, a butcher, called on Steinh, and displayed a set of butcher's tools which, he said, he had bought for a nickel. Steinh recognized them, and the result was that Charles Herbert, aged fifteen, and William Friedman, aged twelve, were arrested yesterday. They revealed the hiding place of the booty, pleaded guilty before Justice Daniel, and were remanded for sentence.

"There was the cellar and the key hanging over the door. What else could you do?" exclaimed Friedman.

DIED OF CHOLERA

DANZIG, Prussia, Sept. 13.—A workman in a brickyard at Marlenburg, 37 miles south of this city, died of cholera today. A number of suspected cases of cholera have developed in that locality and of the patients, two adults and five children have died.

GILSON BIG GOLF CONTEST

"The Little Magnet" is Reported to be Dying

Egan Eliminated From the Contest—Brilliant Work by Wilder and Herreshoff

BROOKLINE, Sept. 13.—The dew was still on the grass when the work of continuing the elimination at Medbury in the 36 holes, qualifying round, of the United States golf championship was resumed at the Country club today. When the committee stopped the play at sunset last night 36 of the golfers whose scores were 84 or better were notified that they could play out the remaining 18 holes without further notice and pairings were made at that time. For the other 23 players to make up 64 to qualify in the first 18 holes of medal play in the championship the committee found a difficult task. Among the nearly sixty aspirants who had a chance for getting a place were last year's title holder, Robert A. Gardner of Hinsdale, Chicago, and T. R. Fuller of the Volant golf club, Quincy, a former Massachusetts champion. Both of these players had four holes to complete before closing their first 18 holes of play while at least a dozen others who had been stopped in other parts of the course were on the scene shortly after seven o'clock and resumed their journey around the links a few minutes later.

Interest in the morning play centered in the work of Warren K. Wood of Chicago and the veteran golfer, Walter J. Travis of Garden City, who led the field yesterday with a 75 and a 76 respectively.

When the remainder of the matches in the first round were completed this forenoon it was found that seven players had made 80 or better. As a result those players who went to the rounds yesterday in 37, including Charles Egan of Exmore, were eliminated and the 64 players who had made 86 or better continued in the second round of 18 holes medal play. Those who finished this forenoon in qualifying figures included last year's title winner, Robert A. Gardner of Hinsdale who could do no better than 36.

By noon the players had completed the second 18 holes of play with figures which gave them 170 or better for the 36 holes of the two qualifying rounds.

As only 32 could qualify for the match play it appeared probable that 170 would be the highest figure which would permit a player to continue in the tournament.

The best work of the forenoon was done by Fred Herreshoff of Exmore, who turned in a 74, giving him a total of 152 for the two days' play. The Chicago contingent showed up well, W. K. Wood of Homewood, who headed the list yesterday, getting a 79 for a total of 154, while Paul Hunter of Midlothian and C. E. Evans, Jr., of Edgewater with 78 each and R. E. Hunter of Midlothian with 79 each brought his total to 161.

Walter J. Travis of Garden City made the 36 holes in 156, P. W. Whittemore of the Country club in 157 and G. J. Anderson of Woodland in 158. Other totals were:

C. G. Waldo, Jr., 161; H. H. Wilder of Vesper and H. Schmidt of Worcester, 162 each; S. D. Bowers, of Brooklawn and D. E. Sawyer of Wheaton 163 each; C. O. Ormiston of Pittsburg, Ellis Knowles of Pensacola and F. A. Martin of Ekwanok 164 each.

There was no wind today and some terrific drives were made. Herreshoff's card follows:

Out 4 4 4 4 4 3 4 35
In 4 4 5 5 5 5 4 35—74

Gardner failed to qualify for match play, being one stroke under the 188 which was the highest figure of any of the 32 players qualifying. Herreshoff was awarded the gold medal for the lowest medal score, 152, in the qualifying round of 36 holes.

The drawings for the first round of match play with the scores of the qualifiers in the 36 holes of medal play follows:

M. Whitlatch, Apavamis (155) vs. H. H. Wilder, Vesper (162).
W. M. Van Amerage, Commonwealth (161) vs. R. W. Brown, Meadowbrook (167).
Ellis Knowles, Pensacola (164) vs. W. C. Foyens, Jr., Oakmont (155).
R. Weir, Wilmington (167) vs. A. M.

Reid, St. Andrews (160).
E. M. Byers, Allegheny (160) vs. P. W. Whittemore, Country (155).
J. F. Shanley, Jr., Deal (163) vs. Frederick Herreshoff, Ekwanok (153).
E. Skehel Riversdale (157) vs. D. D. E. Sawyer, Wheaton (163).
Charles Evans, Jr., Edgewater (161) vs. R. E. Hunter, Midlothian (161).
S. B. Bowers, Brooklawn (163).
P. Gilbert, Brae Burn (166) vs. G. W. White (163).
C. G. Waldo, Jr., Brooklawn (161) vs. W. J. Travis, Garden City (156).
J. G. Anderson, Woodland (158) vs. W. M. Ward, Garden City (167).
H. Webber, Inverness (166) vs. T. M. Sherman, Yahnunda (163).
R. K. Gorton, Brae Burn (166) vs. Paul Hunter, Midlothian (161).
W. R. Tucker, Stockbridge (162) vs. H. Schmidt, Worcester (162).
G. A. Ormiston, Pittsburg (164) vs. F. A. Martin, Ekwanok (164).

EGAN ELIMINATED

BROOKLINE, Sept. 13.—The brilliant work of Frederick Herreshoff of the Ekwanok Golf club of Manchester, Vt., in the elimination of H. Chanler Egan of the Exmore of Chicago, former champion, and the probability that a better score might crowd out Robert A. Gardner, of the Hinsdale club, Chicago, last year's champion, from the match play, were the features of this morning's play in the national amateur golf tournament on the Country club's course today. The play was in completion of the 36 hole qualifying round. Herreshoff turned in a 74 on his second 18 holes today, giving him a score of 152 for the two days' play. Egan, who made an 87 yesterday, was eliminated when the last of the 64 to qualify scored 86. Gardner's danger lay in being tied for last place in the 32 qualifying for match play at 1.30 p. m. today, with several brilliant players to be heard from.

TUBE FRANCHISE

THE GAS COMPANY ASKS FOR IT FOR $115

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—A proposition of the East River Gas company, a subsidiary of the Consolidated, to buy a permanent franchise for a tunnel for its gas pipes from the Astoria (L. I.) plant to the northern part of the Bronx, for $115, came up in supreme court yesterday.

The company asked the court to adjudge that it is for the benefit of the public to force the city to grant it permanent easement. The defendants are the city, the state, the Hudson River and Portchester Railroad company and two trust companies.

The applicant explained that the tunnels now used for conveying gas to Manhattan and the Bronx are not large enough. The experts have estimated that if the city accepts $115, the state $775 and the other defendants $215, these payments will be "the reasonable value of the said perpetual easements and rights of way."

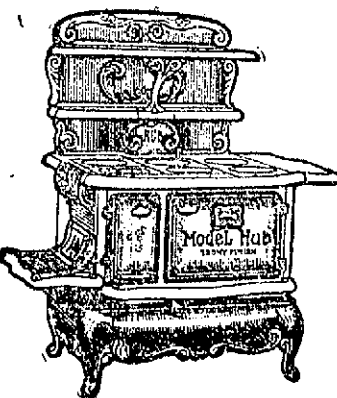

City and state opposed the application. The corporation counsel denies that the gas company is offering anywhere near the real value of the easement applied for. The grant of the petition, it is claimed, would be "unlawful and unwarranted."

The attorney general also protested against the price, and declared there is no need of a new tunnel.

If the application is granted, the company proposes to sink its tunnel one hundred feet. The pipes would extend from Astoria to the Bronx at One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street and Locust avenue. Since 1894 a small tunnel has conveyed gas from Ravenswood, L. I., to East One Hundred and Seventy-first street. Another tunnel has been laid under the river from Astoria to One Hundred and Tenth street. The court of appeals has confirmed the right of the gas company to tunnel to Manhattan.

Justice Hendrick appointed William Allen referee to report upon the merits of the application and the appointment of a condemnation commission.

Took in the Great Aviation Severely Criticised by the Inspector General

ATLANTIC FIELD, Sept. 13.—Thirty thousand people inside the Atlantic aviation grounds and half that number on the surrounding vantage points saw the best day's flights yesterday of any since the meet started eleven days ago. It was a record day for some of the fearless aviators, Ralph Johnson, in a Wright biplane, establishing a world's record for accuracy and an American record for distance and duration, while Grahame-White did a mile-a-minute spin to Boston light twice. This was his second time over the Boston light course for the Gen. Taylor. $10,000 prize, and he covered the thirty-three miles yesterday in 24 minutes 11.5 seconds. Had this all been straightaway work he would have driven his butterfly-like monoplane the distance at considerably better than a mile a minute. As it was he beat his former record over the course by more than six minutes.

Many other aviators made good flights and did clever stunts, making it altogether a day of wonders in the matter in demonstrating what the bird-men can do. The weather was ideal for the work and the wind was not too strong, although it might have been more advantageous to the contestants had it gone down a little more, earlier in the afternoon.

Harmon's bomb-dropping stunts were of great interest, and the target shooting by Lieut. Pickel from Willard's biplane, the Hanshee, was an added feature. With equal weather, record-breaking crowds will doubtless mark the three remaining days of the meet. Special attempts are expected today, inasmuch as the time limit for the regular prizes is up tonight, special features and prizes being arranged for the extra two days of the meet.

Establishing a world's record in accuracy, and American records in distance and duration, Ralph Johnson, was greeted with wild applause as his Wright biplane struck the ground one minute before the official time of closing the Harvard-Boston race yesterday. He had made a distance of ninety-seven miles 4666 feet in three hours five minutes forty seconds, and had stopped within five feet four inches of the accuracy mark.

Not to be completely outdone by his Yankee neighbor, Claude Grahame-White climbed into his Blériot at sunset and in a wild dash at a rate of nearly a mile a minute made the flight to Boston Light and return twice over, a distance of thirty-three miles, in 34 minutes 1.5 seconds, clipping his former time 1 minute 2.5 seconds. He, too, was greeted with wild applause as he came to a stop in the fast gathering darkness.

But the other aviators came in for a good share of the praise, Brookings making a good try for a new altitude with one of the most expert riflemen in the army, and Charles trying out his new model biplane with a 22-horse power Hensley engine and making the fastest speed unofficially yet made on the course. He shot around about two-thirds of the course in 46 seconds flat, when his motor became disabled.

Harmon Makes Good Scores
So much for the professionals. Clifford B. Harmon was up with the sun yesterday morning and in Grahame-White's biplane corralled good scores in the bomb-dropping, slow laps, speed and duration contests. W. Starling

CHAMP CLARK PLEASED
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 13.—Congressman Champ Clark, democratic leader in the house of representatives, was visibly pleased last night when he heard the news from Maine.

"The news from Maine should give heart and hope to every democrat and to every lover of good government between two seas," said Mr. Clark, whose countenance indicated his hopes of success.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—If fearless criticism is calculated to benefit the army, then Uncle Sam's soldiers should profit much from the comment upon their condition and abilities contained in the annual report of Inspector General Garlington, last made public. One inspector points out a whole battalion of artillery starting for the Philippine service without a single field officer and one of the batteries commanded by a second lieutenant of less than two years' service. An inspector general declares this absence of captains from their commands is "the most fruitful source of professional disease in the line of the army today."

The situation, according to the inspector general, warrants the prediction that results of a disastrous nature must sooner or later be realized. The obvious remedy, he says, is the provision of a sufficient number of supernumerary officers to replace those on detail.

According to Inspector General Bell, the field army is wholly unprepared for field service. He says the new regulation are almost entirely theoretical or dependent upon the experience of European armies. Our transportation is the same as at the beginning of the Civil War.

Maj. Bell says: "While our infantry is composed of the best material in the world and is probably as well, if not better, trained in the use of rifle than that of any other army, its marching capacity is below mediocrity, and yet it is admitted today that the fate of the battles of the future depends, as it has in the past, upon the marching capacity of the infantry."

To remedy these conditions, Maj. Gen. Wood, chief of staff, today issued orders which change materially the training of the army.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—This is primary election day in New York city, and democratic parties choosing their delegates to the state and various other party conventions and electing members of the county committees. Interest chiefly centers in the republican primaries because of the pending contest between the Old guard and progressive factions in the state, the latter backed by Col. Roosevelt for control of the state convention. There have been warm contests in several republican districts where the old guard leaders were trying to make good their threat of making the offices send to Saratoga a solid delegation to support Chairman Griscom of the republican county and Col. Roosevelt, their fight against the present ruling element in the state political organization.

SOUTH CAROLINA PRIMARIES
COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 13.—Today the voters of South Carolina will register their choice for governor, adjutant general, railroad commissioner and two congressmen. The governorship contest has become very hot, the issue being largely a personal one. The candidates are Colonel Blease and O. O. Featherstone.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING
The regular meeting of the Young Men's Catholic Institute will be held tonight at the quarters in Stockpole street and the feature of the meeting will be the opening of the knockout bowling tournament. The first ball will be rolled down the alleys by the new spiritual director.

LIVED IN WARREN
WARREN, R. I., Sept. 13.—John Gregory, who is believed to have been murdered in Memphis, Tenn., left here a year ago last May to join the navy and had not been heard from since. Previous to enlisting he was a barge captain and was on the barge Beacon in April, 1909, with his father when it foundered in a storm off Watch Hill. Both were rescued by a tug. His father, Captain John D. Gregory is a barge captain for the B. line. Gregory was 24 years old and is survived by his parents and two brothers.

DAMES OF MALTA
PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—The eighth annual convention of the Zonodonta, the national body of the Dames of Malta, began in this city today with nearly 150 delegates present from Maine, New England and the eastern states. Among the speakers arranged for the day were Miss Alice E. Hayes, Portland, and J. A. Briggs, Wilkes-Barre, a sovereign grand master.

NO APPEAL ENTERED
THE HAGUE, Sept. 13.—The award of the international court of arbitration in the Newfoundland fisheries case became irrevocable today with the expiration of the five days allowed for an appeal without either the United States or Great Britain having entered a protest against the finding.

Col. Plaisted is the publisher of a democratic weekly, the New Age, a publication which his father owned before him. A few days ago the proprietor called his staff together and told them that he was going to be elected governor and his newspaper would cease publication after election day.

His clerk and stenographer was informed that he would have a place at the state house in the executive office, but every other employee was given notice to seek another position.

Nothing should interfere with his giving all his time to the state as Col. Plaisted's determination, and he was sure he was going to win.

"The result of the election is no surprise to me," said Col. Plaisted last night. "I not only knew I should have a plurality of at least 5000."

End of Sturgis Board
"The people of Maine were simply tired of republican misrule. They revolted against the extravagance of the republican administration of state affairs. They want the state conducted on business principles. They do not approve of the Sturgis law, and as governor I shall see to it that the Sturgis commission has no appropriation."

Col. Plaisted said that I will go into the governor's office free from any obligations of any sort. I am free to do my best for the people of the state. I have made no promises. I have not promised a single man a job, and no one else can say I have. All the promises I made were made to the people. I shall keep them. I shall conduct the business of the state economically and I will suspend the activities of the Sturgis commission."

One Better Than Vermont
The opposition to the republican ticket manifested in the increase in the democratic vote uniformly throughout the state indicates that the men of the city and country alike were animated by a desire to punish the party in power.

Fred Emery Beane of Hallowell, chairman of the democratic state committee, and the members of the republican state committee who were gathered at Augusta last night agreed in the expression of the opinion that the election was significant of the national unrest.

Mr. Beane said he believed it was a part of the general insurrection against the republican party throughout the nation.

The republican leaders sadly acknowledged that the cause of the revolt was to be found in the temper of the people throughout the union.

Ricker-Fernald Rule
The mournful in the rooms of the republican state committee at Augusta last night was not pure grief without one ray of brightness.

Gov. Fernald's faction in the republican party represented an element of the state committee from the old guard two years ago when Mr. Fernald was nominated for governor over William T. Mahan, of Waterville, the candidate of the Burleigh machine.

Gov. Fernald was supported by E. F. Ricker of Poland Spring, and since Mr. Ricker has been influential in advising as to the policy of the party.

The Burleigh machine, the successor or rather the continuation of the old organization of Blaine and of the late Joseph H. Marley, has never been fond of Gov. Fernald and the aggressive men supporting him.

The "old guard" never surrendered; it merely composed itself to await new opportunities.

Did "Old Guard" Use Knives?
Some of Gov. Fernald's friends are already intimating that the old machine saw opportunity yesterday and embraced it.

During this campaign there have been at times veiled charges that the old machine leaders were not doing all they could for the governor, though at the time it was supposed that their purpose was merely to reduce his plurality.

It is said that Gov. Fernald has been defeated there will probably be an attempt on the part of the old Burleigh machine to assume charge again and dictate the nomination of the candidate for governor, as it did before Bert M. Fernald put the leaders to rout two years ago.

GUERNSEY BY 500
BANGOR, Me., Sept. 13.—Returns from the 4th district are still lacking a number of small towns. At midnight Congressman Guernsey had carried Arcoostook county by 1850, Washington county by about 300, had broken even in Piscataquis county and had been defeated by about 1600 in Penobscot county. His election is considered assured by about 500 by the republican state committee. Nearly 300 cities and towns in this district have only fragmentary returns and it is impossible to supply a complete list.

McGILLICUDDY BY 3000
LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 13.—Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston was elected congressman from the 2d district yesterday over Congressman John P. Swasey, republican, by a majority of 3000.

Returns from 102 cities and towns gave McGillicuddy 17,769, Swasey 14,835. The same towns two years ago gave McGillicuddy 14,831, Swasey 17,231.

McGillicuddy carried four of the six counties in the district, Androscoggin giving him the largest plurality, 3420. Knox was second with more than 700. Oxford and Franklin went for Swasey.

BONFIRES IN AUGUSTA
AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 13.—Great crowds gathered round Col. Plaisted's office early last night to listen to the election returns which, for a time, came in rather slowly, but with the results from all the large places showing Plaisted pluralities there was great cheering and the street in front of the office was blocked with people.

The throng became so large that it was necessary to adjourn to city hall, where the returns were read from the stage to a crowd that packed the building. When it was determined that Plaisted was elected the uproar was almost deafening, and bonfires were started on the outskirts of the city.

Col. Plaisted received scores of telegrams from leading democrats all over the state and one telegram from a New York paper asking for his interpretation of the landslide, to which he replied to the crowd publicly.

As soon as the news came that three of the democratic congressional candidates had won, the people in the city could hardly contain themselves, hundreds trying to push forward to grasp the hands of Col. Plaisted for congratulation.

COUNTY ATTORNEYS-ELECT
The election of county attorneys in the various Maine counties yesterday resulted in the choice of the following: Piscataquis—L. G. C. Brown of Milo (dem.).

Androscoggin—William H. Hines of Lewiston (dem.).

Kennebec—Fred E. Beane of Hallowell (dem.).

York—Asa A. Richardson of Kennebunk (rep.).

Knox—Philip Howard of Rockland (dem.).

Sagadahoc—Arthur H. Stetson of Bath (rep.).

Aroostook—Republican wins.

Penobscot—George E. Thompson (dem.).

Washington—Probably republican.

Oxford—Republican wins.

CHANCE FOR LOCAL OPTION
PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—The democrats of Maine had difficulty today of even contemplating the magnitude of their victory of yesterday in their struggle with the republicans. With two score of little obscure forest towns and island plantations to hear from, additional and revised returns made early today give Col. Fred W. Plaisted (democrat), mayor of Augusta, 72,431 votes for governor and Gov. Bert Fernald of Poland, (republican) 61,090. Plaisted's plurality for the entire state is estimated to be 5500.

While the election of Col. Plaisted and two democratic congressmen seemed a great feat, interest today centered in the makeup of the legislature which has a decidedly changed complexion. With 139 senatorial and representative districts heard from, a total of 132 the democrats already have secured a joint convention with 92 necessary to control. If the legislature is captured by the democrats it seems more than likely it will mean a probable resubmission to the people of the vexed prohibitory law and a chance for local option in the sale of intoxicating liquors.

The Sturgis act which has proved so obnoxious to Maine democrats was denounced in the democratic party platform, can be repealed. Certainly the act can be made inoperative by Governor Plaisted withdrawing the present commission and neglecting to appoint their successors. Such a legislature can also choose a successor to United States Senator Eugene Hale and elect Maine her first democratic senator since 1855 and New England the first since the election of William D. Eaton in Connecticut in the late seventies.

Half a dozen candidates for the senatorial spring into the field today, Charles F. Johnson of Waterville, Lindley M. Staples of Washington, William Fennel of Brunswick, who gave Asher Hinds such a hard fight in the first district yesterday, Oakley Curtis of Portland, and also John Clark Scates of Westbrook, and James C. Hamlen of Portland, both of whom within the past six years have been democratic candidates for congress from the first district.

The next legislature will have full charge of restricting the state. The newly elected democratic legislature will shortly after convening in January elect the state treasurer, attorney general, secretary of state and a commissioner of agriculture. As governor, Col. Plaisted, with the consent of his council, will have a number of nominations to make. These include the following: Associate justices of the Maine supreme court and other offices now held by republicans.

THE TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

It is very difficult to say just how the typhoid epidemic in the Highlands originated. It is easy, however, to explain its spread. If the disease originated in the careless handling of milk some of the dealers are to blame, and it may not be the man who is temporarily put out of business, but somebody who furnished part of his milk supply.

The infection of milk with typhoid germs is one of the most serious dangers to the community. We have a milk inspector, a bacteriologist and a board of health, upon which there are two physicians. The question arises, are not these gentlemen able, by their combined efforts, to detect typhoid germs in milk? We find the inspector giving out statements as to the number of bacteria in milk. Would it not be more important to find out whether there are any typhoid germs in the milk, or whether these pass unrecognized among the millions of bacteria of which we hear so much?

It seems that this typhoid epidemic made considerable headway before the real cause was suspected by the board of health. Less than twenty or twenty-five cases of typhoid in the same district should alarm the health department sufficiently to cause a rigid investigation.

It is to be hoped that the department has succeeded in finding the real cause, and that the spread of the epidemic will be quickly stopped. There is a bare possibility, however, and that is why The Sun has not mentioned the name of the dealer, that the cause may be entirely different from what it is believed to be by the board of health, or that it may have come from an entirely different source from that suspected.

The fact that the board of health believes that the germs of typhoid were communicated to the milk by the milkmen in the process of milking and distribution does not uphold the board's contention as to the protective value of the rule requiring milk to be sold only in sealed bottles. The new method has greatly increased the extent of the exposure and handling to which the milk is subjected before it reaches the dealer. To this very fact is due in all probability the spread of the typhoid germs from milkmen. Thus one of the board's best rules has proved an utter failure in practice.

We are not criticizing the board for its action, neither are we trying to throw any obstacles in its way. The situation demands rigorous treatment as the lives of a great many people are at stake. The board will be sustained in any step it considers necessary to stop the epidemic no matter how much any man's business may suffer.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S TOUR

Now that Col. Roosevelt's spectacular tour is ended, we may well ask what was its aim? Was it to save the country, to put the people upon a new line of action politically, to advertise the magazine by which he is employed or to exploit his own political creed as a presidential possibility? It would be difficult to determine his exact motive, but if we are to judge from his utterances on various occasions, it was to place himself squarely before the country as a dictator in politics and to increase, so far as he could, his prestige and his popularity. The magazine to which he is attached must have realized the advertising value of this tour when it bore all the expense of his princely trip.

The tour has not increased either Col. Roosevelt's popularity or his political influence. On the contrary it has convinced the people more than ever that Roosevelt is a dangerous man to be entrusted with vast executive power.

Imagine the president of the United States denouncing the supreme court decisions. Could anything be more calculated to shake the loyalty of the average citizen to the government? As president, Roosevelt did denounce several very important court decisions and he denounced men as undesirable citizens long before they were convicted of any crime. In his recent rampant attack upon the supreme court he was equally unguarded and unreasonable.

Were such attacks made by a man of lesser note they would be regarded as the vapors of a demagogue, and would receive but little attention.

Let us hope Col. Roosevelt will give the country a rest from his political rant so that business men may have an opportunity to enjoy a respite from the continual harangues by which alarm is spread and enterprise discouraged.

BAD PENMANSHIP IN THE SCHOOLS

Now that the schools are open it would be well to remark that the handwriting of the children is in a demoralized condition as a result of the change from vertical to semi-slant. The school board should instruct the superintendent to adopt some method of improving the handwriting throughout the schools.

Somebody who wanted a change in books worked their points so well that they had the vertical system introduced into the schools, and taught until the people throughout the city found it wholly unsuited for business purposes. It would serve all right for inscriptions on coffins or on door plates, but for ordinary business purposes where speed is a consideration the vertical writing is a hindrance and a monstrosity.

When we had a special writing master, and when a different system was taught in a superior way, then the pupils ranked high in penmanship. Now the case is different. The rank is low, and shows little sign of improvement.

It is not the fault of the teachers nor of the pupils. It is the fault of the school board, and results directly from the tendency to change text books for the accommodation of publishers, and without any regard for results.

A well equipped flying machine that can stay in the air for two or three hours is not nearly so dangerous a conveyance as the automobile going fifty or sixty miles an hour on a boulevard or country road.

HIS 85TH BIRTHDAY

Observed by Carlos Franklin Hubbard of Westford

Mr. Carlos Franklin Hubbard observed his eighty-fifth birthday, yesterday, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. David H. Wilson, 67 Westford street. Mr. Hubbard has been a resident of Lowell for over 50 years, and with the exception of a slight trouble with his limbs, he is feeling as young today as he has in many years. The reception yesterday afternoon was an informal one and many of his old friends called to offer their congratulations.

Mr. Hubbard was born in Thetford, Vermont, Sept. 12, 1825, and received his education in that place, coming to Lowell about 50 years ago. He was employed in the Bigelow Carpet company for 10 years. Mr. Hubbard has always owned horses and still retains his interest in them.

Mr. Hubbard was married in Pelham to Sarah J. Harrington, who died about 10 years ago. He is a member of the First Congregational church. He also belongs to Grand Union lodge, I. O. O. F., and to Monomack encampment of the same order.

LOSS OF HAIR

Dandruff and Itching Scalp—Simple Way to Cure Them

The most common cause of loss of hair, dandruff and itching scalp is neglect. People don't wash the scalp and hair often enough. Leading authorities like Dr. J. C. Boyles and Dr. Woods Hutchinson, of New York, and Prof. Lassar, of Germany, recommend frequent washing with mild, neutral soaps. The best thing of all for this purpose is Birt's Head Wash, because it is made of a particularly fine soap, medicated with glycerine, white of eggs, coconut oil and salicylic acid. Birt's Head Wash makes a profuse lather, and not only cleans the hair and the outside of the scalp, but opens up the pores, cleanses the pores as well. This opening of the pores is most beneficial and invigorating to the hair roots, and does more to prevent the loss of hair than all so-called "tonics" put together. A single shampoo with Birt's Head Wash will prove all these claims to your satisfaction. Tubes 25c, Jars 50c.

TO RECOVER $57,022.75

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—A bill was brought in the supreme court yesterday by George R. Nutter, et al., trustee in bankruptcy, of Patrick Lennox & Co., against Agnes L. Cotton of New York, Alary A. Lennox, wife of Patrick Lennox, a shoe manufacturer in Lynn, and John P. Lenby seeking to recover $57,022.75, the amount of the proceeds of the sale of 425 shares of stock of the General Electric company which, it is claimed, were owned by Patrick Lennox at the time he was adjudged a bankrupt.

The complainants seek to restrain the defendants from disposing of the proceeds until the case is determined.

ARRESTED AFTER A CHASE

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—Edward J. Hagan, aged 22, unmarried, of 89 Chestnut street, Chelsea, was arrested after an exciting chase by Patrolmen Gahard and Cass of that city, about 10.45 yesterday morning and locked up on a charge of larceny from John P. Guilfoill, aged 69, of 36 Hillside street, Everett. Patrick F. McGovern, aged 19, of 24 Cottage street, West Lynn, was also arrested.

Mr. Guilfoill says that after making a purchase at the corner of Broadway and Williams street, Chelsea, his pocketbook, containing $48, was knocked from his hand by Hagan, who picked it up and started for the door. The old man gave chase, but soon lost breath and then reported his loss to the police. Patrolmen Gahard and Cass were detailed and reaching the scene Hagan appeared and Mr. Guilfoill pointed him out as the man who robbed him. The officers captured their man in the rear of 12 Tremont street.

After locking the man up the policemen returned and found Mr. Guilfoill's pocketbook in an open basket in the rear of 12 Tremont street.

McGovern is said to have pushed Mr. Guilfoill aside when he attempted to grab Hagan and was arrested later.

Bazaar to Be Held in Aid of SCHOOL

It was announced at the Sacred Heart church Sunday that a bazaar will be held in the near future to help pay the debt on the new school building.

This evening at 7.30 o'clock in the school hall there will be a meeting of the Holy Name society, and all the men of the parish are cordially invited to attend.

Tomorrow evening at 7.30 o'clock, in the school hall there will be a special meeting of the Holy Rosary sodality, and at 8 o'clock there will be a special meeting of the Children of Mary sodality.

CORN EXPOSITION

MAY BE HELD IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Madison Square Garden for the next, or the 1912 National Corn exposition.

To make it an international, instead of a National exposition and to interest, to the extent of exhibiting, every country on the globe.

Since the coming fourth annual national corn exposition to be held in the group of seven massive exhibit halls at the Ohio state exposition grounds has grown to such proportions that every nook and corner in the several buildings will be filled, it has been suggested by a number of leading agriculturists and prominent officials that the next show be made international, and that it be held in the famous Madison Square Garden in New York city.

No action will be taken on the proposition by the National Corn association until well after the business of the coming big corn show is settled, although much pressure is being brought to bear for an early decision, owing to the interest that is being taken by the United States government and the departments of agriculture of other countries.

While it is estimated that the Madison Square Garden as a location for the show proper would be little, if any better than the excellent exhibit halls on the Ohio State Exposition ground at Columbus, Ohio, the fact that it would be held in such a convenient location and in such a popular place of amusement, would be an inducement, which is claimed by those interested, would bring exhibitors and delegations from every country, and the exposition would be the greatest world-venture in the interest of the betterment of agriculture.

"The National Agricultural Exposition" is the new name proposed for the National Corn Exposition, owing to the fact that the interests and purposes of the event have so far outgrown the original purposes of the National Corn Association. When the first show was held in Chicago in 1907, only corn was shown. At the next two annual shows, which were held in Omaha, it was found necessary to enlarge the scope by adding classification for all grains and grasses. Interest has become so great, because of the extension, and broadening out, that not alone all states but the government departments of agriculture have become so directly interested and benefited that the proposed change of name, in all probability, must come within the immediate future and before the 1912 exposition is held.

Already the plans for the fourth annual show which opens in Columbus, Ohio, January 30, to continue through February 11, have reached such proportions as to insure the greatest, by far, of any National Agricultural exposition that has ever been held, and the present indications are that all exhibitors now clamoring for space cannot be accommodated.

Regardless of the fact that already more than 30 states have arranged for exhibits from their respective agricultural colleges and experiment stations, with the best of their products representing each state, there will be at least several more states to enter, correspondence from the additional states being of the most favorable tone, and each state college expressing the deepest interest.

The fact that there will be so many national and state meetings of the greatest possible importance to the agriculturist, to be held at the same time and place as the National Corn Exposition, has caused some of the leading men of the country to suggest Madison Square Garden for the next show, and it is more than likely that such pressure will be brought to bear upon the officials of the National Corn association that the proposition will receive most careful consideration.

Agriculturists over the country, besides government officials and agricultural college and experiment station people have been watching with an eagle eye the progress that has been made for the coming exposition and interest is now at the very highest tension.

Farm publications throughout the world are devoting much space to the enterprise, which has for its motto: "Department of Agriculture," and with this most excellent and unlimited publicity it is bringing enthusiastic inquiries with each mail, seeking information.

As only educational features are considered, the big National show will be of the greatest possible advantage to the farmers and they highly appreciate the fact that it is to be kept free from any alliances which would be interested for profit alone.

ACCUSED MAYOR

Ex-Police Officer Makes Charges

LYNN, Sept. 13.—At a special meeting of the board of aldermen last evening, Mayor James E. Rich handed in the resignation of Reserve Patrolman Eben W. Sears, Jr., against whom charges of conduct unbecoming a police officer and insubordination were offered by Capt. William Rowe, and sustained, according to a report of the committee on police.

Ex-Police Officer Sears claims he has been prevented from the enforcement of the no-license laws by Mayor Rich, upon whom he makes a bitter attack. "The mayor denies all the allegations of Mr. Sears and challenges him to produce proof of his accusations."

Sears announces his intention of being a candidate for the republican nomination for mayor and promises to make some startling disclosures in connection with the liquor traffic and the alleged existence of gambling houses in the city.

Mayor Rich says that if ex-Police Officer Sears had evidence in his possession that the liquor laws were being violated, as Sears claims, and failed to prosecute the offenders, the ex-police-man should have resigned from the police force long ago.

THE GRAND JURY

INQUIRES INTO THE DEATH OF FALLON

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—At a special sitting yesterday the grand jury investigated the cause of the death of Daniel Fallon, aged 32, of 49 Delle ave., while a patient at the insane hospital at Pledge farm, Thursday.

Medical Examiner Timothy Leary, Supl. Frost of the hospital, Dr. George H. Maxfield, the assistant physician, Thomas Bullman a nurse, and other attendants testified.

The evidence showed that Fallon had shown violent symptoms. He had been subject to religious mania and had been transferred July 8 to ward 8, the department for violent patients. About 9 a. m. Thursday he sprang from his bed and attacked Bullman, pulling a handful of hair from the latter's head. He also struck the nurse in the face, blackening an eye. The men went to the floor in the struggle. Freeman C. Patterson, another nurse, aided Bullman.

Fallon was put to bed and became quiet. Bullman asked him why he had made the attack and the patient replied that he had an inspiration that he was going to die and he wanted to kill some one before he died. After hearing all the evidence the grand jury returned no bill against Bullman, the nurse.

Several secret indictments in other cases that were also heard by the grand jury were returned.

ORESTE CAVALIERI

Gives Out Statement About the Chanler Affair

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Oreste Cavallieri, brother of Lina Cavallieri, the prima donna whose affairs have been so much in the papers since she recently married Robert Winthrop Chanler of this city, gave out the following statement here last night:

"The recent newspaper reports concerning the affairs of my sister, Mrs. Chanler (nee Mlle. Cavallieri) and her husband, Robert W. Chanler, seem to have been designed to place my sister in a wholly false light before the public.

"Before his marriage Mr. Chanler wished to make some provision for my sister and made the usual marriage settlement, by which she was given an income for her support and certain parcels of real estate.

"The equities in these properties are very small, and their value, by reason of encumbrances, is problematical. The income provided for my sister is in the same position, and it is doubtful what, if any, moneys will be available for her use. If any income is paid, it will be required to pay necessary expenses in caring for the real estate.

"The marriage settlement was prepared by Mr. Chanler's lawyers in Paris and in the usual way witnessed by the American consul there, and given to my sister by Mr. Chanler.

"The sensational stories which have been given so much prominence of late are untrue, and I wish to emphatically deny them. My sister is recovering from a severe illness, which has compelled her to remain in France, and Mr. Chanler because of his business engagements, has been obliged to come to this country to attend to them.

"When my sister is able to travel she will join him in this country. The entire story is nothing more than an attempt to make a sensational story out of an everyday and commonplace occurrence which concerns no one but Mrs. Chanler and her husband."

Sidney Harris, counsel for Mr. Chanler, who gave out another statement earlier in the day, was reticent, but not so optimistic.

"Mr. Chanler still loves Mme. Cavallieri—that is, he thinks he does," said the lawyer.

"The first admission from an authoritative source that there had been financial differences between Robert W. Chanler and his famous bride, Mme. Lina Cavallieri, was made today by Mr. Harris, Mr. Chanler's counsel, when he was asked if there had been an antenuptial agreement between Mr. Chanler and Mme. Cavallieri.

"There was," replied the attorney, "but I will not say how much money was involved in the agreement. That is a matter that may come out later, but we are hoping that this unpleasant matter may be settled without any litigation."

Mr. Harris said that while he expected to see some members of Mr. Chanler's family about the matter, there would be no "family conference" as reported.

For Tender Feet a Bath of Eaz-all Will Make Them Happy

The true way to make tender feet happy is with a bath of Eaz-all. Give half the care to your feet that you do to your hands and they will cause you no pain or trouble. Dissolve from one to four Eaz-all tablets in a basin of water and bathe the feet at night. The burning and itching will be gone at once, and the next day the feet will not suffer. Try this treatment once and you will be an Eaz-all friend forever. Eaz-all takes the pain and soreness from corns, callouses and bunions and reduces puffy, swollen feet, so that smaller shoes may be worn. 35c at all drug stores; money back if not satisfied.

SHOE FACTORY

Is Guarded by the Nashua Police

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 13.—The strike at the Estabrook-Anderson shoe factory today reached such a stage that details of seven or eight police officers under the command of Capt. James Cleary and Patrolman Dennis Hallisey were at the factory morning, noon and evening.

An effort to break the strike was made yesterday when the places of the striking pullers began to be filled under the direction of Barney Selner, a strike breaker. Just before 6.30 o'clock the police arrived at the factory with four or five strike breakers under escort. No attempt at violence was made by the 100 strikers and their sympathizers who were on hand, but the men were carefully watched.

The factory officials claim that the places of the 85 strikers are largely filled, and that from 50 to 60 per cent of the ordinary output is being made. They also claim that some of the strikers have returned to work and that others wish to but do not dare.

The strikers claim that the strike is not broken and that at the most there are only 12 new men in the pulling-over department. The strikers yesterday had a conference with the factory owners and agreed to return to work at a slight increase over what they were getting when they walked out. This increase was refused and it is stated that the firm will not take back any of the strikers who are now out.

At the close of the day's work Barney Selner was followed by a group of strikers. He entered a store and telephoned to the police station and officers responded and scattered the group, after which Selner went on his way unmolested.

ORGANIST DEAD

AND HIS WIFE IS IN A SERIOUS CONDITION

STAMFORD, Sept. 12.—Word was received here today of the death this morning of Albert Woeltge, well known throughout the country as a musician and composer, at the home of H. K. Willard at Walpole, N. H., where he was visiting. The telegram also told of the serious illness of his wife, who is also a composer.

Mr. Woeltge was a native of Germany. In 1856 he became instructor at the Catherine Aiken gentry in this city and held that position for 40 years. He was also for half a century organist of the Universalist church here. Among other works he composed a number of church anthems which have been widely used.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

As in all Shubert productions, the cast which will present Clyde Fitch's last and great play, "The Wolf," at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 16 and 17 is of the highest order of merit and embraces some of the best known and most potent names on the stage today. The original New York Lyric theatre production will be shown at the local presentation. Seats are now on sale.

"THE WOLF."

Next Thursday evening at the Opera House "The Wolf" will be seen. "The Wolf" is said to be strong in conception, dramatic in execution and vitally interesting throughout. It tells a story of the wonderful Hudson Bay country and of the primal, eternal struggle between men for the possession of a woman. Dark passion and pure sentiment are set in opposition, but there is nothing hackneyed. The men are not of the familiar stage type, nor are the scenes of a mechanical order.

The father of Hilda McTavish is a Scotchman, whose narrowness of mind drives his wife into the world. Hilda, the child, is left behind. When McDonald, a handsome American engineer, appears, he covets the simple girl and engaged old McTavish in a plot to lure Hilda the way her mother had gone.

There comes Jules Deaubien, a French Canadian, with a streak of Oh-Hway from her mother. McDonald has left Jules' sister to die with her unborn babe. Jules recognizes him and hides his time. Battiste, his loyal retainer, crosses himself gently as he swears that unless Jules kills McDonald he will.

Jules throws the plotting of McDonald and McTavish in reference to the innocent Hilda. McDonald has been married and was a gay blade on the White Way. Jules, of course, loves Hilda. The crisis comes. The girl spins the brutal grasp of the engineer. McDonald, enraged, declares he will crush her life out with his bare hands. The French Canadian intervenes, striking McDonald with his fist. The engineer attempts to draw his revolver, but Battiste has him covered with a shotgun in the cabin window. At this point the scene closes, and one may imagine easily that the interest has increased.

Humoral as he is, McDonald is fearless and persistent. He takes to the path and comes upon Jules. He fires at him but his shot does not go home. When the two engage in the most realistic and savage hand-to-hand duel ever seen on the stage. Now up and down, rolling over and over in the dim light for fully a minute, the fighters struggle. Finally one is seen to drop lifeless from a stab wound. The victor lights a match and the glowing face of Jules is seen by the audience.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Cus Edwards' "Kountry Kids," with Fred C. Hackett and Gertrude Morgan as the big noises, is the stellar attraction at Hathaway's theatre this week. This rural musical comedy is something out of the ordinary and if the applause given by the audiences yesterday afternoon and evening can be taken as a criterion almost everyone present was delighted with the sketch. The "kids," however, are not the whole show, for the remainder of the bill includes many high class acts, the program being varied in order to please all the theatre goers.

There are nine people in the sketch, five young women and four young men, and all can sing and dance and cut up capers in such a manner as to keep the audience convulsed with laughter. The scene is laid in a farmyard, the principal settings other than the drops being the old well, empty milk cans, teeter boards, etc. With the exception of "Cholly Knickerbocker," who is a city chap, all are ruralites, although "Miss Rose," who is having a birthday, has reached that stage where she discards the short calico dress for the longer and better quality white dress. Fred C. Hackett, who plays the part of "Hiram Higgins," does all kinds of stunts. He is the regular chore boy who is acquainted with work but not on speaking terms. He is more at home when it comes to dancing, singing, cracking jokes, etc. Another star in the cast is Gertrude Morgan, who portrays the part of "Sally Smart." "Sally's" makeup, while not extraordinary, is marked by the variety of colors used. She is possessed of a good voice and when it comes to "shaking her limbs," she is right there in line for the blue ribbon.

On the whole the sketch is one that cannot fail to please the most exacting audience. The sketch compels the most serious to laugh. The person who never smiles, however, had better keep away from the theatre.

The cast of characters and musical program follow:

Miss Rose.....Maxine Hampton
Cholly Knickerbocker.....Billy Fraser
Cy Sawyer.....Sid Marion
Paul De Butte.....Ivy Glick
Polly Pry.....Ida Clemence
Daisy Day.....Cheriot Taylor
Ivy Green.....Eva Shanbaum

"The Kuma family, the Oriental wonder workers—two men and a woman—present an act which is second to none in that line which has been presented in this city. The cleverness of the trio is demonstrated in every piece of work done. The feat juggling of a heavy barrel by one of the mule members of the trio is something marvelous. The sleight-of-hand work of the trio is also good to say nothing of the daring stunt of the young woman who climbs a ladder, the steps of which are keen edged awards.

Blum Luby, the famous imitator, made a hit from the start, and if the audience, especially those in the first and second balconies, had their way

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The O'Donnell Brothers in their original sketch "In Dear Old Ireland," have one of the best Irish acts on the stage, introducing real Irish pipes and real Irish dancing. The McGarvers are a very clever couple, he is a funny comedian and dancer, while she is a handsome woman who can sing. The Bon Air Trio are acrobatic pantomimists that cannot be beat. New pictures complete the bill. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

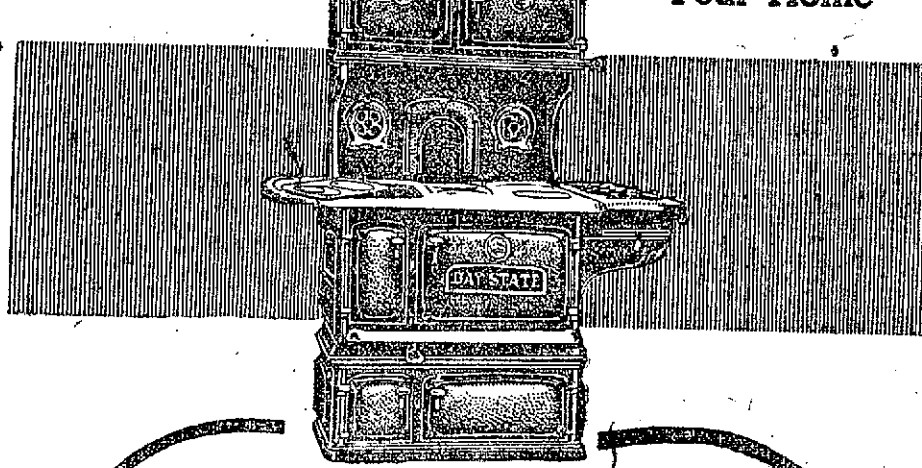

THEATRE VOYONS

The business world has small use for sentiment but once in a while it creeps in and everybody feels better for letting up on the strict rules of business. Today at the Theatre Voyons, the feature picture, "Little Angels of Luck" is a story of the business world in its largest meaning. A well to do rubber manufacturer after building up a substantial business refuses to accept the offer of the president of the trust for his plant and business only to find that the power which he deifies is stronger than he and that he is ruined. His two little girls overhearing his troubles as he not be equalled in Lowell.

STAR THEATRE

Under new management the Star theatre, opposite the city hall, opened Saturday with one of the longest and finest shows ever produced for an admission of five and ten cents, including a seat. Three big vaudeville acts and first class motion pictures as well as the latest and best illustrated songs are being produced. Mr. Alexander, the new proprietor, is one of the pioneer show men and the public will reap the benefit of his extensive experience. The admission to afternoon performances will be five cents to all. Women and children will be admitted free to the theatre Wednesday afternoon of this week only. The show given at this theatre, which has been entirely renovated, can

BARSTOW Bay State Ranges

The Hearth of
Your HomeIs the Heart of
Your Home

THE efficiency of your kitchen range—the present day hearth—is reflected in the health and happiness of your household. You can't cook wholesome, palatable meals on ranges which never act twice alike.

BARSTOW BAY STATE RANGES always give uniform results in baking and cooking, because the proportion of fire box and heating space around the oven is scientifically correct. Since 1836 the BARSTOW STOVE CO. has been experimenting to perfect these proportions.

Every practical improvement is embodied in BARSTOW BAY STATE RANGES. They have gas ovens for baking with or without a coal fire and gas shelves for quick cooking. The gas range attachment doubles the capacity of the range.

Other conveniences are—Swing Fire Top, for easy feeding, broiling and roasting; Patent Sliding Tea Plates; Oven Food Rack; Simmering Cover; a Reliable Heat Indicator; and nicker parts which lift off for cleaning or when blackening the range. Let us show you BARSTOW BAY STATE RANGES. Make us explain why they do the most work and the best baking with the least fuel.

DON'T BREAK DOWN

Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery cause breakdowns. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters, the matchless tonic medicine. It writes: "I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c at A. W. Dow & Co.

Clancy, Della A. Conway, Mrs. Julia Donnelly. As not all of those are likely to go, Rev. Fr. Flynn and E. J. Gallagher were appointed as a committee to see that the League be properly represented at Buffalo.

UNDER ARREST

BROCKTON LETTER CARRIER CHARGED WITH LARCENY

BROCKTON, Sept. 12.—William H. Delano, 39 years old, a letter carrier, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of larceny from the mails by Inspector Jennings of the postoffice department.

The arrest of Delano followed the placing of a decoy letter in a letter box on his route by Postmaster Hollywood in the afternoon. The letter was addressed to a mail order house in Chicago and contained some money and an order for goods.

When Delano reached the postoffice with the mail he had picked up on his route Postmaster Hollywood examined the mail and found the letter, which had been opened and the money taken, he says, the letter being sealed again.

Delano was asked to the postmaster's office and there confronted. Inspector Jennings immediately placed him under arrest. He was searched, but no letters were found on him. He was taken to the police station by Officer Bachelder. Delano was appointed a substitute carrier July 1, 1903, and a regular carrier Jan. 1, 1905. He was married one year ago.

WAR VETERAN

WAS SENTENCED TO THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—James Denchy was before Judge DeCourcy for sentence in the superior criminal court, yesterday, on an indictment accusing him of breaking and entering.

He told the judge he had served in the Spanish war, and on one occasion met President McKinley and shook hands with him. He said the president addressed the men thus: "Boys, if you are ever in trouble mention my name. We fought for the flag and for glory." Denchy further said all he asked was to have the judge show a little leniency. Without comment, the judge imposed a sentence of six months in the house of correction.

George Morse, 25 years old, accused in two counts of breaking and entering, didn't want to go to state prison. He said he had been there off and on and in the reformatory since he was 16 years old. Judge DeCourcy sent him to the house of correction for two years.

John F. Donnelly, charged with larceny, stole a can of milk. It was his first theft, at least the first for which he was haled into court. He had a record based on drunkenness entirely. He is a steepie climber. His counsel urged probation. Four months in the house of correction was the sentence.

MAYOR ON SUPERVISING BOARD

BROCKTON, Sept. 12.—The common council was in special session last evening to act at the request of Mayor Clifford in the matter of the supervision of the construction of the Carnegie library. The council amended an order from the afternoon authorizing the library trustees to have charge of the work by making the mayor a member of the supervision board, ex-officio. The amended order was concurred in by the aldermen, also in session.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Swift, Armour and Morris Indicted by Grand Jury

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The federal grand jury which has been investigating Chicago packers late yesterday returned indictments against ten high officials of the Swift, Armour and Morris concerns.

There are three indictments against each, charging combination, conspiracy, and illegal monopoly. The men indicted are L. F. Swift, president of Swift & Co.; Edward Swift, vice president of Swift & Co.; Charles H. Swift, director of Swift & Co.; Francis A. Fowler, director of Swift & Co.; Edward Tilden, president of the National packing company; J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co.; Arthur Meeker, general manager of Armour & Co.; Thomas J. Connors, superintendent of Armour & Co.; Edward Morris, president of Morris & Co.; and Louis H. Heyman, manager of Morris & Co.

The first indictment in detail charges all defendants with engaging in a combination in restraint of interstate trade in fresh meats. The second charges conspiracy. The third charges the defendants with monopolizing the trade in fresh meats by unlawful means. That the purpose of the grand jury inquiry was the indictment of individuals rather than of packing corporations was shown when Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, who imposed the $25,000,000 Standard Oil fine, instructed the investigators.

"It sometimes happens that a person about to violate the law takes a name other than his own," said Judge Landis in his charge to the jury. "John Jones, undertaking to counterfeit gold dollars, changes his name to John Smith, or the Metals fabricating company, and under that name does the thing forbidden by law."

"If your investigation discloses such a case, do not indict a mere alias, but follow the trail wherever it may lead until you have found, identified and pointed out the real offenders."

A NEW LEAGUE SEN. BRISTOW

To Be Organized by Severely Scored by Sen. Fletcher

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12.—The 38 ball players who recently signed contracts with the proposed all-stars of the American and National leagues and received their checks in advance will be permitted to cash the papers. The proposed series, financed by Cincinnati capital, was killed by a ruling of the National commission of baseball.

Last night D. A. Fletcher, promoter of the all-stars, stated that the players had received the checks in good faith and were not responsible for the failure of the proposition and that for that reason no effort will be made to prevent them from cashing in.

He denied the rumors of suits against the commission to recover the money, which amounts to almost $30,000, but states the commission will be ignored and that he will proceed with the organization of a new league the first of the year as he has the necessary capital and playing talent at his disposal.

USUAL MAJORITY

Rolled up by the Democratic Candidates

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 12.—Democratic nominees for state officers, headed by George R. Dargatzis, candidate for re-election, rolled up the usual majority at yesterday's election in Arkansas and while at midnight the result of the efforts to incorporate an initiative and referendum in the state constitution was not known, the indications were that it had failed.

Although weather conditions were good the expected heavy vote failed to materialize, notwithstanding vigorous campaigning conducted during the last week by W. J. Bryan urging the adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment.

CONFERENCE ARRANGED

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Charles G. Norton, secretary to President Taft, while here last week, is believed to have arranged for a conference in Washington of a group of efficiency experts to outline a plan for the proposed reorganization of the departments of the federal government. He made tentative plans for the attendance of Elliot L. Loring, president of the Chicago civil service commission, Professor Gilman of the University of Wisconsin; Major Delano Hine of Chicago and other authorities on matters of classification of service at a conference late this month.

Unknown Woman Committed Suicide in Lawrence Canal

LAWRENCE, Sept. 13.—An unknown woman leaped to death in the waters of the North canal, near Appleton street, last night about 6 o'clock. She went inside the iron railing and then jumped over the bank. She was seen by John McCann, but no one was near enough to save her. Her hat remained on the bank. It is of coarse white straw, with a light Persian scarf band. No attempt was made to get the body last night, as there is no boat in the canal. The police will search for the remains this morning.

FUNERALS

NESMITH—The funeral services of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Nesmith were held from her residence in Westford Sunday. There was a profusion of floral offerings. Rev. David Wallace was the officiating clergyman. The bearers were H. L. Nesmith, G. W. Nesmith, W. Kemp and W. F. Balch. The body was sent to Burlington, Mass., for burial in the family lot. David L. Greig undertaker.

JAMES—The funeral of George B. James took place from his late home, 30 Wilson street, yesterday afternoon. Services were held at the house by Rev. John Burns of St. Peter's church. The bearers were Messrs. N. Webster, T. Crowe, W. E. Decker, M. Crowe, T. E. Leitch and A. Flouide. Present at the funeral was a delegation from Spindle City lodge of trainmen, consisting of President M. W. Murray, Treasurer H. P. McCavill, Chaplain J. Goodroe, A. Fall and W. H. Howard.

Among the floral tributes were a large pillow inscribed "Our Papa" from the bereaved wife and children; a large piece representing a broken brake wheel from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; a standing wreath on base from the yardmen of the B. & M. railroad; sprays from Mrs. Hugh McCavill and Mrs. Arthur Fall, Miss Lydia Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Anna M. Boutwell, Grandmother Boutwell, Lydia and Annie Boutwell; bouquet from Mr. and Mrs. Grant Mines and family, and spray from Mr. and Mrs. Howard Channell. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertaker John J. O'Connell.

REIDY—The funeral of the late Mr. John Reidy took place from his home, 26 Saratoga street Monday. The cortege proceeded from his home to the Sacred Heart church where a requiem in high mass was sung at 9 o'clock, after which the remains were consigned to their last resting place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. Rev. F. Fletcher of the Sacred Heart church read the committal service at the grave. There was a profusion of beautiful floral offerings, among which were: Pillow inscribed "Father," from the family; large cross inscribed "At Rest," Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Penney; large spray of seven dahlias, Mrs. Edward Smith; large basket of mixed flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reidy; pillow inscribed "Grandpa," Mr. and Mrs. John Reidy, Jr.; large set piece, crown on base, inscribed "Asteop," Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Reidy; large set piece, crown on base, Mr. Anthony Reidy and family; spray of asters and chrysanthemums, Mrs. Rosanna McGuire and family; large spray of white and purple asters, and pinks, Miss Louise Breene; large wreath on base, inscribed "At Rest," sympathy of Mary Kelly, Cassie Mullin, Nellie Farrell, Mary Maguire, Mary Mary, Sabina Radigan, Jennie McGrath, Mary Farrell, Annie Smith; spray of white asters, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Townsend of Manchester-by-the-Sea; spray of white asters, Mr. Joseph B. Sweeping Pluralities for Democratic Candidates—Plaisted's Plurality is 6500—The General Slump on Republican Vote About 15,000—General Results and Story of the Election

A tidal wave of democracy swept over Maine yesterday, carrying Colonel Frederick W. Plaisted of Augusta to the governor's chair and ousting the present occupant, Bert M. Fernald of Poland, by a plurality of 7500. This shows a republican slump from two years ago of 14,773 votes. Practically the same proportion of republican loss is maintained all along the line. Returns from 630 out of 628 election districts, comprising 19 cities and 421 out of 501 towns and plantations gave: Plaisted, democrat, 64,658. Fernald, republican, 59,088. The missing city was Portland, while the 75 towns and plantations were nearly all up in Aroostook county or among the outlying islands. The wave also overwhelmed at least three and possibly all four of the state's congressional delegation, which has been republican since the inception of the party. The flood spread through a majority of the counties and even extended to the legislature, which next winter will choose a successor to United States Senator Eugene Hale. The democrats will probably elect Olmstead Gardner of Rockland. PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—Democracy triumphed in Maine yesterday, electing a governor surety two and three times mayor of Augusta, has been elected governor by a plurality of approximately 8000. The democratic nominee defeated Gov. Bert M. Fernald of Poland by a plurality nearly equal to that which the republican candidate received two years ago. In total the vote for governor yesterday is a reversal of the figures of a membership of 31 are sure of seats two years ago. Republican congressional timber was hewn by the blades of democrats and progressive republicans and tumbled ignominiously to earth. William M. Pennell of Brunswick, the democratic ex-sheriff, may have defeated Arthur C. Hinds of Portland, who was nominated after a bitter republican contest in the first congressional district. At a late hour last night, however, Continued on page five.

Man Found Guilty of Larceny of Flour

Frank Shaley was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of 20 barrels of flour, each barrel of the value of $5, the property of Avedis M. Torigian. The case which proved to be a rather long drawn out affair came about as the result of a business transaction between the complainant and defendant. William A. Hogan appeared for the government and the defendant was represented by Bennett Silverblatt. The first witness called for the government was Avedis M. Torigian, the complainant, who stated that he was a baker and grocer. Continuing with his testimony he said that Shaley and his brother were bakers and owed him money to the amount of $160.25. When they asked for further credit he refused them. Then the defendant came to him and stated that if the witness would give him enough flour to last him for a couple of weeks he would give witness a first mortgage on his business and equipment. This was perfectly satisfactory to Torigian and he accepted what he considered a first mortgage on defendant's business and in return delivered some 20 barrels of flour to the defendant. Later Mr. Torigian found that what he supposed was a first mortgage was a second mortgage. He also testified that he was present at the sale of the horse, wagon and harness which he supposed was covered by the mortgage made out to him. The defendant practically admitted that he was indebted to the complainant, but stated that owing to his ignorance of the English language and the laws of this country he was not aware that he was giving a second mortgage. The court after considering the case found the defendant guilty but continued sentence till tomorrow. Drunken Offenders. Alpheus B. Hamblett, charged with drunkenness, entered a plea of guilty and it looked as though he was going to be sentenced to jail when Probation Officer Slattry interceded for him and on condition that he go back to Meredith, N. H., where he is employed as a landscape gardener, the court gave him a suspended sentence of five months in jail. Owen Pahey was under a suspended sentence of four months in jail but he broke the rules of his probation, was surrendered and this morning was remanded to jail. Margaret Tavoher was found staggering through Middlesex street last night and Patrolman Gilbert Sheridan sent her to the police station. She admitted that she had been drinking but asked the court to give her another chance. The court decided to allow the matter to go over until tomorrow in order that her husband might be conferred with. William E. Grennan, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory. Three first offenders were fined $2 each.

A STORM WARNING

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13.—The local weather bureau issued the following storm warning this morning: Tropical disturbances some distance southeast of the Texas coast, moving northwesterly toward the mouth of the Rio Grande. A brisk north-east wind and high tides are indicated for the Texas coast. Shipping should be cautious.

ROOSEVELT WILL NOT TALK

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Theodore Roosevelt this morning came from Oyster Bay to pay his first visit to his editorial office since his return from his western trip and was no more inclined than last night to comment for publication on the result of the Maine election. Pressed for some statement on the general situation, he responded: "No; I have just returned from a hygienic tour to steep myself in literary calm." With that the colonel beat a retreat to his offices.

FIREMAN MURDERED

His Body Was Found in the Mississippi River

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 13.—That John Gregory, fireman aboard the U. S. monitor Amphitrite, was murdered and robbed, is the theory advanced after the discovery of his body in the Mississippi river yesterday. Friday was pay day and that evening Gregory started to swim ashore, intending to spend the night in Memphis. He was not seen since until his body, minus his blouse and pay, $60, was recovered by a fisherman. The body bore bruises.

LOST IN THE FOG

Aviators Had an Exciting Experience

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Joe Seymour in his Curtiss biplane and Ted Schriever in the Howard Diel biplane had a very unusual experience early today when both became lost in a dense fog that hung over the Hempstead Plains, obscuring all objects. Both men had difficulty in getting their bearings and kept well up in the air to prevent collision with trees and fences. Each aviator was warned of the other's approach by the throbbing of the motor and thus avoided collision by flying over below each other as they approached. Seymour made four long cross-country flights and Schriever made three.

NAVAL GENERAL BOARD

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 13.—The daily sessions of the naval general board, which have been in progress at the naval war college here since early in June, are concluded. Many important details of naval policy have been considered. The summer conference of officers at the naval war college will end on the last day of September. Besides the war games and other maneuvers there have been numerous lectures on naval establishment, the speakers including Sir John Jellicoe, the British admiral, and Rear Admiral Alahan.

STATE COMMITTEES MEET

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 13.—State committees of the political parties began meetings today in preparation for the fall campaign. New chairmen were elected. The democratic prohibition and socialist labor parties will draft platforms before adjournment. The meetings may continue through tomorrow. The democratic committee will, according to the local press, endorse Joseph Folk for president. Champ Clark, leader of the minority in the house of representatives, is chairman of the democratic resolution committee.

LATEST CHAIRMAN MACK

Discusses the Result of the Election in Maine

BUFFALO, Sept. 13.—Chairman Norman B. Mack of the democratic national committee, commenting on the Maine election, said in a statement issued here today:

"Yesterday's election was fought out on the great national questions of the day and it is clear that the people are to triumph over the evils of national government which the democracy has been fighting for years. Those evils may be summarized as the domination of national politics by the special privilege interests; the welfare of the few

HINDS WAS ELECTED

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 13.—Unofficial returns gave Asher C. Hinds (R.), a plurality of 734 for congress from the first district. The district complete gave Hinds 17,373; Pennell (D.), 16,639. Mr. Hinds' plurality was evenly divided in the two districts.

THE FREIGHT TARIFFS

Charles F. Daly Tells How They Were Increased

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—How increased freight tariffs were made up was told by Charles F. Daly, vice president of the New York Central lines, under cross examination today by the Interstate Commerce commission.

Mr. Daly said each road had decided on its own increases in rates and the railroads representatives then met in this city to make the rates uniform.

"It would be suicidal for each road to have a different rate," said Mr. Daly, "protection of commercial interests in the different sections demands a uniform base."

Mr. Daly admitted on cross examination that most of the luxuries of life were carried in the fast freight, and known as the "upper classes," of transportation.

Mr. Daly was asked if the luxuries would cost a little more to the people and to the shippers.

THE MILK DEPOT

Promoters Encouraged By Its Success

The milk depot conducted in Market street by the Hospital Guild has changed its hour of giving out milk to noon instead of in the morning so that the school children may go and get it while on their way from school to dinner.

The ladies in charge of the milk depot are highly encouraged over the results and are confident that the depot will be kept open permanently.

BUTLER ENDED LIFE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A tragedy in the home of Henry P. McKenney, millionaire merchant of New York and Suffern, was made public last night, when Coroner Van Orden, of Rockland county, gave out the statement that Ernest Childs, butler for the family for years, committed suicide in the presence of Mrs. McKenney and her children last Thursday.

His body was buried yesterday in the cemetery of the Methodist chapel, on the Haverstraw road. The coroner made no comment on the delay in ordering the matter publicly.

Childs had just returned from a vacation with relatives in Massachusetts and had been melancholy. His employer tried to cheer him up and made life as pleasant as possible. Thursday Mr. McKenney came to his New York office, leaving the butler with the family. A few hours later, while the McKenney children and Mrs. McKen-and from all narcotics and poisonous drugs. It is perfectly harmless and yet wonderfully effective. It is pleasant to take, and promptly and produces no unpleasant after-effect. It cures all the ordinary stomach, liver and bowel ailments of infants and children.

Ani-sen is sold by all druggists at 25 cents a bottle—less than a cent a dose.

"So little that the advance will have no practical effect in many individual cases," replied the witness.

"What effect on the man who sells his goods?"

"Very little. It will be more than gained by the improved conditions of the railroads of the country and its aid to general business," replied Mr. Mr. Daly.

"Are women's dresses, children's clothing and shoes in these freight luxuries?"

"Yes."

"Well, the men of St. Louis who buy shoes from New England factories must pay this higher freight; the money will be taken out of their pockets and transferred to the coffers of the New York Central."

"Some of it paid back to the men who buy the shoes—we keep very little of it. It goes almost as fast as it comes in."

BULL BUTTS A RED AUTO

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—To former Mayor N. H. Hopkins, of Branchville, N. J., belongs the honor of being the first on record to officiate at an encounter between an automobile and a bull, and being able to register the fact that the bull was only second best.

The ex-mayor owns a red car and was driving when the bull essayed to test its strength against that of the horse-power machine.

It happened on the road to Jiamburg, near Augusta. The bull sighted the car from a distance and charged head-on. Before Hopkins could help it, the crash came. The bull was knocked against a fence and the car kept on. The only damage—except to the bull—was a broken lamp.

SON VISITS MRS. ASTOR

NEWPORT, Sept. 13.—Vincent Astor is here to visit his mother, Mrs. W. Astor, the most petted child in the cottage settlement. Vincent Astor has his touring car, in which he came from New York on Saturday, and often takes his mother and sister motoring.

Colonel Astor has sent his steam yacht Noma here, which is at the disposal of Vincent, who will take Muriel to Stratburg to visit her father for a month, which is in accordance with the divorce settlement between Colonel Astor and his former wife.

Christmas will be another busy occasion for Muriel, because of the gifts her father, mother and brother will vie in showering upon her.

Mrs. Astor expects to start for Hot Springs about Thursday.

CENSUS RETURNS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The population of Watertown, N. Y., is 23,730, an increase of 334 or 2.3 per cent, as compared with 23,396 in 1900.

The population of Cohoes, N. Y., is 24,709 as compared with 23,510 in 1900.

CHOSE DELEGATES

Lawrence Democrats had Lively Contest.

LAWRENCE, Sept. 13.—The dream that Lawrence would send delegates to the democratic state convention without a contest was rudely shattered last night when nomination papers were distributed at the headquarters of the democratic city committee.

Two sets of nomination papers for delegates to the state convention were taken out. One set of delegates will be pledged to James H. Vahey of Watertown for governor and the other set will be pledged. It will be up to the democratic voters to say in the caucus whether they want to elect the Vahey delegates or the unpledged democrats.

Aspirant contest for the democratic nomination for senator may take place. In the sixth representative district which includes wards three and four a number of democrats are seeking the nomination which is equivalent to election.

JAMES H. DUFFY

Popular Young Man Has Passed Away

The many friends of James H. Duffy, one of the most popular young men of Cotuitville and a member of the firm of Duffy Bros., cigar manufacturers, will be pained to learn of his death which occurred last night at his home, 59 Fulton street.

The deceased was possessed of a cheerful disposition, had a host of friends and his business ability was responsible in no small degree for the success of the firm of which he was a member. Despite the fact that he had been ill for a long time and a sufferer for several months he bore his sufferings with true Christian fortitude and his last wishes were that he be able to bid good bye to his friends.

He was a devout Catholic and constant attendant at St. Michael's church, being connected with several of the organizations of that church. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, Isabelle; three daughters, Mary, Katherine and Isabelle; four brothers, Stephen, F. Martin, Joseph P. and John W. and a sister, Mary Duffy.

The funeral will take place Thursday morning at eight o'clock from his late home, 59 Fulton st., and a high mass of requiem will be celebrated at nine o'clock at St. Michael's church, Undertaker Peter H. Savage in charge.

ARNOLD IS HELD

In the Narragansett Gambling Case

NARRAGANSETT PIER, Sept. 13.—Professor Brander Matthews, of Columbia university, proved to be the most vigorous witness of the prosecution when "Doc" William E. Ajpold, alleged proprietor of the fashionable Narragansett club, was placed on trial in the Wakefield court today on charges of maintaining a gambling place.

Judge Nathan B. Lewis found Arnold "probably guilty," and held him for the grand jury.

Professor Matthews, long known as an expert in simplified spelling, got right down to simplified slang and revealed a knowledge of gambling places and gambling methods that surprised both the wise men of law and the wise people of society who had joined the rush of village folk to hear the testimony.

"I have lived here at the Pier for twenty years," testified Professor Matthews. "The reputation of Clark's block has always been very bad. I have known it always as a gambling joint."

"A—er—what?" inquired Attorney Fitzgerald, for the defense.

BOY CAME TO LIFE

After Being Pronounced Dead by Doctor

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—After being pronounced dead by a surgeon of Mt. Sinai hospital, nine-year-old Harry Jacobs, of 25 East One Hundred and Third street, was brought back to life last night.

The little fellow was roller skating in Madison avenue, between Ninety-eighth and Ninety-ninth streets, and caught hold of the side of a big trolley car. One of his skates skidded and in an instant he had fallen under the middle of the moving car.

Motorman Joseph Estosto and Conductor Patrick Clarke knew nothing of the accident until the cries of the many witnesses on the sidewalk caused Estosto to stop the car.

By a pitiful coincidence, the mother of the boy was one of the passengers who got off to see what had happened. When little Harry was drawn from beneath the rear truck, the woman's grief was too much for the spectators. They turned upon the innocent motorman and conductor and would have attacked them had not Policeman Hausser arrived.

Two men picked up the lad, both of whose legs were practically severed, and carried him to the Mt. Sinai hospital. Dr. Geist, the house physician, was unable to find any trace of heart action or respiration, and he pronounced the boy dead. Hausser reported to the East One Hundred and Third street station, and the coroner was notified.

But Dr. Geist had not stopped work after giving his hasty opinion. Twenty means of resuscitation was applied and after a stimulus had been administered a faint pulsation showed the astonished surgeons that there was still life in the little body. They worked with reinvigorated energy and soon had restored a good heart action. At a late hour he was still alive, but the doctors doubted whether he could survive. Both legs have been amputated.

LOTTIE

"The Little Magnet is Reported to be Dying

NEW YORK, September 13.—Lottie Gilson, "The Little Magnet," and once a Broadway favorite, was removed last night from a barely furnished room at No. 238 West Thirty-ninth street to a New York hospital. She was said to be in a dying condition and because of lack of funds was hurried to Bellevue. The surgeons diagnosed her ailments as gastritis and neuritis. They say she will never leave the hospital alive.

Soon Lost Her Engagement

New Yorkers shook their heads in sorrow, but that is as far as their sympathy went. Few journeyed up to the resort where "The Little Magnet" was performing four times a day, and she soon lost her engagement.

On Friday last, two young men engaged a room for her in the attic flat of Charles Schwab, on the third floor of No. 268 West Thirty-ninth street. Schwab's family had gone away for a while and he had an extra room. The men announced that they represented the Actor's Fund society, and that they wished a room for a destitute member of the profession. Schwab set his price, but they said it was too high. Negotiations seemed to stall until one of the men said he guessed he would have to find another shelter for "The Little Magnet." Schwab asked if she was the real "Little Magnet." When told she was, he agreed to take her in for he had often, as a youth, joined in the choruses of her songs.

THE FLYING MACHINES

Great Things Expected at Atlantic This Afternoon

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—The Harvard-Boston aero meet has the distinction of being the first aviation meet in the country which resulted in a financial success, and today, the last of the ten days of competition, again called forth many thousands of enthusiasts.

Though the meet will continue through Thursday, competition for the original prizes closed today. Having tuned up his engine and tightened the wires of his racing biplane, Glenn H. Curtiss this forenoon was understood to be contemplating the Boston Light flight for the $10,000 prize. Aviation experts believed that he would experience considerable difficulty in making the 33 mile air voyage in less time than the record established by the English aviator, Grahame-White yesterday. Mr. White's time was 34 minutes, 11-5 seconds. Grahame-White planned to devote most of his time today to bomb-throwing.

The contest committee today revised the new American record for distance established by Ralph Johnstone yesterday in a Wright biplane, giving the airplane about four miles additional. His corrected distance is 101 miles 839 feet.

The amateurs showed little activity today. During the early morning hours only one appeared on the field. W. Starling Burgess made a dozen short jumps up and down the field but not once did he allow his biplane to mount higher than ten feet. On his last trial he broke out of the supports of the machine and tumbled into the hangars.

Bomb-throwing from an altitude of more than 1800 feet, a battle in the sky and attempts to break world's records already established will constitute the attempts of the professional aviators during tomorrow and Thursday.

Using his Farman biplane, Grahame-White opened the professional events of the meet, the last contesting day of the meet, by ascending at 2:30 this afternoon to compete in the altitude, duration and bomb-throwing events. Among the interested spectators on the field was Miss Helen Taft, daughter of President Taft, who motored down from Beverly with Mrs. Charles Lowell, of Chicago.

DASHED TO DEATH HAS 24 PATIENTS

Insane Mother Throws Infant from Window

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Seized with a sudden fit of insanity in her home on Broadway, Brooklyn, today, Mrs. Esther Jaffe, 27 years old, hurled her three months old baby from the window of her apartment on the third story. The child was dashed to death on the pavement below.

DEATHS

WILL NOT OPPOSE PAYNE

AUBURN, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Ex-Mayor E. Clarence Aiken, who created a sensation by his announcement on Saturday that he would run for the congress seat of Seno E. Payne, joint author of the present tariff law, caused another surprise yesterday by announcing that he would not oppose the chairman of the ways and means committee.

He said he had learned that two counties of the district had already instructed delegates for Payne, and that all the republican papers in the district would be for him.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Samuel Stein, cutlery dealer at No. 170 Orchard street, lost $100 worth of his stock through burglary Thursday night. He bought a new padlock, but for convenience hung the key over the door. Next night he was robbed of another $100 worth, and the robbers left a jeering note.

Saturday night Samuel Westinger, a butcher, called on Stein, and displayed a set of butcher's tools which, he said, he had bought for a nickel. Stein recognized them, and the result was that Charles Herbert, aged fifteen, and William Friedman, aged twelve, were arrested yesterday. They revealed the hiding place of the booty, pleaded guilty before Justice Bond, and were remanded for sentence.

"There was the collar and the key hanging over the door. What else could you do?" exclaimed Friedman.

DIED OF CHOLERA

DANZIG, Prussia, Sept. 13.—A workman in a brickyard at Marienburg, 27 miles south of this city, died of cholera today. A number of suspected cases of cholera have developed in that locality and of the patients, two adults and five children have died.

GILSON BIG GOLF CONTEST

Champions Play For Honors at Brookline

Egan Eliminated From the Con- test—Brilliant Work by Wilder and Herreshoff

BROOKLINE, Sept. 13.—The dew was still on the grass when the work of continuing the elimination match-play in the 36 holes, qualifying round, of the United States golf championship was resumed at the Country club. The play at sunset last night 36 of the 104 players whose scores were 84 or better were notified that they could play out the remaining 18 holes without further notice and pairings were made at that time. For the other 23 players to make up 61 to qualify in the first 18 holes of medal play in the championship the committee found a difficult task. Among the nearly sixty aspirants who had a chance for getting a place were last year's title-holder, Robert A. Gardner of Hinsdale, Chicago, and T. R. Fuller of the Wollaston golf club, Quincy, a former Massachusetts champion. Both of these players had four first 18 holes of play while at least a dozen others who had been stopped in other parts of the course were on the scene shortly after seven o'clock and resumed their journey around the links a few minutes later.

Interest in the morning play centered in the work of Warren K. Wood of Chicago and the veteran golfer, Walter J. Travis of Garden City, who led the field yesterday with a 76 and a 78 respectively.

When the remainder of the matches in the first round were completed this forenoon it was found that seven players had made 86 or better. As a result those players who went the rounds yesterday in 87, including Chandler Egan of Baltimore, were eliminated and the 64 players who had made 86 or better continued in the second round of 18 holes medal play. Those who finished this forenoon in qualifying figures included last year's title winner, Robert A. Gardner of Hinsdale who could do no better than 86.

By noon the players had completed the second 18 holes of play with figures which gave them 170 or better for the 36 holes of the two qualifying rounds.

As only 32 could qualify for the match play it appeared probable that 170 would be the highest figure which would permit a player to continue in the tournament.

The best work of the forenoon was done by Fred Herreshoff of Ekwonok, who turned in a 74, giving him a total of 152 for the two days' play. The Chicago contingent showed up well, W. K. Wood of Homewood, who headed the list yesterday, getting a 79 for a total of 154, while Paul Hunter of Midlothian and C. E. Evans, Jr., of Edgewater with 73 each and R. E. Hunter of Midlothian with 79 each brought his total to 161.

Walter J. Travis of Garden City made the 36 holes in 156, P. W. Whittemore of the Country club in 157 and G. J. Anderson of Woodland in 158. Other totals were:

C. G. Waldo, Jr., 161; H. H. Wilder of Vesper and H. Schmidt of Worcester, 162 each; S. D. Bowser, of Brookline and D. E. Sawyer of Wheaton, 163 each and C. Ormiston of Pittsburg, Ellis Knowles of Pensacola and F. A. Martin of Ekwonok 164 each.

There was no wind today and some terrific drives were made. Herreshoff's card follows:

Out 4 4 5 4 4 3 3 4—35
In 4 3 5 5 5 2 4 6—39—74

Gardner failed to qualify for match play, being one stroke under the 168 which was the highest figure of any of the 22 players qualifying. Herreshoff was awarded the gold medal for the lowest medal score, 152, in the qualifying round of 36 holes.

The drawings for the first round of match play with the scores of the qualifiers in the 36 holes of medal play follows:

EGAN ELIMINATED
BROOKLINE, Sept. 13.—The brilliant work of Frederick Herreshoff, of the Ekwonok Golf club of Manchester, Vt., the elimination of Chandler Egan of the Exmore of Chicago, former champion, and the probability that a better score might crowd out Robert A. Gardner, of the Hinsdale club, Chicago, last year's champion, from the match play, were the features of this morning's play in the national amateur golf tournament on the Country club's course today. The play was in completion of the 36 hole qualifying round. Herreshoff turned in a 74 on his second 18 holes today, giving him a score of 152 for the two days' play. Egan, who made an 87 yesterday, was eliminated when the field yesterday with a 76 and a 78 respectively.

TUBE FRANCHISE THE GAS COMPANY ASKS FOR IT FOR $115

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A proposition of the East River Gas company, a subsidiary of the Consolidated, to buy a permanent franchise for a tunnel, for its gas pipes from the Astoria (L. I.) plant to the northern part of the Bronx, for $115, came up in supreme court yesterday.

The company asked the court to adjudge that it is for the benefit of the public to force the city to grant it a permanent easement. The defendants are the city, the state, the Harlem River and Portchester Railroad company and two trust companies.

The applicant explained that the tunnels now used for conveying gas to Manhattan and the Bronx are not large enough. Their experts have estimated that if the city accepts $115, the state $75 and the other defendants $215, these payments will be "the reasonable value of the said perpetual easements and rights of way."

City and state opposed the application. The corporation counsel denies that the gas company is offering anywhere near the real value of the easement applied for. The grant of the petition, it is claimed, would be "unlawful and unwarranted."

The attorney general also protested against the price, and declared there is no need of a new tunnel.

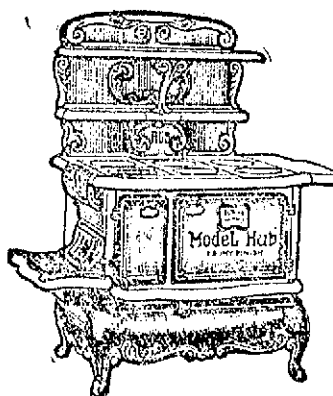

If the application is granted, the company proposes to sink its tunnel one hundred feet. The pipes would extend from Astoria to the Bronx at One Hundred and Thirty-Fourth street and Locust avenue. Since 1894 a small tunnel has conveyed gas from Ravenswood, L. I., to East One Hundred and Seventy-first street. Another tunnel has been laid under the river from Astoria to One Hundred and Tenth street. The court of appeals has confirmed the right of the gas company to tunnel to Manhattan.

Justice Hendrick appointed William Allen referee to report upon the merits of the application and the appointment of a condemnation commission.

Took in the Great Aviation Meet Severely Criticised by the Inspector General

ATLANTIC FIELD, Sept. 12.—Thirty thousand people inside the Atlantic aviation grounds and half that number on the surrounding vantage points saw the best day's flights yesterday of any since the meet started eleven days ago. It was a record day for some of the fiercest aviators, Ralph Johnstone in a Wright biplane establishing a world's record for accuracy and an American record for distance and duration, while Grahame-White did a mile-a-minute spin to Boston light twice. This was his second time over the Boston light course for the Gen. Taylor $10,000 prize, and he covered the thirty-three miles yesterday in 34 minutes 1-5 seconds. Had this all been straightaway work he would have driven his butterfly-like monoplane the distance at considerably better than a mile a minute. As it was he beat his former record over the course by more than six minutes.

Many other aviators made good flights and did clever stunts, making it altogether a day of wonders in the matter in demonstrating what the bird-men can do. The weather was ideal for the work and the wind was not too strong, although it might have been more advantageous to the contestants had it gone down a little more, earlier in the afternoon. Harmon's bomb-dropping stunts were of great interest, and the target shooting by Lieut. Fickel from a Willard's biplane, the Ransome, was an added feature. With equal weather record-breaking crowds will doubtless mark the three remaining days of the meet. Especial attempts are expected today, inasmuch as the time limit for the regular prizes is up tonight, special features and prizes being arranged for the extra two days of the meet.

Smashed Records
Establishing a world's record in accuracy, and American records in distance and duration, Ralph Johnstone was greeted with wild applause as his Wright biplane struck the ground one minute before the official time of clearing the Harvard-Boston aero meet yesterday. He had made a distance of ninety-seven miles 4666 feet in three hours five minutes forty seconds, and had stopped within five feet four inches of the accuracy mark.

Not to be completely outdone by his Yankee brother aviator, Grahame-White climbed into his biplane at sunset and in a wild dash at a rate of nearly a mile a minute made the flight to Boston light and return twice over, a distance of thirty-three miles, in 34 minutes, 1-5 seconds, clipping his former time 6 minutes 2-5 seconds. He too was greeted with wild applause as he came to a stop in the fast gathering darkness.

But the other aviators came in for a good share of the praise, Brookings making a good try for a new altitude record, Willard making several flights in the army and Curtis flying the new model biplane with a 62-horse power Hendee engine and making the fastest speed unofficially yet made on the course. He shot around about two-thirds of the course in 46 seconds flat, when his motor became disabled.

Harmen Makes Good Scores
So much for the professionals. Clifford B. Harmon was up with the sun yesterday morning and in Grahame-White's biplane corralled good scores in the bomb-dropping, slow laps, speed and duration contests. W. Starling

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—If fearless criticism is calculated to benefit the army, then Uncle Sam's soldiers should profit much from the comment upon their condition and abilities contained in the annual report of Inspector General Garlington, just made public. One inspector points out a whole battalion of artillery starting for the Philippines service without a single field officer and one of the batteries commanded by a second lieutenant of less than two years' service. An inspector general declares this absence of captains from their commands is "the most fruitful source of professional disease in the line of the army today."

The situation, according to the inspector general, warrants the prediction that results of a disastrous nature must sooner or later be realized. The obvious remedy, he says, is the provision of a sufficient number of supernumerary officers to replace those on detail.

According to Inspector General Bell the field army is wholly unprepared for field service. He says the new regulation are almost entirely theoretical or dependent upon the experience of European armies. Our transportation is the same as at the beginning of the Civil War.

Maj. Bell says: "While our infantry is composed of the best material in the world and is probably as well, if not better, trained in the use of rifle than that of any other army, its marching capacity is below mediocrity, and yet it is admitted today that the fate of the battles of the future depends, as it has in the past, upon the marching capacity of the infantry."

To remedy these conditions, Maj. Gen. Wood, chief of staff, today issued orders which change materially the training of the army.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—This is primary election day in New York city, enrolled voters of both republican and democratic parties choosing their delegates to the state and various other party conventions and electing members of the county committees. Interest chiefly centers in the republican primaries because of the pending contest between the Old guard and progressive factions in the state, the latter backed by Col. Roosevelt for control of the state convention. There have been warm contests in several republican districts where the old guard leaders were trying to make good their threat of making the cities send to Saratoga a solid delegation to support Chairman Grison of the republican county committee and Col. Roosevelt in their fight against the present ruling element in the state political organization.

MORE MEAT PACKERS

Expected to be Indicted by the Grand Jury

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Two meat packers more are expected to be indicted by the federal grand jury, which yesterday charged ten Chicago meat packers with conspiracy and illegal monopoly, and today the government announced its intention to secure retrials of all. None of the indicted men were in court today when the matter of their arrest was brought up by Special Assistant United States District Attorney James Wilkerson, for the government. He asked that warrants be issued forthwith for the retention of the packers indicted. John S. Miller, senior counsel for the packers, explained the absence of the defendants.

"Two of them are in Europe," he told the court "and the others have their big business affairs to attend to."

A bond of $10,000 on each of the three indictments was agreed to.

SOUTH CAROLINA PRIMARIES
COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 13.—Today the voters of South Carolina will register their choice for governor, adjutant general, railroad commissioner, and other officers. The governorship contest has become very hot, the issue being largely a personal one. The candidates are Colonel Bleas and O. O. Featherstone.

Y. M. C. I. MEETING
The regular meeting of the Young Men's Catholic Institute will be held tonight at the quarters of St. Ignace street and the feature of the meeting will be the opening of the knockout bowling tournament. The first ball will be rolled down the alleys by the new spiritual director.

LIVED IN WARREN
WARREN, R. I., Sept. 13.—John Gregory, who is believed to have been murdered in Memphis, Tenn., left here a year ago last May to join the navy and had not been heard from since. Previous to enlisting he was a large captain and was on the barge Beacon in April, 1905, with his father when it foundered in a storm off Watch Hill. Both were rescued by a tug. His father, Captain John D. Gregory is a large captain for the B. H. Co. Gregory was 24 years old and is survived by his parents and two brothers.

DAMES OF MALTA
PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—The eighth annual convention of the zodiacs, the national body of the Dames of Malta, began in this city today with nearly 150 delegates present from Maine, New England and the eastern states. Among the speakers arranged for the day were Miss Alice E. Hayes, Portland, and J. A. Briggs, Wilkesbarre, sovereign grand master.

NO APPEAL ENTERED
THE HAGUE, Sept. 13.—The award of the International court of arbitration in the Newfoundland fisheries case became irrevocable today with the expiration of the five days allowed for an appeal without either the United States or Great Britain having entered a protest against the finding.

Continued

The Hinds leaders claimed a victory by a margin of 300.

Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston, democrat, will go to Washington from the second district in place of the venerable Hon. John P. Swasey of Canton.

Burleigh Beaten
And the blow has fallen in an unexpected quarter, for Hon. Edwin C. Burleigh of Augusta, who was supposed to hold the third district impregnable, has lost to his persistent antagonist, Samuel W. Gould of Skowhegan.

Ever since Gov. Burleigh was first elected to congress in 1892 Mr. Gould has been striving to defeat him, either by running himself or managing the campaign of a democratic candidate.

Regularly Congressman Burleigh predicted, but yesterday Mr. Gould developed such strength that he early last evening the congressman admitted that he had been overpowered by an opponent who would never give up.

Congressman Burleigh had hoped and striven this time for the great vote polled by any republican candidate for congress, with the expectation of such an expedition of strength with the people would compel consideration of his name in the contest for the selection of the successor to Senator Eugene Hale.

But Samuel W. Gould has interfered with Mr. Burleigh's plans, and when the congressman-elect was told last night that his opponent conceded the election, he made this terse comment: "I've got him this time, and I'm glad to hear that he admits it. I've been after him for 25 years, and now I've got him."

Pluralities Heavy
Congressman Burleigh's downfall is simultaneous with the insurrection in the eastern part of the state where Congressman Frank E. Guernsey's reelection in the 4th district is in doubt.

At a late hour last night it was not improbable that George M. Hanson of Calais, the democratic candidate, had defeated Congressman Guernsey.

The congressman said that the democratic vote in the parts of the district heard from was so heavy that he doubted if he had been elected.

In every instance the democratic candidate whose election appears secure was successful by such a substantial plurality that the opposing nominees and the republican managers did not hesitate to early admit defeat.

Byron Boyd of Augusta, chairman of the republican state committee, capitulated by 10 o'clock. He announced that Col. Plaisted was elected governor, but he put the probable plurality below 5000.

Mr. Boyd also declared that the republican party had lost the first, second and third congressional districts and possibly were to face defeat in the fourth.

May Have Legislature
The state senate, he said, was probably democratic, but he hoped to save enough representative seats to give the republicans a majority on the joint ballot for the election of a U. S. senator.

Col. Plaisted's election was never in doubt after the returns from the first 100 voting communities were received early in the evening. The democratic candidate for governor made a gain of 9 per cent. over the vote given to Obadiah Gardner two years ago.

Gov. Fernald's vote showed a loss of 12 1/2 per cent. compared with the support he received in 1908.

These percentages were indicated in the early returns, and they varied little in the vote of towns, republican strongholds or cities where the democratic increases had been expected.

Col. Plaisted's indicated plurality of 5000, as revealed in the early reports, was increased even when the former vote began to figure in the compilation. At midnight, with about 60 towns lacking, it appeared that Col. Plaisted had won by 3000.

Gov. Fernald soon after 10 p. m. realized that he had lost the democratic majority of republican Augusta. He received the returns at Portland, and after he had received a message from Chairman Boyd notifying him of his failure for reelection, the governor acknowledged that he had received a great shock.

Sweeps All Cities But Two
"I have no doubt," said he, "that Mr. Plaisted has been elected and it looks as though he might have a plurality of 5000. I can only say that I cannot understand why the vote should have taken such a sudden change in all parts of the state. It is a mystery to me."

When the returns of Gov. Fernald and the republican managers were the democratic gains in the republican towns. Even Arrostook county, the banner republican county of the state, fell away.

The democratic vote in some of these towns was doubled and was given to the republican party. Gov. Fernald was back from the figures of two years ago.

Col. Plaisted depended upon the cities for the major portion of his vote and the voters of the municipalities responded. The democratic candidate carried every city but two, Belfast and Calais.

Home city of Augusta contributed 1344 votes to 1119 for Gov. Fernald, and Col. Plaisted also carried Kennebec county, sweeping with him the democratic county ticket, including the nominees in nearly all the senatorial districts.

Two to One in Bangor
In Bangor he led the governor two to one with a vote of 2566 to 1434. Lewiston went overwhelmingly for the Augusta mayor, giving him a plurality of 1731.

Portland gave Plaisted an excess of more than 1000 and Biddeford's vote was 1000 for Plaisted and 804 for the governor. The city vote gave Colonel Plaisted a powerful advantage over his opponent, and the republican towns did not hold up the governor's hands as they have been wont to do for the republican executives.

The vote of the towns was gravely disappointing to the republican managers.

Appraised of ominous signs of desertion in the towns at the last hour, the republican state committee tried to stem the revolt by bringing out the reserve vote.

Never was so heroic an effort made to get the farmers to the polls as today, when automobiles were sent out the back districts to bring them to town. Obviously many of them when delivered to the polling places turned about and voted for the democratic candidate.

Col. Frederick W. Plaisted, the son of the last previous democratic governor of Maine, Harris M. Plaisted, who was elected in 1884, was so confident of being successful today that he had ar-

Plained Not Surprised

Col. Plaisted is the publisher of a democratic weekly, the New Age, a publication which his father owned before him. A few days ago the proprietor called his staff together and told them that he was going to be elected governor and his newspaper would cease publication after election day.

His clerk and stenographer was informed that she would have a place at the state house in the executive office, but every other employee was given notice to seek another position.

Nothing should interfere with his giving all his time to the state as Col. Plaisted's determination, and he was sure he was going to win.

"The result of the election is no surprise to me," said Col. Plaisted last night. "I not only know I should have a plurality of at least 5000."

End of Sturgis Board
The people of Maine were simply tired of republican misrule. They revolted against the extravagance of the republican administration of state affairs. They want the state conducted on business principles. They do not approve of the Sturgis law, and as governor I shall see to it that the Sturgis commission has no appropriation.

"Local conditions were not solely responsible for the great democratic victory. The people of Maine voted on national issues as well. High prices, the control of the republican party in the interest of the trusts, Canism—all contributed to swell the vote for the democratic ticket."

"I want to say that I will go into the governor's office free from any obligations of any sort. I am free to do my best for the people of the state. I have made no promises. I have not promised a single man a job, and no one else can say I have. All the promises I made were made to the people. I shall keep them. I shall conduct the business of the state economically and I will suspend the activities of the Sturgis commission."

One Better Than Vermont
The opposition to the republican ticket manifested in the increase in the democratic vote uniformly throughout the state indicates that the men of the city and country alike were animated by a desire to punish the party in power.

Frank Emery Deane of Hallowell, chairman of the democratic state committee, and the members of the republican state committee who were gathered at Augusta last night agreed in the expression of the opinion that the election was significant of the national unrest.

Mr. Deane said he believed it was a part of the general insurrection against the republican party throughout the nation.

The republican leaders sadly acknowledged that the cause of the revolt was to be found in the temper of the people throughout the republican state committee.

As a member of the "Maine has seen Vermont and gone her one better. The republicans of the other states will have their experience in November just as we had ours today."

Ricker-Fernald Rule
The mourning in the rooms of the republican state committee at Augusta last night was not pure grief without one ray of brightness.

Gov. Fernald's faction in the republican party represented an element which wrested control of the state committee from the old guard two years ago when Mr. Fernald was nominated for governor over William T. Holmes of Waterville, the candidate of the Burleigh machine.

Gov. Fernald was supported by E. P. Ricker, Portland Spring, and since Mr. Fernald has been governor Mr. Ricker has been influential in advising as to the policy of the party.

The Burleigh machine, the successor or rather the continuation of the old organization of Blaine and of the late Joseph H. Manley, has never been fond of Gov. Fernald and the aggressive men supporting him.

The "old guard" never surrendered; it merely composed itself to await new opportunities.

Did "Old Guard" Use Knife?
Some of Gov. Fernald's friends are already intimating that the old machine saw opportunity yesterday and snatched it.

During this campaign there have been at times veiled charges that the old machine leaders were not doing all they could for the governor, though at the time it was supposed that their purpose was merely to reduce his plurality.

Now that Gov. Fernald has been defeated, which was denounced in the democratic party platform, can be repealed. Certainly the act can be made inoperative by Governor Plaisted withdrawing the present commission and neglecting to appoint their successors. Such a legislature can also choose a successor to United States Senator Eugene Hale and give Maine her first democratic senator since 1855 and New England the first since the election of William D. Eaton in Connecticut in the late seventies.

Half a dozen candidates for the senatorship sprang into the field today, Charles F. Johnson of Waterville, Lindley M. Staples of Washington, William Penney of Brunswick, who saw a better thing than such a hard fight in the first district yesterday, Oakley Curtis of Portland and also John Clark Seates of Westbrook, and James C. Hamlen of Portland, both of whom within the past six years have been democratic candidates for congress from the first district.

The next legislature will have full charge of redistricting the state.

The newly elected democratic legislature will shortly after convening in January elect the state treasurer, attorney general, secretary of state and a commissioner of agriculture. As governor, Col. Plaisted, with the consent of his council, will have a number of nominations to make. These include the following: The federal judges of the Maine supreme court and other offices now held by republicans.

GUERNSEY BY 500

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 13.—Returns from the 4th district are still lacking a number of small towns. At midnight Congressman Guernsey had carried Arrostook county by 1850, Washington county by about 300, had broken even in Piscataquis county and had been defeated by about 1600 in Penobscot county. His election is considered assured by about 500 by the republican state committee. Nearly 300 cities and towns in this district have only fragmentary returns and it is impossible to supply a complete list.

McGILLICUDDY BY 3000
LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 13.—Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston, democrat, was elected congressman from the 2d district yesterday over Congressman John Swasey, republican, by a majority of 3000.

Returns from 192 cities and towns give McGillicuddy 17,769, Swasey 14,835. The same towns two years ago gave McGillicuddy 14,341, Swasey 17,254.

McGillicuddy carried four of the six counties in the district, Androscoggin giving him the largest plurality, 2420. Knox was second with more than 700, Oxford and Franklin went for Swasey.

BONFIRES IN AUGUSTA
AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 13.—Great crowds gathered round Col. Plaisted's office early last night to listen to the election returns which, for a time, came in slowly, but with the results from all the large places showing Plaisted pluralities there was great cheering and the street in front of the office was blocked with people.

The throng became so large that it was necessary to adjourn to city hall, where the returns were read from the stage to a crowd that packed the building. When it was determined that Plaisted was elected the uproar was almost deafening, and bonfires were started on the outskirts of the city.

Col. Plaisted received scores of telegrams from leading democrats all over the state and one telegram from a New York paper asking for his interpretation of the landslide, to which he replied to the crowd publicly.

As soon as the news came that three of the democratic congressional candidates had won, the people in the hall could hardly contain themselves, hundreds trying to push forward to grasp the hands of Col. Plaisted for congratulation.

COUNTY ATTORNEYS-ELECT

Piscataquis—L. G. C. Brown of Milo (dem.).
Androscoggin—William H. Hines of Lewiston (dem.).

Kennebec—Fred E. Beane of Hallowell (dem.).
York—Asa A. Richardson of Kennebec (rep.).

Knox—Philip Howard of Rockland (dem.).
Sagadahoc—Arthur H. Stetson of Bath (rep.).

Arrostook—Republican wins.
Valdes—Democrat wins.
Penobscot—George E. Thompson (dem.).

Washington—Probably republican.
Oxford—Republican wins.

CHANCE FOR LOCAL OPTION
PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 13.—The democrats of Maine had difficulty today of even contemplating the magnitude of their victory of yesterday in their struggle with the republicans. With two score of little obscure forest towns and island plantations to hear from, additional and revised returns made early today give Col. Fred W. Plaisted (democrat), mayor of Augusta, 72,431 votes for governor and Gov. Bert Fernald of Poland, (republican) 64,090, Plaisted's plurality for the entire state is estimated at 8340.

While the election of Col. Plaisted and two democratic congressmen seemed a great feat, interest today centered in the makeup of the legislature which has a decidedly changed complexion. With 139 senatorial and representative districts heard from, a total of 132 of the senators and 100 of the representatives have been elected in a joint convention with 92 necessary to control. If the legislature is captured by the democrats it seems more than likely it will mean a probable resubmission to the people of the vexed prohibitory law and a chance for local option in the sale of intoxicating liquors. The Sturgis act which has proved so obnoxious to Maine and which was denounced in the democratic party platform, can be repealed. Certainly the act can be made inoperative by Governor Plaisted withdrawing the present commission and neglecting to appoint their successors. Such a legislature can also choose a successor to United States Senator Eugene Hale and give Maine her first democratic senator since 1855 and New England the first since the election of William D. Eaton in Connecticut in the late seventies.

Half a dozen candidates for the senatorship sprang into the field today, Charles F. Johnson of Waterville, Lindley M. Staples of Washington, William Penney of Brunswick, who saw a better thing than such a hard fight in the first district yesterday, Oakley Curtis of Portland and also John Clark Seates of Westbrook, and James C. Hamlen of Portland, both of whom within the past six years have been democratic candidates for congress from the first district.

The next legislature will have full charge of redistricting the state.

The newly elected democratic legislature will shortly after convening in January elect the state treasurer, attorney general, secretary of state and a commissioner of agriculture. As governor, Col. Plaisted, with the consent of his council, will have a number of nominations to make. These include the following: The federal judges of the Maine supreme court and other offices now held by republicans.

THE TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

It is very difficult to say just how the typhoid epidemic in the Highlands originated. It is easy, however, to explain its spread. If the disease originated in the careless handling of milk some of the dealers are to blame, and it may not be the man who is temporarily put out of business, but somebody who furnished part of his milk supply.

The infection of milk with typhoid germs is one of the most serious dangers to the community. We have a milk inspector, a bacteriologist and a board of health, upon which there are two physicians. The question arises, are not these gentlemen able, by their combined efforts, to detect typhoid germs in milk? We find the inspector giving out statements as to the number of bacteria in milk. Would it not be more important to find out whether there are any typhoid germs in the milk, or whether these pass unrecognized among the millions of bacteria of which we hear so much?

It seems that this typhoid epidemic made considerable headway before the real cause was suspected by the board of health. Less than twenty or twenty-five cases of typhoid in the same district should alarm the health department sufficiently to cause a rigid investigation.

It is to be hoped that the department has succeeded in finding the real cause, and that the spread of the epidemic will be quickly stopped. There is a bare possibility, however, and that is why The Sun has not mentioned the name of the dealer, that the cause may be entirely different from what it is believed to be by the board of health, or that it may have come from an entirely different source from that suspected.

The fact that the board of health believes that the germs of typhoid were communicated to the milk by the milkmen in the process of milking and distribution does not uphold the board's contention as to the protective value of the rule requiring milk to be sold only in sealed bottles. The new method has greatly increased the extent of the exposure and handling to which the milk is subjected before it reaches the dealer. To this very fact is due in all probability the spread of the typhoid germs from milkmen. Thus one of the board's best rules has proved an utter failure in practice.

We are not criticizing the board for its action, neither are we trying to throw any obstacles in its way. The situation demands rigorous treatment as the lives of a great many people are at stake. The board will be sustained in any step it considers necessary to stop the epidemic no matter how much any man's business may suffer.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S TOUR

Now that Col. Roosevelt's spectacular tour is ended, we may well ask what was its aim? Was it to save the country, to put the people upon a new line of action politically, to advertise the magazine by which he is employed or to exploit his own political creed as a presidential possibility?

It would be difficult to determine his exact motive, but if we are to judge from his utterances on various occasions, it was to place himself squarely before the country as a dictator in politics and to increase, so far as he could, his prestige and his popularity. The magazine to which he is attached must have realized the advertising value of this tour when it bore all the expense of his princely trip.

The tour has not increased either Col. Roosevelt's popularity or his political influence. On the contrary it has convinced the people more than ever that Roosevelt is a dangerous man to be entrusted with vast executive power.

Imagine the president of the United States denouncing the supreme court decisions. Could anything be more calculated to shake the loyalty of the average citizen to the government? As president, Roosevelt did denounce several very important court decisions and he denounced men as undesirable citizens long before they were convicted of any crime. In his recent rampant attack upon the supreme court he was equally unguarded and unreasonable.

Were such attacks made by a man of lesser note they would be regarded as the vapors of a demagogue, and would receive but little attention.

Let us hope Col. Roosevelt will give the country a rest from his political rant so that business men may have an opportunity to enjoy a respite from the continual harangues by which alarm is spread and enterprise discouraged.

BAD PENMANSHIP IN THE SCHOOLS

Now that the schools are open it would be well to remark that the handwriting of the children is in a demoralized condition as a result of the change from vertical to semi-slant. The school board should instruct the superintendent to adopt some method of improving the handwriting throughout the schools.

Somebody who wanted a change in books worked their points so well that they had the vertical system introduced into the schools, and taught until the people throughout the city found it wholly unsuited for business purposes. It would serve all right for inscriptions on coffins or on door plates, but for ordinary business purposes where speed is a consideration the vertical writing is a hindrance and a monstrosity.

When we had a special writing master, and when a different system was taught in a superior way, then the pupils ranked high in penmanship. Now the case is different. The rank is low, and shows little sign of improvement.

It is not the fault of the teachers nor of the pupils. It is the fault of the school board, and results directly from the tendency to change text books for the accommodation of publishers, and without any regard for results.

A well equipped flying machine that can stay in the air for two or three hours is not nearly so dangerous a conveyance as the automobile going fifty or sixty miles an hour on a boulevard or country road.

HIS 85TH BIRTHDAY

Observed by Carlos Franklin Hubbard of Westford

Mr. Carlos Franklin Hubbard observed his eighty-fifth birthday, yesterday, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. David M. Wilson, 67 Westford street. Mr. Hubbard has been a resident of Lowell for over 50 years, and with the exception of a slight trouble with his limbs, he is feeling as young today as he has in many years. The reception yesterday afternoon was an informal one and many of his old friends called to offer their congratulations. Mr. Hubbard was born in Thetford, Vermont, Sept. 12, 1825, and received his education in that place, coming to Lowell about 50 years ago. He was employed in the Digolet Carpet company for 40 years. Mr. Hubbard has always owned horses and still retains his interest in them. Mr. Hubbard was married in Thetford to Sarah J. Harrington, who died about 10 years ago. He is a member of the First Congregational church. He also belongs to Grand Union lodge, I. O. O. F., and to Menomake encampment of the same order.

LOSS OF HAIR

Dandruff and Itching Scalp—Simple Way to Cure Them

The most common cause of loss of hair, dandruff and itching scalp is neglect. People don't wash the scalp and hair often enough. Leading authorities like Dr. C. C. Bayles and Dr. Woods Hutchinson, of New York, and Prof. Lassar, of Germany, recommend frequent washing with mild, neutral soaps. The best thing of all for this purpose is Birt's Head Wash, because it is made of a particularly fine soap, medicated with glycerine, white of eggs, coconut oil and sulcylic acid. Birt's Head Wash makes a profuse lather, and not only cleans the hair and the outside of the scalp, but opens up and cleanses the pores as well. This opening of the pores is most beneficial and insures the hair roots, and does more to prevent the loss of hair than all so-called "tonics" put together. A single shampoo with Birt's Head Wash will prove all these claims to your satisfaction. Tubes 25c, jars 50c.

Carlin, under article 2 it was unanimously voted to borrow $100 for the purchase of the Stevens lot so called for school purposes.

Under article 3 it was voted upon a motion made by James P. Dunnigan that the town borrow the sum of $17,500 either on one promissory note for that amount to be signed by the town treasurer, payable in 10 installments of $1750 each in one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine and 10 years from date thereof, with interest at a rate not exceeding five per cent, per annum, payable semi-annually, or, at his discretion, on 10 such notes for $1750, each severally payable in one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine and 10 years from date thereof with interest as aforesaid, such note or notes to be countersigned by the selectmen and to bear upon their face the words "Exempt from taxation in Massachusetts," and the proceeds thereof so far as required, to be used in the construction of a four-room school house on the McNally lot at North Chelmsford, now owned by the town, under the direction of the building committee appointed at a special meeting held on May 23 last.

This motion was carried by a vote of 74 to 37. It was also voted upon a motion made by Mr. Dunnigan that the building committee be instructed to advertise for new bids for the erection of the proposed four-room school building on the McNally lot. Article 4 was dismissed, followed by a motion to adjourn.

MURDER CHARGE AT SACRED HEART

Sani Was Arraigned Before Judge Wentworth

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—Carmine Sani, 27 years old, the proprietor of a restaurant on Fleet street, and who lives at 148 Richmond street, was arraigned before Judge Wentworth yesterday, charged with the murder of Salvatore Rizzo, aged 40, of Revere. It is alleged that Rizzo went to the restaurant Saturday night and bought a bottle of wine. He was about to leave, but the proprietor, who mistook him for an officer looking for an illegal sale, demanded the wine. Rizzo refused to return the bottle and it is alleged that Sani shot him. Sani's attorney asked for a continuance of two weeks, but Judge Wentworth put the case over until next Friday. Sani was taken to Charles street jail and Francisco Sello and Pasquale Picardo, as witnesses, were held in $300 each.

ACCUSED MAYOR

Ex-Police Officer Makes Charges

LYNN, Sept. 13.—At a special meeting of the board of aldermen last evening, Mayor James E. Rich handed in the resignation of Reserve Patrolman Eben W. Sears, Jr., against whom charges of conduct unbecoming a police officer and insubordination were preferred by Capt. William Rowe, and sustained, according to a report of the committee on police.

Ex-Policeman Sears claims he has been prevented from the enforcement of the no-license laws by Mayor Rich, upon whom he makes a bitter attack. The mayor denies all the allegations of Mr. Sears and challenges him to produce proof of his accusations.

Sears announces his intention of being a candidate for the republican nomination for mayor and promises to make some startling disclosures in connection with the liquor traffic and the alleged existence of gambling houses in the city.

Mayor Rich says that if ex-Policeman Sears has had evidence in his possession that the liquor laws were being violated, as Sears claims, and failed to prosecute the offenders, the ex-policeman should have resigned from the police force long ago.

TO RECOVER $57,022.75

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—A bill was brought in the supreme court yesterday by George R. Nutter, et al., trustee in bankruptcy, of Patrick Lennox & Co., against Agnes U. Colton of New York. Mary A. Lennox, wife of Patrick Lennox, a shoe manufacturer in Lynn, and John P. Leahy seeking to recover $57,022.75, the amount of the proceeds of the sale of 425 shares of stock of the General Electric company which, it is claimed, were owned by Patrick Lennox at the time he was adjudged a bankrupt.

The complainants seek to restrain the defendants from disposing of the proceeds until the case is determined.

ARRESTED AFTER A CHASE

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—Edward J. Hagan, aged 22, unmarried, of 89 Chestnut street, Chelsea, was arrested after an exciting chase by Patrolmen Gahard and Cuss of that city, about 10.45 yesterday morning and locked up on a charge of larceny from John P. Gulliford, aged 69, of 36 Hillside street, Everett. Patrick P. McGovern, aged 19, of 34 Cottage street, West Lynn, was also arrested.

Mr. Gulliford says that after making a purchase at the corner of Broadway and Williams street, Chelsea, his pocketbook, containing $48, was knocked from his hand by Hagan, who picked it up and started for the door. The old man gave chase, but soon lost breath and then reported his loss to the police. Patrolmen Gahard and Cuss were detailed and reaching the scene Hagan appeared and Mr. Gulliford pointed him out as the man who robbed him. The officers captured the man in the rear of 22 Tremont street.

After locking the man up the policeman returned and found Mr. Gulliford's pocketbook in an open basket in the rear of 12 Tremont street.

McGovern is said to have pushed Mr. Gulliford aside when he attempted to grab Hagan and was arrested later.

BAZAAR TO BE HELD IN AID OF SCHOOL

It was announced at the Sacred Heart church Sunday that a bazaar will be held in the near future to help pay the debt on the new school building.

This evening at 7.30 o'clock in the school hall there will be a meeting of the Holy Name society, and all the men of the parish are cordially invited to attend.

Tomorrow evening at 7.30 o'clock, in the school hall there will be a special meeting of the Holy Rosary sodality, and at 8 o'clock there will be a special meeting of the Children of Mary sodality.

CORN EXPOSITION

MAY BE HELD IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Madison Square Garden for the next, or the 1912 National Corn exposition.

To make it an international, instead of a National exposition and to interest, to the extent of exhibiting, every country on the globe.

Since the coming fourth annual national corn exposition to be held in the group of seven massive exhibit halls at the Ohio state exposition grounds has grown to such proportions that every nook and corner in the several buildings will be filled, it has been suggested by a number of leading agriculturists and prominent officials that the next show be made international, and that it be held in the famous Madison Square Garden in New York city.

No action will be taken on the proposition by the National Corn association until well after the business of the coming big corn show is settled, although much pressure is being brought to bear for an early decision, owing to the interest that is being taken by the United States government and the departments of agriculture of other countries.

While it is estimated that the Madison Square Garden as a location for the show proper would be little, if any better than the excellent exhibit halls at Columbus, Ohio, the fact that it would be held in such a convenient location and in such a popular place of amusement, would be an inducement, which it is claimed, and the exposition, being exhibited, and delegations from every country, and the exposition, would be the greatest world-venture in the interest of the betterment of agriculture.

"The National Agricultural Exposition" is the new name proposed for the National Corn exposition, owing to the fact that the intents and purposes of the event have so far outgrown the original purposes of the National Corn Association. When the first show was held in Chicago in 1907, only corn was shown. At the next two annual shows, which were held in Omaha, it was found necessary to enlarge the scope by adding classification for all grains and grasses. Interest has become so great, because of the extension and broadening out, that not alone all states but the government departments of agriculture have become so directly interested and benefited that the proposed change of name, in all probability, must come within the immediate future and before the 1912 exposition is held.

Already the plans for the fourth annual show which opens in Columbus, Ohio, January 30, to continue through February 11, have reached such proportions as to insure the greatest, by far, of any National Agricultural exposition.

Bright, Clear and Clean

sition that has ever been held, and the present indications are that all exhibitors now clamoring for space cannot be accommodated.

Itemized of the fact that already more than 30 states have arranged for exhibits from their respective agricultural colleges and experiment stations, with the best of their products representing each state, there will be at least several more states to enter, correspondence from the additional states being of the most favorable tone, and each state college expressing the deepest interest.

The fact that there will be so many national and state meetings of the greatest possible importance to the agriculturist, to be held at the same time and place, as the National Corn Exposition, has caused some of the leading men of the country to suggest Madison Square Garden for the next show, and it is more than likely that such pressure will be brought to bear upon the officials of the National Corn association that the proposition will receive most careful consideration.

Agriculturists over the country, besides government officials and agricultural college and experiment station people have been watching with an eagle eye the progress that has been made for the coming exposition and interest is now at the very highest tension.

Farm publications throughout the world are devoting much space to the enterprise, which has for its motto: "Betterment of Agriculture;" and with this most excellent and unlimited publicity it is bringing enthusiastic inquiries with each mail, seeking information.

As only educational features are considered, the big National show will be of the greatest possible advantage to the farmers and they highly appreciate the fact that it is to be kept free from any alliances which would be interested for profit alone.

THE GRAND JURY INQUIRES INTO THE DEATH OF FALLON

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—At a special sitting yesterday the grand jury investigated the cause of the death of Daniel Fallon, aged 33, of 49 Delle ave., while a patient at the insane hospital at Pierce farm, Thursday.

Medical Examiner Timothy Leary, Supt. Frost of the hospital, Dr. George H. Maxfield the assistant physician, Thomas Bullman a nurse, and other attendants testified.

The evidence showed that Fallon had shown violent symptoms. He had been subject to religious mania and had been transferred July 3 to ward 3, the department for violent patients. About 6 a. m. Thursday he sprang from his bed and attacked Bullman, pulling a handful of hair from the latter's head. He also struck the nurse in the face, blackening an eye. The men went to the floor in the struggle. Freeman C. Patterson, another nurse, aided Bullman. Fallon was put to bed and became quiet. Bullman asked him why he had made the attack and the patient replied that he had an inspiration that he was going to die and he wanted to kill some one before he died.

After hearing all the evidence the grand jury returned no bill against Bullman, the nurse.

Several secret indictments in other cases that were also heard by the grand jury were returned.

ORESTE CAVALIERI

Gives Out Statement About the Chanler Affair

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Oreste Cavaleri, brother of Lina Cavaleri, the prima donna whose affairs have been so much in the papers since she recently married Robert Winthrop Chanler of this city, gave out the following statement here last night:

"The recent newspaper reports concerning the affairs of my sister, Mrs. Chanler (nee Mlle. Cavaleri) and her husband, Robert W. Chanler, seem to have been designed to place my sister in a wholly false light before the public.

"Before his marriage Mr. Chanler wished to make some provision for my sister and made the usual marriage settlement, by which she was given an income for her support and certain parcels of real estate.

"The equities in these properties are very small, and their value, by reason of encumbrances, is problematical. The income provided for my sister is in the same position, and it is doubtful what, if any, moneys will be available for her use. If any income is paid, it will be required to pay necessary expenses in caring for the real estate.

"The marriage settlement was prepared by Mr. Chanler's lawyers in Paris and in the usual way witnessed by the American consul there, and given to my sister by Mr. Chanler.

"The sensational stories which have been given so much prominence of late are untrue, and I wish to emphatically deny them. My sister is recovering from a severe illness, which has compelled her to remain in France, and Mr. Chanler because of his business engagements, has been obliged to come to this country to attend to them.

"When my sister is able to travel she will join him in this country. The entire story is nothing more than an attempt to make a sensational story out of an everyday and commonplace occurrence which concerns no one but Mrs. Chanler and her husband."

Sidney Harris, counsel for Mr. Chanler, who gave out another statement earlier in the day, was reticent, but not so optimistic.

"Mr. Chanler still loves Mme. Cavaleri—that is, he thinks he does," said the lawyer.

The first admission from an authoritative source that there had been financial differences between Robert W. Chanler and his famous bride, Mme. Lina Cavaleri, was made today by Mr. Harris. Mr. Chanler's counsel, when he was asked if there had been an antenuptial agreement between Mr. Chanler and Mme. Cavaleri.

"There was," replied the attorney, "but I will not say how much money was involved in the agreement. That is a matter that may come out later, but we are hoping that this unpleasant matter may be settled without any litigation."

Mr. Harris said that while he expected to see some members of Mr. Chanler's family about the matter, there would be no "family conference" as reported.

For Tender Feet a Bath of Eaz-all Will Make Them Happy

The true way to make tender feet happy is with a bath of Eaz-all. Give half the care to your feet that you do to your hands and they will cause you no pain or trouble. Dissolve from one to four Eaz-all tablets in a basin of water and bathe the feet at night. The burning and itching will be gone at once, and the next day the feet will not suffer. Try this treatment once and you will be an Eaz-all friend forever. Eaz-all takes the pain and soreness from corns, callouses and bunions and reduces puffiness, swollen feet, so that smaller shoes may be worn. 25c at all drug stores; money back if not satisfied.

Mary Roberts Rinehart is Afflicted

PITTSBURG, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart, the authoress, is said to be threatened with loss of her eyesight. She and her husband are going to Germany in hope of averting the affliction, but friends of the popular writer fear that the cause of her trouble is too deep seated to permit of a cure. The most popular of the stories from the pen of Mrs. Rinehart are "When a Man Marries," "The Man in Lower Ten" and "The Circular Stairway." Her latest production was "The Window of the White Cat," which has already made a success.

SHOE FACTORY

Is Guarded by the Nashua Police

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 13.—The strike at the Esabrook-Anderson shoe factory today reached a stage that details of seven or eight police officers under the command of Capt. James Cleary and Patrolman Dennis Hallisey were at the factory morning, noon and evening.

An effort to break the strike was made yesterday when the places of the striking pullers—over-begun to be filled under the direction of Barney Selmer, a strike breaker. Just before 6.30 o'clock the police arrived at the factory with four or five strike breakers under escort. No attempt at violence was made by the 100 strikers and their sympathizers who were near, but the men were carefully watched.

The factory officials claim that the places of the 85 strikers are largely filled and that from 60 to 60 per cent of the ordinary output is being made. They also claim that some of the strikers themselves have returned to work and that others wish to but do not dare.

The strikers claim that the strike is not broken and that at the most there are only 12 new men in the pulling-over department. The strikers yesterday had a conference with the factory owners and agreed to return to work at a slight increase over what they were getting when they walked out. This increase was refused and it is stated that the firm will not take back any of the strikers who are now out.

At the close of the day's work Barney Selmer was followed by a group of strikers. He entered a store and telephoned to the police station and officers responded and scattered the group, after which Selmer went on his way unmolested.

ORGANIST DEAD

AND HIS WIFE IS IN A SERIOUS CONDITION

STAMFORD, Sept. 12.—Word was received here today of the death this morning of Albert Woeltge, well known throughout the country as a musician and composer, at the home of H. K. Willard at Walpole, N. H., where he was visiting. The telegram also told of the serious illness of his wife, who is also a composer.

Mr. Woeltge was a native of Germany. In 1855 he became instructor at the Catherine Aiken seminary in this city and held that position for 40 years. He was also for half a century organist of the Universalist church here. Among other works he composed a number of church anthems which have been widely used.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

As in all Shubert productions, the cast which will present Clyde Fitch's last and great play, "The Wolf," at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 16 and 17 is of the highest order of merit and embraces some of the best known and most potent names on the stage today. The original New York Lyric theatre production will be shown at the local presentation. Seats are now on sale.

"THE WOLF"

Next Thursday evening at the Opera House "The Wolf" will be seen.

"The Wolf" is said to be strong in conception, dramatic in execution and vitally interesting throughout. It tells a story of the wonderful Hudson Bay country and of the primal, eternal struggle between men for the possession of a woman. Dark passion and pure sentiment are set in opposition, but there is nothing hackneyed. The men are not of the familiar stage type, nor are the scenes of a mechanical order.

The father of Hilda McTavish is a Scotchman, whose narrowness of mind drives his wife into the world. Hilda, the child, is left behind. When McDonald, a handsome American engineer, appears, he covets the simple girl and engaged old McTavish in a plot to lure Hilda the way her mother had gone.

There comes Jules Beaubien, a French Canadian, with a streak of Obi-Obi from his mother. McDonald has left Jules' sister to die with her unborn babe. Jules recognizes him and bids his time. Batiste, his loyal retainer, crosses himself gently as he swears that unless Jules kills McDonald he will.

Jules overhears the plotting of McDonald and McTavish in reference to the innocent Hilda. McDonald has been married and was a gay blade on the White Way. Jules, of course, loves Hilda. The crisis comes. The girl spurns the brutal grasp of the engineer. McDonald, enraged, declares he will crush her life out with his bare hands. The French Canadian intervenes, striking McDonald with his fist. The engineer attempts to draw his revolver, but Batiste has him covered with a shotgun in the cabin window. At this point the scene closes, and one may imagine easily that the interest has increased.

Immoral as he is, McDonald is

fearless and persistent. He takes to the path and comes upon Jules. He fires at him but his shot does not go home. Then the two engage in the most realistic and savage hand-to-hand duel ever seen on the stage. Now up and down, rolling over and over in the dim light for fully a minute, the fighters struggle. Finally one is seen

class entertainment. There is genuine comedy in the story, and the characters are original and highly amusing. The stage pictures are full of glitter and color; with the magic of Lehar's waltz and marches added, then the result is a show that would inject the joy of life into a mummy.

The part of Sonia will be played by Miss Gertrude Hutcherson and the Prince Danilo will be George Damer. Others in the cast are Arthur Wooley in the role of Nish, messenger to the embassy; Harry Burgess, Mabel Arzella, Edith Cransell, Gustave Bergman, Edward Cahill, Fred C. Holmes, Ada St. Albans and the large chorus. The special orchestra will be directed by Frank Mander.

The famous "Merry Widow" waltz, in which Sonia tries to make Danilo tell her he loves her; the beautiful "Villia," "Women," "Cavalier," "I Love You So" and "The Girls at Maxime's" are as vital and entrancing as ever. "The Merry Widow" is a combat of love between a many and a woman until the latter wins when the girl gives up the fight and trades pride for happiness. The production that will be sent to this city by Henry W. Savage will be complete in every detail, with the same lavishly settings, magnificent new costumes lately arrived from Paris, and a cast of singers and dancers that will interest the music as the author intended. Mr. Savage sends "The Merry Widow" to the Opera house Sept. 21.

she would have been kept before the footlights for several hours. Edna by the way has a fine stage appearance and knows how to captivate the audience. She is a good singer for a person who has to change her voice for the different imitations.

For imitation of Vesta Victoria singing "And Now I Have to Tell Him Father," made a decided hit, but the song that brought down the house was "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" as sung by Nora Bates. Her other imitations include "A Great Big Girl Like Me," as presented by Marie Dressler.

Miss Luby also gives a clever imitation of Anna Held and Rose Stahl, the imitation of the latter being rather out of the ordinary.

Duff and Walsh, exceptional dancers, pleased the audience as did Edgar Berger, the phenomenal gymnast and hand jumper, who opens the bill.

Clever sketch entitled "The Mangers of Luck" is a story of the business world in its largest meaning. A Wilson and Doyle who present a sketch entitled "Going to a Party," are good singers and dancers and their act was well worth the applause which they received.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The O'Donnell Brothers in their original sketch "In Dear Old Ireland," have one of the best Irish acts on the stage. Introducing real Irish pipes and real Irish dancing. The McCarvers are a very clever couple, he is a funny comedian and dancer, while she is a handsome woman who can sing. The Bon Air Trio are acrobatic pantomimists that cannot be beat. New pictures complete the bill. Admission 5 and 10 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

The business world has small use for sentiment but once in a while it creeps in and everybody feels better for letting up on the strict rules of business. Today at the Theatre Voyons, the feature picture, "Little Angels of Luck," is a story of the business world in its largest meaning. A well to do rubber manufacturer after building up a substantial business refuses to accept the offer of the president of the trust for his plant and business only to find that the power which he deposes is stronger than he and that he is ruined. His two little girls overhearing his troubles as he tells them to his wife, resolve to save him. They open a small bank and take from it their tiny savings and with demand to see the president. On his receiving them they ask that they give back their papa's money and take theirs instead. The hard master of finance is touched and though he does not give back their father's business he does make him a most liberal offer which will solve his financial troubles.

STAR THEATRE

Under new management the Star theatre, opposite the city hall, opened Saturday with one of the longest and finest shows ever produced for an admission of five and ten cents, including a seat. Three big vaudeville acts and first class motion pictures as well as the latest and best illustrated songs are being produced. Mr. Alexander, the new proprietor, is one of the pioneer show men and the public will reap the benefit of his extensive experience. The admission to afternoon performances will be five cents to all. Women and children will be admitted free to the theatre Wednesday afternoon of this week only. The show given at this theatre, which has been entirely renovated, cannot be equalled in Lowell.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Gus Edward's "Kountry Kids," with Fred C. Hackett and Gertrude Morgan as the big noises, is the stellar attraction at Hathaway's theatre this week. This rural musical comedy is something out of the ordinary and if the applause given by the audiences yesterday afternoon and evening can be taken as a criterion almost everyone present was delighted with the sketch. The "Kids," however, are not the whole show, for the remainder of the bill includes many high class acts, the program being varied in order to please all the theatre goers.

There are nine people in the sketch, five young women and four young men, and all can sing and dance and cut up capers in such a manner as to keep the audience convulsed with laughter. The scene is laid in a farmyard, the principal settings other than the drops being the old well, empty milk cans, tractor boards, etc. With the exception of "Cholly Knickerbocker," who is a city chap, all are ruralites, although "Miss Rose," who is leaving a birthday, has reached that stage where she regards the short calico dress for the longer and better quality white dress.

Fred C. Hackett who plays the part of "Hiram Higgins," does all kinds of stunts. He is the regular chore boy who is acquainted with work but not on speaking terms. He is more at home when it comes to dancing, singing, cracking jokes, etc. Another star in the cast is Gertrude Morgan, who portrays the part of "Sally Smart." "Sally's" makeup, while not extraordinary, is marked by the variety of colors used. She is possessed of a good voice and when it comes to "shaking her limbs," she is right there in line for the blue ribbon.

On the whole the sketch is one that cannot fail to please the most exacting audience. The sketch compels the most serious to laugh. The person who never smiles, however, had better keep away from the theatre.

The Kuma family, the Oriental wonder workers—two men and a woman—present an act which is second to none in that line which has been presented in this city. The cleverness of the trio is demonstrated in every piece of work done. The foot juggling of a heavy barrel by one of the male members of the trio is something marvelous. The sleight-of-hand work of the trio is also good to say nothing of the daring stunt of the young woman who climbs a ladder, the steps of which are keen edged swords.

Edna Luby, the famous imitator, made a hit from the start, and if the audience, especially those in the first and second balconies, had their way

BARSTOW Bay State Ranges

The Hearth of
Your HomeIs the Heart of
Your Home

THE efficiency of your kitchen range—the present day hearth—is reflected in the health and happiness of your household. You can't cook wholesome, palatable meals on ranges which never act twice alike.

BARSTOW BAY STATE RANGES always give uniform results in baking and cooking, because the proportion of fire box and heating space around the oven is scientifically correct. Since 1836 the BARSTOW STOVE CO. has been experimenting to perfect these proportions.

Every practical improvement is embodied in BARSTOW BAY STATE RANGES. They have gas ovens for baking with or without a coal fire and gas shelves for quick cooking. The gas range attachment doubles the capacity of the range.

Other conveniences are—Swing Fire Top, for easy feeding, broiling and toasting; Patent Sliding Tea Plates; Oven Food Rake; Simmering Cover; a Reliable Heat Indicator; and nicker parts which lift off for cleaning or when baking the range. Let us show you BARSTOW BAY STATE RANGES. Make us explain why they do the most work and the best baking with the least fuel.

UNDER ARREST

BROCKTON LETTER CARRIER CHARGED WITH LARCENY

BROCKTON, Sept. 12.—William H. Delano, 39 years old, a letter carrier, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of larceny from the mails by Inspector Jennings of the postoffice department.

The arrest of Delano followed the placing of a decoy letter in a letter box on his route by Postmaster Hollywood in the afternoon. The letter was addressed to a mail order house in Chicago and contained some money and an order for goods.

When Delano reached the postoffice with the mail he had picked up on his route Postmaster Hollywood examined the mail and found the letter, which had been opened and the money taken, he says, the letter being sealed again.

Delano was asked to the postmaster's office and there confronted. Inspector Jennings immediately placed him under arrest. He was searched, but no letters were found on him. He was taken to the police station by Officer Batchelder. Delano was appointed a substitute carrier July 1, 1904, and a regular carrier Jan. 1, 1905. He was married one year ago.

WAR VETERAN

WAS SENTENCED TO THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—James Donohy was before Judge DeCourcy for sentence in the superior criminal court, yesterday, on an indictment, accusing him of breaking and entering.

He told the judge he had served in the Spanish war, and on one occasion met President McKinley and shook hands with him. He said the president addressed the men thus: "Boys, if you are ever in trouble mention my name. We fought for the flag and for glory." Donohy further said all he asked was to have the judge show a little leniency. Without comment, the judge imposed a sentence of six months in the house of correction.

George Morse, 28 years old, accused in two counts of breaking and entering, didn't want to go to state prison. He said he had been there off and on in the reformatory since he was 18 years old. Judge DeCourcy sent him to the house of correction for two years.

John E. Donnelly, charged with larceny, stole a can of milk. It was his first theft, at least the first for which he was haled into court. He had a record based on drunkenness entirely. He is a simple climber. His counsel urged probation. Four months in the house of correction was the sentence.

MAYOR ON SUPERVISING BOARD

BROCKTON, Sept. 12.—The common council was in special session last evening to act at the request of Mayor Clifford in the matter of the supervision of the construction of the Carnegie library. The council appeared an order from the aldermen authorizing the mayor to plan for the proposed organization of the department of the federal government. He made tentative plans for the attendance of Elton Lowry, president of the Chicago city service commission, Professor Gilman of the University of Wisconsin, Major Delano (line of Chicago and other authorities on matters of classification of service at a conference into this month.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE

Swift, Armour and Morris Indicted

by Grand Jury

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The federal grand jury which has been investigating Chicago packers late yesterday returned indictments against ten high officials of the Swift, Armour and Morris concerns.

There are three indictments against each, charging combination, conspiracy, and illegal monopoly.

The men indicted are L. F. Swift, president of Swift & Co.; Edward Swift, vice president of Swift & Co.; Charles H. Swift, director of Swift & Co.; Francis A. Fowler, director of Swift & Co.; Edward Tilden, president of the National packing company; J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co.; Arthur Meeker, general manager of Armour & Co.; Thomas J. Connors, superintendent of Armour & Co.; Edward Morris, president of Morris & Co.; and Louis H. Heyman, manager of Morris & Co.

The first indictment in detail charges all defendants with engaging in a combination in restraint of interstate trade in fresh meats.

The second charges conspiracy. The third charges the defendants with monopolizing the trade in fresh meats by unlawful means.

That the purpose of the grand jury inquiry was the indictment of individuals rather than of packing corporations was shown when Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, who imposed the $25,000,000 Standard Oil fine, instructed the investigators.

"It sometimes happens that a person about to violate the law takes a name other than his own," said Judge Landis in his charge to the jury. "John Jones, undertaking to counterfeit gold dollars, changes his name to John Smith, or the Metals fabricating company, and under that name does the thing forbidden by law."

A NEW LEAGUE SEN. BRISTOW

Severely Scored by Sen. Aldrich of R. I.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12.—The 38 ball players who recently signed contracts with the proposed all-stars of the American and National leagues and received their checks in advance will be permitted to cash the papers. The proposed series, financed by Cincinnati capital, was killed by a ruling of the National commission of baseball.

Last night D. A. Fletcher, promoter of the all-stars, stated that the players had received the checks in good faith and were not responsible for the failure of the proposition and that for that reason no effort will be made to prevent them from cashing in.
